Negotiating Cohesion, Inequality and Change: Uncomfortable Positions in Local Government Hannah Jones, 2013 Using original empirical data this book explores how local government officers and politicians negotiate difficult subjects linked with community cohesion policy diversity inequality discrimination extremism migration religion class power and change

Negotiating Cohesion, Inequality and Change Hannah Jones, 2015-01-14 How are multiculturalism inequality and belonging understood in the day to day thinking and practices of local government Examining original empirical data this book explores how local government officers and politicians negotiate difficult subjects linked with community cohesion policy diversity inequality discrimination extremism migration religion class power and change The book argues that such work necessitates uncomfortable positions when managing ethical professional and political commitments Based on first hand experience of working in urban local government and extensive ethnographic interview and documentary research the book applies governmentality perspectives in a new way to consider how people working within government are subject to regimes of governmentality themselves and demonstrates how power operates through emotions Its exploration of how sociological imaginations are applied beyond academia will be valuable to those arguing for the future of public services and building connections between the university and wider society including scholars and students in sociology social policy social geography urban studies and politics and policy practitioners in local and central government Winner of the BSA Philip Abrams Memorial Prize 2014

Negotiating Cohesion, Inequality and Change Hannah Jones, 2015-01-14 This unique study explores how local bureaucrats and politicians negotiate diversity discrimination migration and class in the midst of many other issues that affect community cohesion Drawing on original empirical research Hannah Jones contends that local government workers must often occupy uncomfortable positions when managing ethical professional and political commitments Ultimately she reveals the surprising extent to which governmental power affects the lives and emotions of the people who wield it

London the Promised Land Revisited Anne J. Kershen, 2016-03-09 Some two decades since the publication of London the Promised Land which charted and investigated the successes and failures of the migrant experience in London over a period of three hundred years this book re examines the migrant landscape in London While remaining a beacon for immigrants the migrant face of the city has changed rapidly and dramatically from one which was heavily populated by semi skilled and unskilled post colonial incomers to one which now embraces the EU Accession Countries refugees from the Middle East and Africa oligarchs from Russia the new wealthy from China economic migrants from Latin America and Ireland and still post colonial immigrants at the same time witnessing the exodus home of incomers or their descendants who now see opportunities where there were none before The contributors all leading academics and practitioners in their diverse fields examine changes to the migrant landscape of contemporary London at the micro meso and macro levels London the Promised Land Revisited thus explores a range of experiences in the capital including the presence and treatment of illness amongst migrants the phenomenon of migrant invisibility and asylum the migrant marketplace and ethnic clustering and interaction with local and national government across a variety of migrant groups both new and old As such this book will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interest in migration migrant experiences and the contemporary global city Community Research for Community Development M. Mayo,Z. Mendiwelo-Bendek,C. Packham,2013-09-10 This book explores the contributions that research with refugees and with faith based organizations for example makes to strengthen community development and consequently promote active citizenship and social justice New Racial Landscapes Malcolm James,Helen Kim,Victoria Redclift,2016-03-17 The chapters in this volume examine the racial and ethnic landscape of Britain in a contemporary era of neoliberalism and financial crisis A key aspect of neoliberal thought is the belief that we live in a post racial in which the problems of racism and xenophobia have been overcome However cultural retrenchment and coded xenophobia have been sweeping the political terrain accompanied by new racisms and new racial subjects that only close contextual analysis can unpick The scholarship contained in this collection challenges those who suggest that we live in a post racial time By focusing on particular locations in Britain at a particular moment the volume explores local stories of race and racism across changing sociopolitical ground This book is essential reading for scholars and students of race racism diaspora multiculturalism post colonialism transnationalism and post race This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies Commonplace Diversity: Social Relations in a Super-Diverse Context Susanne Wessendorf,2014-11-03 Drawing on in depth ethnographic fieldwork Wessendorf explores life in a super diverse urban neighbourhood The book presents a vivid account of the daily doings and social relations among the residents and how they pragmatically negotiate difference in their everyday lives Stories of Cosmopolitan Belonging Hannah Jones,Emma Jackson,2014-06-20 What does it mean to belong in a place or more than one place This exciting new volume brings together work from cutting edge interdisciplinary scholars researching home migration and belonging using their original research to argue for greater attention to how feeling and emotion is deeply embedded in social structures and power relations Stories of Cosmopolitan Belonging argues for a practical cosmopolitanism that recognises relations of power and struggle and that struggles over place are often played out through emotional attachment Taking the reader on a journey through research encounters spiralling out from the global city of London through English suburbs and European cities to homes and lives in Jamaica Puerto Rico and Mexico the contributors show ways in which international and intercontinental migrations and connections criss cross and constitute local places in each of their case studies With a reflection on the practice of writing cities from two leading urbanists and a focus throughout the volume on empirical work driving theoretical elaboration this book will be essential reading for those interested in the politics of social science method transnational urbanism affective practices and new perspectives on power relations in neoliberal times The international range of linked case studies presented here will be a valuable resource for students and scholars in sociology anthropology urban studies cultural studies and contemporary history and for urban policy makers interested in innovative perspectives on social relations and urban form Stories from a migrant city Ben Rogaly, 2020-03-24 Taking a biographical approach the book explores the causes and consequences of moving or staying put in the context of class inequality and racism and looks for commonalities between people often seen as irredeemably divided Emotional States Eleanor Jupp, Jessica Pykett, Fiona M. Smith, 2016-10-14 What is the political allure value and currency of emotions within contemporary cultures of governance What does it mean to govern more humanely Since the emergence of an emotional turn in human geography over the last decade the notion that our emotions matter in understanding an array of social practices spatial formations and aspects of everyday life is no longer seen as controversial This book brings recent developments in emotional geography into dialogue with social policy concerns and contemporary issues of governance It sets the intellectual scene for research into the geographical dimensions of the emotionalized states of the citizen policy maker and public service worker and highlights new research on the emotional forms of governance which now characterise public life An international range of empirical field studies are used to examine issues of regulation modification governance and potential manipulation of emotional affects professional and personal identities and political technologies Contributors provide analysis of the role of emotional entanglements in policy strategy policy implementation service delivery citizenship and participation as well as considering the emotional nature of the research process itself It will be of interest to researchers and students within social policy human geography politics and related disciplines European Cities, Municipal Organizations and Diversity Maria Schiller, 2016-07-05 This book challenges the prevailing view that local authorities are irrelevant in immigration policy making Presenting an in depth ethnographic study of the recent implementation of local diversity policies in the Netherlands Belgium and United Kingdom it identifies a new politics of difference characterized by a paradigmatic pragmatism Building on extensive fieldwork in Amsterdam Antwerp and Leeds the author shows that rather than simply replacing an earlier politics of difference local diversity policies combine ideals of multiculturalism assimilation and diversity She links these findings to the ongoing modernization and diversification of municipal authorities and the impact of this transformation on the profile of the bureaucrats and their implementation of diversity policies This thought provoking work will appeal to students researchers and practitioners engaged in the fields of immigration diversity and multiculturalism div Racial Cities Giovanni Picker, 2017-02-24 Going beyond race blind approaches to spatial segregation in Europe Racial Cities argues that race is the logic through which stigmatized and segregated Gypsy urban areas have emerged and persisted after World War II Building on nearly a decade of ethnographic and historical research in Romania Italy France and the UK Giovanni Picker casts a series of case studies into the historical framework of circulations and borrowings between colony and metropole since the late nineteenth century By focusing on socio economic transformations and social dynamics in contemporary Cluj Napoca Pescara Montreuil Florence and Salford

