Coping with Life Stress, volume II Alexander V. Libin, Elena V. Libin, Walter Erich Penk, Nawar Shara, 2024-02-09 This Research Topic is the second volume of the Research Topic Coping With Life Stress Please see the first volume here Existing studies on coping with stress and life difficulties are very contradictory Traditional approaches while identifying cognitive emotional and behavioral aspects of coping often confuse the modality of the strategy with its functionality and outcome This conceptual drawback presents quite a few challenges to the study of efficient and inefficient strategies Perception of the incongruence between modalities cognitive emotional or behavioral of a particular strategy and its functionality or organizational efforts efficient vs inefficient hinders the development of an integrated methodology for a generalized coping with life stress process The absence of general principles for classification of efficient and inefficient coping poses methodological as well as practical difficulties in their diagnostics and differentiation thereby causing additional obstacles in the systematic study of this important phenomenon The Coping with Life Stress approach is focused on research based on the translation of scientific knowledge regarding problem solving processes into practical applications geared toward improvement of individual life learning or coping skills Generating Middle Range Theory Callista Roy, 2013-08-28 As expected this book is complex but it is also engaging thought provoking and exciting because it helps nurses and other readers think deeply about meeting the needs of patients at their most vulnerable moments Score 94 4 Stars Doody's Medical Reviews Callista Roy one of nursing's leading theorists and creator of the widely used Roy Adaptation Model of Nursing presents a unique pathway for developing knowledge for nursing practice Her book distills the most relevant information from 200 published research studies to provide a roadmap for progressing from nursing research to middle range theory to optimum practice regimens It is based on tested knowledge clear evidence and refined caring perspectives Step by step the text identifies and critiques research suited for developing cumulative knowledge for practice and uses the research to develop middle range theories that apply across all health care settings It then presents the evidence for practice for each middle range theory refocuses EBP within nursing knowledge and within defined levels of readiness for practice and recommends changes for practice based on evidence Grounded in the Roy Adaptation Model of Nursing the book provides a single conceptual basis for synthesis of research into middle range theories for use across all patient populations It clarifies ways to select research from one conceptual basis to build middle range theories how to classify evidence for practice by levels of readiness and recommend research based changes in practice The text includes quantitative and qualitative research designs and offers instruments to measure major concepts for implementation Also included are plentiful examples tables that display values across studies definitions of major terms and concepts and diagrams of concepts Supplementing the text is a faculty guide for using the text to teach critical thinking at multiple graduate levels and videos illuminating each section of the book Key Features Explains clearly how middle range theories grow from research Designed for implementation in practice Uses Roy's five core adaptation contexts as organizing themes coping changing life events loss chronic health condition and traumatic events Constitutes a seminal work from a pre eminent nursing theorist and educator Includes faculty guide and videos elucidating each section of the book Nursing Interventions Gloria M.
