Oxford Textbook of Neurologic and Neuropsychiatric Epidemiology Carol Brayne, Valery Feigin, Lenore Launer, Giancarlo Logroscino, 2021 Neurologic and neuropsychiatric disorders are of great importance to societies and they also raise special considerations in epidemiological research methodology Not only do neurologic and neuropsychiatric disorders form a major group of disorders associated with ageing populations but those disorders that occur in earlier life can be associated with severe individual family and societal distress and burden The inter relationship of syndromes and disorders is a topic of major interest and growing biological insights across psychiatry and neurology This includes not only overlaps in neurodegenerative syndromes but also those related to other systems such as metabolic inflammatory immune and vascular disorders Part of the Oxford Textbooks in Clinical Neurology series the Oxford Textbook of Neurologic and Neuropsychiatric Epidemiology is designed to focus on the overlaps and inter relationships between neuro epidemiological disorders as well as on ways to harmonise large cohort studies to maximise opportunities for determining causes related to rarer disorders Divided into three main parts the book covers 1 the principles of neurologic and neuropsychiatric epidemiology 2 specific neuropsychiatric disorders and their inter relationships and 3 the implications of neuro epidemiologic research for patient populations and current medical practice This comprehensive work serves as an invaluable reference to current neuro epidemiological methods for neurologists psychiatrists and senior trainees in those disciplines as well as public health practitioners and students with an interest in neurology and neuropsychiatry The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 1995 Index of NLM Serial Titles National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1981 A keyword listing of serial titles currently received by the National Library of Medicine Handbook of Neurotoxicology Edward J. Massaro, 2002-03-20 Neurotoxicology is a broad and burgeoning field of research Its growth in recent years can be related in part to increased interest in and concern with the fact that a growing number of anthropogenic agents with neurotoxic potential including pesticides lead mercury and the polytypic byproducts of combustion and industrial production continue to be spewed into and accumulate in the environment In addition there is great interest in natural products including toxins as sources of therapeutic agents Indeed it is well known that many natural toxins of broadly differing structure produced or accumulated for predatory or defensive purposes and toxic agents accumulated incidentally by numerous species function to perturb nervous tissue Components of some of these toxins have been shown to be useful therapeutic agents and or research reagents Unfor of some neurotoxicants of anthropogenic ori tunately the environmental accumulation gin expecially pesticides and metals has resulted in incidents of human poisoning some of epidemic proportion and high levels of morbidity and mortality Furthermore an increasing incidence of neurobehavioral disorders some with baffling symptoms is confronting clinicians It is not clear whether this is merely the re suit of increased vigi lance and or improved diagnostics or a consequence of improved health care In any case the role of exposure to environmental and occupational neurotoxicants in the etiology of these phenomena as well as neurodegenerative diseases is coming under increasing scrutiny and investigation

Parkinson's Disease Stewart Factor, William J.
