Occupation And Resistance:

Documenting WWII: Occupation and Resistance Simon Adams, 2013-06-27 Occupation, Resistance and Law Adam Roberts, 1980 Occupation and Resistance John Louis Hondros, 1983 Gender, Power, and Military Occupations Christine De Matos, Rowena Ward, 2012-04-27 Military occupations and interventions have a gendered impact on both those engaged in occupying and those whose lands have been occupied Yet little is known about this gendered impact in terms of both masculinities and femininities either historically or in contemporary times While research in this area has begun to grow since events in Iraq and Afghanistan this collection helps redress the relative neglect by examining and analysing the impact of occupation on men and women both occupied and occupier in a variety of geographical spaces from Japan to Palestine to Iraq Gendered perspectives are also intimately tied to analyses of power how power is enacted by the occupier how powerlessness is experienced by the occupied how power is negotiated shared compromised subverted reclaimed power as visible and invisible institutional power contested power in post conflict societies and power as discursively constructed The term military occupation is interpreted broadly to include occupation interventions the presence of military bases and peacekeeping post conflict operations This interpretation allows space to demonstrate that the lines between each definition are blurred especially when it comes to analysing gender and power Java in a Time of Revolution Benedict Richard O'Gorman Anderson, 2006 With remarkable scope and in scrupulous detail Professor Anderson analyzes the Indonesian revolution of 1945 Against the background of Javanese culture and the Japanese occupation he explores the origins of the revolutionary youth groups the military and the political parties to challenge conventional interpretations of revolutionary movements in Asia The author emphasizes that the critical role in the outbreak was played not by the dissatisfied intellectuals or by an oppressed working class but by the youth of Indonesia Perhaps most important are the insights he offers into the conflict between strategies for seeking national revolution and those for attaining social change By giving first priority to gaining recognition of Indonesian sovereignty from the outside world he argues the revolutionary leadership had to adopt conservative domestic policies that greatly reduced the possibility of far reaching social reform This in depth study of the independence crisis in Indonesia brought back to life by Equinox Publishing as the first title in its Classic Indonesia series also illuminates the revolutionary process in other nations where wars for independence have been fought but significant social and economic progress has not yet been achieved ABOUT THE AUTHOR Benedict Anderson is one of the world's leading authorities on South East Asian nationalism and particularly on Indonesia He is Professor of International Studies and Director of the Modern Indonesia Project at Cornell University New York His other works include Imagined Communities Reflections on the Origin and Spread of Nationalism and The Spectre of Comparisons Nationalism Southeast Asia and the World Everyday Occupations Kamala Visweswaran, 2013-04-18 Everyday Occupations engages visual culture and the ethnography of space satire and parody poetry and political critique to examine militarization as it is wielded

as a cultural and political tool and as it is experienced as a material form of violence and symbolic domination

Understanding Resistance to Foreign Occupation Simon Collard-Wexler, 2013 There have been some 163 foreign occupations since 1900 In many cases military occupations have led to bloody and protracted resistance while in most cases occupiers faced little resistance at all This dissertation seeks to answer the puzzle under what conditions do foreign occupations produce consequential resistance Conventional wisdom holds that resistance is driven by nationalism However states exhibit different levels of resistance to different occupiers indicating that not only the nature of the occupied but also the nature and the policies of occupiers play a role Specifically I look at the role of political dislocation and trust First domestic groups that would have otherwise waited out the occupation may be driven to resistance when occupiers implement policies or establish institutions that permanently weaken their relative domestic position what I call political dislocation Second resistance will be muted when occupiers can credibly commit to treating the population benignly and vacating occupied territory promptly