Picker detects four local segregating mechanisms and comparatively investigates resemblances between each of them and segregation in French Rabat Italian Addis Ababa and British New Delhi These multiple global associations across space and time serve as an empirical basis for establishing a solid bridge between race critical theories and urban studies Racial Cities is the first comprehensive analysis of the segregation of Romani people in Europe providing a fine tuned and in depth explanation of this phenomenon While inequalities increase globally and poverty is ever more concentrated this book is a key contribution to debates and actions addressing social marginality inequalities racist exclusions and governance Thanks to its dense yet thoroughly accessible narration the book will appeal to scholars undergraduate and postgraduate students postdoctoral researchers and equally to activists and policy makers who are interested in areas including Race and Racism Urban Studies Governance Inequalities Colonialism and Postcolonialism and European Studies 'Race,' Space and Multiculturalism in Northern England Shamim Miah, Pete Sanderson, Paul Thomas, 2020-06-02 This book challenges the narrative of Northern England as a failed space of multiculturalism drawing on a historically contextualised discussion of ethnic relations to argue that multiculturalism has been more successful and locally situated than these assumptions allow The authors examine the interplay between race space and place to analyse how profound economic change the evolving nature of the state individual racism and the local creation and enactment of multiculturalist policies have all contributed to shaping the trajectory of ethnic faith identities and inter community relations at a local level In doing so the book analyses both change and continuity in discussion of and national local state policy towards ethnic relations particularly around the supposed segregation integration dichotomy and the ways in which racialised events are perceived and identities are created and reflected in state policy operations Drawing on the authors long involvement in empirical research policy and practice around ethnicity race and racism in the Northern England they effectively support critical and situated analysis of controversial racialised issues and set these geographically specific findings in the context of wider international experiences of and tensions around growing ethnic diversity in the context of profound economic and social changes The Decent Society Pamela Abbott, Claire Wallace, Roger Sapsford, 2016-04-14 The search for the Decent Society a fit place in which to live has informed policy at both governmental and international level This book analyses its nature and devises a consistent way of measuring the concept world wide on the basis of a coherent theory of agency within social structure Influenced by classical sociology and by the economist Amartya Sen the book posits that societies need to create a economic security b social cohesion c social inclusion and d the conditions for empowerment The model is interactive and recursive each component provides the requirements for each of the others This book outlines the sociopolitical framework underlying the Decent Society and summarises a decade of research some of which has had a formative impact on governments policies The first half contains studies of social quality based on surveys in the former Soviet Union and sub Saharan Africa while the second half describes the construction of a Decent Society Index for comparing very different countries across the world This book and the index it develops will be of interest both to academics and researchers in sociology politics economics psychology social policy and development studies and to policy makers in government local government and the NGOs

