FINDING JOY IN THE MIDST OF TRIALS AND CHANGE

By Dr. Kim Fenstermacher, Assistant Dean of Nursing

James 1: 2-5:
"2 Consider it pure joy,
my brothers and sisters,
whenever you face trials
of many kinds, 3 because you know that the testing
of your faith produces
perseverance. 4 Let perseverance finish its work so that you may be mature and complete, not lacking anything. 5 If any of you lacks wisdom, you should ask God,
who gives generously to all without finding fault, and it will be given to you."

If I could choose one word to describe the 2021-2022 academic year it would be "change." What do you think of when you hear the word "change?" For many people, change signifies a challenge which can bring uncertainty. Facing the unknown can be frightening. Some people see change as a trial to endure. For others, change presents as an opportunity for innovation and creativity. No matter which response to change resonates most with you, we have all experienced change. Many times, change can happen as a result of simply needing to respond to the crisis of the day or even to make a plan to avert a bigger crisis. For those of us in academia, who live our lives in accordance with the rhythm of the academic calendar and its repetitive cycles of course prep, breaks, final exams, grading and commencement, the schedule is predictable and constant... unless, of course, we are in the midst of a pandemic.

Most of the changes that we experienced in the Department of Nursing came about due to the need to respond carefully and thoughtfully to the challenges presented by COVID-19. I want to say publically here how proud I am of the resiliency and responsiveness of the nursing faculty in the face of almost daily change. For example, when clinical post-conferences could not be held in the hospital due to COVID space restrictions, faculty exercised creative ways to de-brief the students via zoom and Canvas. When clinical group size was restricted by the clinical partners, faculty created additional simulation opportunities to foster student learning and assure that course outcomes were met. When the post-Christmas COVID-19 surge caused the hospitals to postpone our senior practicum, we pivoted to front-load the theory content and moved the senior practicum to April. There are multiple examples of how the undergraduate and graduate faculty and staff rose to the challenge of change. We are, after all, nurses. Nurses are, by definition, problem-solvers. We think critically. We respond to crises with a spirit of resiliency. And as Christians, we intentionally put our hope in God and we prayed for wisdom.

Not all of the changes we faced in 2021-2022 were stressful. In this edition of the Nursing Newsletter, you will read about some of the changes that brought us joy. For example, one beautiful day in March, we were given the approval to remove our face masks. For the first time in two years we saw our students' faces in person! It was an amazing and almost surreal experience.

In April, Dr. Wanda Thuma-McDermond returned to her beloved Zambia with a group of senior students in the NURS 495 Senior Seminar course for the first time in two years. Emma Augustine (class of 2022) provides a reflection on her life-changing experience of being in Zambia.

You will also read about the many accomplishments of our faculty. Promotions were earned, term tenure was granted, scholarships were received, and doctoral degrees were awarded. Manuscripts were published, conferences were attended, and community service hours were logged.

And, in May, we celebrated as 36 graduating seniors from the BSN program stepped out into the next chapter of life, along with 4 MSN and 8 Doctor of Nursing Practice students.

In this new academic year, we know that change is certain. We welcomed two new full-time faculty and several new clinical adjunct faculty to our team. We are planning a curriculum revision across all undergraduate and graduate tracks in response to the new competency-based AACN Essentials. We welcomed new students to campus and new faculty to our team. We are launching for the first time, two new courses in the senior spring semester: NURS 414 Population and Global Health and NURS 492 Senior Capstone. Both courses will build on the junior level courses to prepare our seniors to be "practice ready." Our 2023 graduates will be the first to sit for the newly revised "Next Gen" NCLEX. We have been intentional in preparing them for success by honing our item-writing skills and introducing more opportunity for critical thinking and clinical decision-making. Our DNP Nurse Leader track continues to grow, and we are launching fresh marketing initiatives to recruit for our MSN and DNP programs. In December, we will graduate the first class of RN to BSN students.

It is easy to find joy in the types of changes that call for celebration. But how we respond to the more stressful changes shines a light on our character. When we are faithful in the trials, it gives the world a glimpse of Christ who so graciously gives us the wisdom we need to face life's many challenges. I hope that this year you will find joy in the trials of change. I urge you to persevere in wisdom. Pray fervently. God promises to give generously.

Blessings,

Kim Fenstermacher, PhD, RN, CRNP
