Natural Law Anver M. Emon, Matthew Levering, David Novak, 2014 This text critically and constructively explores the resources offered for natural law doctrine by classical thinkers from three traditions Jewish Christian and Islamic Three scholars each offer a programmatic essay on natural law doctrine in their particular religious tradition and then respond to the other two essays Understanding the Evolving Meaning of Reason in David Novak's Natural Law Theory Jonathan L. Milevsky, 2022-01-31 David Novak is widely recognized as one of the most prominent Jewish thinkers in North America today and his most important contribution to philosophy has been his work on natural law This book is an exploration of the shift in the content and context of that theory by reference to the metaphysical meaning that Novak ultimately assigns to reason This change is then analyzed within the framework of Novak's covenantal theology and his developing view of redemption in particular Through this examination this book highlights the contribution of Novak's natural law theory to the continuing debate over the role of reason in Judaism The Concept of Tolerance in Judaism, Christianity and Islam Catharina

Rachik, Georges Tamer, 2025-10-06 Tolerance as a universal value of modernity is not usually associated in popular consciousness with religion which is often regarded as inherently intolerant This volume addresses the hermeneutics of tolerance as it pertains to Judaism Christianity and Islam Each author offers a distinctive theological interpretation of traditional sources elucidating the potential and limitations of tolerance in the monotheistic thought Additionally the book presents examinations of the promotion of tolerance in diverse historical and cultural contexts illustrating both similarities and differences between the three religions The evidence presented in this volume demonstrates that tolerance occupies an important place in Judaism Christianity and Islam The Cambridge Companion to Natural Law Ethics Tom introduces readers to a variety of disciplinary and methodological approaches used to examine the intersections of religion and migration. A range of leading figures in this field consider the roles of religion throughout various types of migration including forced, voluntary and economic. They discuss examples of migrations at all levels from local to global and critically examine case studies from various regional contexts across the globe. The book grapples with the linkages and feedback between religion and migration, exploring immigrant congregations, activism among and between religious groups and innovations in religious thought in light of migration experiences among other themes. The contributors demonstrate that religion is an important factor in migration studies and that attention to the intersection between religion and migration augments and enriches our understandings of religion. Ultimately, this volume provides a crucial survey of a burgeoning cross-disciplinary, interreligious and global area of study.

The Individual in International Law Anne Peters, Tom Sparks, 2024-02-28. Shifts across the corpus of international law have brought the international legal system into a closer alignment with the interests of the individual. This has led to a great and growing interest in the roles and status of individuals in international law and provided new impulses for debate. The Individual in International Law is an exploration of what is described as the humanisation of international law. It examines how international law has accommodated individuals and how individual status, rights and obligations have become denser and more important in the international legal system. Split into two parts, the book analyses the humanisation of international law in different historical periods and from various theoretical perspectives. The first part focuses on the historical evolution of international law, exploring how the interests of individuals have shaped the development of the legal system from antiquity to 1945, providing a counterpoint to State-centric readings of international law's history. The second part contains theoretical debates, critical approaches and interdisciplinary investigations offering perspectives from ius positivism and ius naturalism, Marxism, TWAIL, feminism, global law, global constitutionalism, law and economics and legal anthropology. The book aims to stimulate further research on the humanisation and dehumanisation of new fields ranging from the ius contra bellum to climate law. The editors' introduction and conclusion frame the contributions, draw together their findings and address critiques comprehensively. Written by a team of acknowledged experts in their fields, this volume elucidates how the interests, rights, obligations and responsibilities of individuals have shaped international norms and regimes and suggests how a reoriented transformative humanism can inform and develop international law in an era of profound ideological, ecological and technical challenge. This is an open access title. It is made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 International licence. It is available to read and download as a PDF version on the Oxford Academic platform.

Comparative Religious Law provides for the first time a study of the regulatory instruments of Jewish Christian and Muslim religious organisations in Britain in light of their historical religious laws Norman Doe questions assumptions about the pervasiveness character and scope of religious laws from the view that they are not or should not be recognised by civil law to the idea that there may be a fundamental incompatibility between religious and civil law It proposes that religious laws pervade society are recognised by civil law have both a religious and temporal character and regulate wide areas of believers' lives Subjects include sources of law faith leaders governance worship and education rites of passage divorce and children and religion State relations A Charter of the principles of religious law common to all three Abrahamic faiths is proposed to stimulate greater mutual understanding between religion and society and between the three faiths themselves The Achievement of David Novak Matthew Levering, Tom Angier, 2021-02-18 This book is a Festschrift offered by twelve Catholic theologians and philosophers to the great Jewish theologian David Novak Each of the twelve essays is followed by a response by David Novak and it thereby represents a significant addition to his oeuvre The book includes an introduction by Matthew Levering surveying Novak's many contributions to Jewish Christian dialogue as well as a transcribed conversation between Robert George and David Novak that encapsulates Novak's sense of the present situation for Jews and Christians Among the topics treated by the authors are religious engagement in a pluralist and secular culture the question of whether Jews and Christians worship the same God the morality of suicide the role of divine commandments in Catholic moral theology the question of whether classical versions of natural law doctrine are susceptible to the critiques proffered by Novak the pedagogical impact of Dabru Emet religious freedom the recent debate about Pope Pius IX and Edgardo Mortara the nature of justice the relationship of reason and revelation the sanctity of human life and the death penalty and supersessionism

Aquinas's Eschatological Ethics and the Virtue of Temperance Matthew Levering, 2019-11-15 Matthew Levering offers a biblical and Thomistic portrait of the cardinal virtue of temperance and its allied virtues in dialogue with an ecumenical range of theologians and scholars In Aquinas's Eschatological Ethics and the Virtue of Temperance Levering argues that Catholic ethics make sense only in light of the biblical worldview that Jesus has inaugurated the kingdom of God by pouring out his spirit Jesus has made it possible for us to know and obey God's law for human flourishing as individuals and communities He has reoriented our lives toward the goal of beatific communion with him in charity which affects the exercise of the moral virtues that pertain to human flourishing Without the context of the inaugurated kingdom Catholic ethics as traditionally conceived will seem like an effort to find a middle ground between legalistic rigorism and relativistic laxism which is especially the case with the virtue of temperance the focus of Levering's book After an opening chapter on the eschatological biblical character of Catholic ethics the ensuing chapters engage Aquinas's theology of temperance in the Summa theologiae which identifies and examines a number of virtues associated with temperance Levering demonstrates that the theology of temperance is profoundly biblical and that Aquinas's theology of temperance relies for its intelligibility upon Christ's inauguration of the kingdom of God as the graced fulfillment of our created nature The book develops new vistas for scholars and students interested in moral theology