Violent Ignorance Hannah Jones, 2021-01-28 An elected politician is assassinated in the street by a terrorist associated with extreme political groups and the national response is to encourage picnics Thousands of people are held in prison like conditions without judicial oversight or any time limit on their sentence An attempt to re assert national sovereignty and borders leads thousands of citizens to register for dual citizenship with other countries some overcoming family associations with genocide in their second country of nationality to do so This is life in the UK today How then are things still continuing as normal How can we confront these phenomena and why do we so often refuse to What are the practices that help us to accommodate the unconscionable How might we contend with the horrors that meet us each day rather than becoming desensitized to them Violent Ignorance sets out to examine these questions through an understanding of how the past persists in the present how trauma is silenced or reappears and how we might reimagine identity and connection in ways that counter rather than ignore historic violence In particular Hannah Jones shows how border controls and enforcement and its corollary racism and violence have shifted over time Drawing on thinkers from John Berger to Ben Okri from Audre Lorde to Susan Sontag the book questions what it means to belong and discusses how hierarchies of belonging are revealed by what we can see and what we can ignore

Social Class in the 21st Century Mike Savage, 2015-11-05 A fresh take on social class from the experts behind the BBC's Great British Class Survey Why does social class matter more than ever in Britain today How has the meaning of class changed What does this mean for social mobility and inequality In this book Mike Savage and the team of sociologists responsible for the Great British Class Survey look beyond the labels to explore how and why our society is changing and what this means for the people who find themselves in the margins as well as in the centre Their new conceptualization of class is based on the distribution of three kinds of capital economic inequalities in income and wealth social the different kinds of people we know and cultural the ways in which our leisure and cultural preferences are exclusive and provides incontrovertible evidence that class is as powerful and relevant today as it's ever been and research This handbook is a valuable resource for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students in urban planning built environment urban studies and public policy as well as academics and practitioners across Australia and internationally

Go home? Hannah Jones, Yasmin Gunaratnam, Gargi Bhattacharyya, William Davies, Sukhwant Dhaliwal, Kirsten Forkert, Emma Jackson, Roiyah Saltus, 2017-03-31 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license In July 2013 the UK government arranged for a van to drive through parts of London carrying the message In the UK illegally GO HOME or face arrest This book tells the story of what happened next The vans were short lived but they were part of an ongoing trend in government sponsored communication designed to demonstrate toughness on immigration The authors set out to explore the effects of such performances on policy on public debate on pro migrant and anti racist activism and on the everyday lives of people in Britain This book presents their findings and provides insights into the practice of conducting research on such a charged and sensitive topic

Reimagining the State Davina Cooper, Nikita Dhawan, Janet Newman, 2019-07-30 This book examines what value if any the state has for the pursuit of progressive politics and how it might need to be reimagined and remade to deliver transformative change Is it possible to reimagine the state in ways that open up projects of political transformation This interdisciplinary collection provides alternative perspectives to the antistatism of much critical writing and contemporary political movement activism Contributors explore ways of reimagining the state that attend critically to the capitalist neoliberal gendered and racist conditions of contemporary politics yet seek to hold onto the state in the process Drawing on postcolonial poststructuralist feminist queer Marxist and anarchist thinking they consider how states might be reread and reclaimed for radical politics At the heart of this book is state plasticity the capacity of the state conceptually and materially to take different forms This plasticity is central to transformational thinking and practice and to the conditions and labour that allow it to take place But what can reimagining do and what difficulties does it confront This book will appeal to academics and research students concerned with critical and transformative approaches to state theory particularly in governance studies politics and political theory socio legal studies international relations geography gender sexuality cultural studies and anthropology

Race and the Cultural Industries Anamik Saha, 2018-01-08 Studies of race and media are dominated by textual approaches that explore the politics of representation But there is little understanding of how and why representations of race in the media take the shape that they do How one might ask is race created by cultural industries In this important new book Anamik Saha encourages readers to focus on the production of representations of racial and ethnic minorities in film television music and the arts His interdisciplinary approach combines critical media studies and media industries research with postcolonial studies and critical race perspectives to reveal how political economic forces and legacies of empire shape industrial cultural production and in turn media discourses around race Race and the Cultural Industries is required reading for students and scholars of media and cultural studies as well as anyone interested in why historical representations of the Other persist in the media and how they are to be challenged
