

A large, towering dust devil rises from a desert landscape. The dust devil is a massive, vertical column of brown dust and sand, tapering slightly as it ascends. The base of the dust devil is a dark, circular shadow on the ground. The surrounding landscape is arid, with sparse, low-lying vegetation and a clear blue sky. In the distance, there are faint outlines of mountains. The text "Dust devils" is overlaid on the right side of the image in a large, bold, yellow font.

This critical edition makes available for the first time Thomas Merton's novitiate conferences on liturgy. Though dating from the period just before the liturgical reforms of Vatican II, Merton's commentaries remain pertinent for their insights on his own commitment to this central dimension of Christian life, on his work introducing students to the patterns that would mark their lives as monks, and on the perennial meaning of the key events of the liturgical year. The thoroughly annotated text is preceded by an extensive introduction situating this material in the context of Merton's lifelong writing on liturgy. As Merton's former student Br Paul Quenon writes in his foreword: Nowhere in all of Merton's writings can one find such an extended demonstration of the hermeneutical approach he took in commenting on Scripture. This was focused intensely on finding the meaning Scripture had for our life in God. These notes take us into one man's lifetime of reflection and seasoned experience of the Church Year.     The Saturday Evening Post ,1921     Allegorical, figurative and symbolical John Bunyan,1853

We have completed volumes 1-6-9, which are the New Testament. Lord willing, during 2023-2024 we will try to complete volumes 2-5, which are the Old Testament. This volume was published between 1867-1874. In contrast to the extreme skeptical-critical mode which came to characterize much of German scholarship in the 19th century, Lange represented a more traditional, conservative, and Evangelical approach, shared in common with men such as E. W. Hengstenberg. He was also a Reformed minister, and the commentaries reflect this combination of conservative criticism, Evangelical theology, and homiletics in a way that is unique. For each passage that is covered a consistent approach is adopted throughout After giving the text in translation along with textual notes as footnotes three different kinds of commentary are presented EXEGETICAL AND CRITICAL DOCTRINAL AND ETHICAL HOMILETICAL AND PRACTICAL This gives you three times the value For each verse you select a drop down box will appear allowing you to choose from each of these areas or kinds of commentary For detailed analysis go to the exegetical critical notes for sermon ideas and pastoral insights select the Homiletical notes The Works of that Eminent Servant of Christ John Bunyan, 1850
