Negative Intelligence The Army And The American Left 1917 1941 Twentieth Century America:

Negative Intelligence Roy Talbert, 2008-10 An incredible disclosure of army espionage on U S civilians and leftist groups

Negative Intelligence Roy Talbert Jr., 2010-12-01 During World War I in the period of the Red Scare and throughout the Great Depression the army's domestic spy agency mounted an extensive surveillance campaign focused on civilians and groups deemed subversive. Negative Intelligence traces the fascinating and astonishing story of military espionage on the home front. Created by Major General Ralph H Van Deman in 1917 the Negative Branch of Military or MI spied on American reformers in a program of civilian surveillance that surpassed even that of the Department of Justice's Bureau of Investigation. Among the targets were the Industrial Workers of the World the American Civil Liberties Union and Negro Subversion. Documentation of MI's program of domestic espionage is from recently opened Military Intelligence archives. Closely allied with private vigilante groups the Army conducted illegal raids made illegal arrests subjected many citizens to interrogation and developed an elaborate filing system for its dossiers. After World War I the hysteria continued with MI's direct focus beamed upon a new enemy the Bolsheviks. Although MI's abuses have been overshadowed by those of the Department of Justice army espionage was in many ways more aggressive than its civilian counterpart. Negative Intelligence documents these abuses and shows how until 1921 the attempts to restrain MI's work failed. After this time with limited staff and funding MI could do no more than maintain close liaison with private super patriotic groups. However the coming of the Great Depression fired up the rebirth of the army's civilian espionage programs. Then as World War II approached internal security once again became a national policy and J Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation moved his powerful network into the supreme position of domestic spying.

Center of Military History Publication 30-20-1 Army Historical Series 3rd of three volumes by the Center of Military History on the role of federal military forces in domestic disturbances. This volume covers the institutional and other changes that took place during the early postwar years and carries the reader through the civil rights revolution the disturbances that accompanied the Vietnam War and the controversies surrounding the Army's intervention in the race riot in Los Angeles in 1992 which occurred after this volume was essentially completed and with an extensive bibliography containing a note on various sources used.

Role of Federal Military Forces in Domestic Disorders, 1945-1992 (Cloth) Paul J. Scheips, 2005 This volume covering 1945 to 1992 is the third of three volumes on the role of federal military forces in domestic disorders. Summarizing institutional and other changes that took place in the Army and in American society during this period it carries the reader through the nation's use of federal troops during the civil rights movement of the 1950s and 1960s and the domestic upheavals of the 1960s and 1970s associated with the Vietnam War. The development and refinement of the Army's domestic support role as well as the disciplined manner in which the Army conducted these complex and often unpopular tasks are major themes of this volume In addition the study demonstrates the Army s progress in coordinating its operational and contingency planning with the activities of other federal agencies and the National Guard from the Foreword
