New Public Governance The Third Sector And Co Production:

New Public Governance, the Third Sector, and Co-Production Victor Pestoff, Taco Brandsen, Bram Verschuere, 2013-06-19 In recent years public management research in a variety of disciplines has paid increasing attention to the role of citizens and the third sector in the provision of public services Several of these efforts have employed the concept of co production to better understand and explain this trend This book aims to go further by systematizing the growing body of academic papers and reports that focus on various aspects of co production and its potential contribution to new public governance It has an interdisciplinary focus that makes a unique contribution to the body of knowledge in this field at the cross roads of a number of disciplines including business administration policy studies political science public management sociology third sector studies etc The unique presentation of them together in this volume both allows for comparing and contrasting these different perspectives and for potential theoretical collaboration and development More particularly this volume addresses the following concerns What is the nature of co production and what challenges does it face How can we conceptualize the concept of co production How does co production works in practice How does co production unfold in reality What can be the effects of co production And more specific firstly how can co production contribute to service quality and service management in public services and secondly what is the input of co production on growing citizen involvement and development of participative democracy Co-Production and Co-Creation Taco Brandsen, Bram Verschuere, Trui Steen, 2018-03-15 Co production and co creation occur when citizens participate actively in delivering and designing the services they receive It has come increasingly onto the agenda of policymakers as interest in citizen participation has more generally soared Expectations are high and it is regarded as a possible solution to the public sector s decreased legitimacy and dwindling resources by accessing more of society s capacities In addition it is seen as part of a more general drive to reinvigorate voluntary participation and strengthen social cohesion in an increasingly fragmented and individualized society Co Production and Co Creation Engaging Citizens in Public Services offers a systematic and comprehensive theoretical and empirical examination of the concepts of co production and co creation and their application in practice It shows the latest state of knowledge on the topic and will be of interest both to students at an advanced level academics and reflective practitioners It addresses the topics with regard to co production and co creation and will be of interest to researchers academics policymakers and students in the fields of public administration business administration economics political science public management political science service management sociology and voluntary sector studies

Social Enterprise and the Third Sector Jacques Defourny, Lars Hulgård, Victor Pestoff, 2014-06-05 The concepts of social enterprise and social entrepreneurship are rapidly attracting increased attention in academic spheres and from policy makers as well as field workers who are setting up new initiatives or reshaping their organizations These concepts are perceived as defining innovative and dynamic responses to major global challenges in today s societies The debate about social enterprise is now world wide with lively exchanges between American and European scholars However the research and landscapes still differ significantly in different regions and diversity also exists within specific regions such as Europe This book presents the most comprehensive set of contributions reflecting the European wide debate but with frequent connections to developments in other parts of the world This book is a result of work carried out by members of the EMES International Research Network which is a pioneer in this field Social Enterprise and the Third Sector will appeal to all researchers who focus on the third sector social economy and social enterprise to MBA and postgraduate students as well as to intellectual social enterprise leaders and practitioners It will soon become a key reference for all those who want to explore the full richness of these concepts and follow this important academic debate

Co-Production and Public Service Management Victor Pestoff, 2018-10-03 This volume compiles a dozen essays by one of the most prolific proponents of co production as a solution for many of the challenges facing public services and democratic governance at the outset of the 21st Century Co production is considered a partnership between citizens and public service providers that is essential for meeting a growing number of social challenges since neither the government nor citizens can solve them on their own These challenges include among other things improving the efficiency and effectiveness of public services in times of financial strain increasing the legitimacy of the public sector after decades of questioning its ability with the spread of New Public Management promoting social integration and cultural pluralism in increasingly diverse societies when millions of refugees and immigrants are on the move tackling the threat of burgeoning populism following the rise of anti immigrant and anti global parties in many countries in recent years and finally finding viable solutions for meeting the growing needs of aging populations in many parts of the world This volume addresses issues related to the successful development and implementation of a policy shift toward greater citizen participation in the design and delivery of the services they depend on in their daily lives and greater citizen involvement in resolving these tenacious problems facilitated by the active support of governments across the globe Moreover it explores participatory public service management that empowers the front line staff providing public services Together with users citizens they can insure the democratic governance of public service provision

Non-profit Organizations and Co-production Caitlin McMullin, 2022-10-07 Non profit Organizations and Co production The Logics Shaping Professional and Citizen Collaboration develops a novel framework for analyzing the practices of co production between citizens and professionals in the non profit sector Analysing organizations in three contexts Sheffield England Lyon France and Montreal Quebec Canada the book examines the international differences between non profits evidenced by the way that they variously blend or assimilate the logics of the market state and community and how this shapes the motivations for and approaches to co production at the micro level in each context This book presents a major step forward in comparative non profit studies and the co production of public services This book will be of interest to researchers policymakers practitioners and graduate postgraduate students in public administration and management particularly within Public Nonprofit Management and Organization Studies The book speaks directly to key contemporary debates in these fields including the nature of organizational hybridity public service innovation and approaches to service user involvement

Co-Production of Public Services and Outcomes Elke Loeffler, 2020-10-03 This book examines user and community co production of public services and outcomes currently one of the most discussed topics in the field of public management and policy It considers co production in a wide range of public services with particular emphasis on health social care and community safety illustrated through international case studies in many of the chapters This book draws on both quantitative and qualitative empirical research studies on co production and on the Governance International database of more than 70 international co production case studies most of which have been republished by the OECD Academically rigorous and systematically evidence based the book incorporates many insights which have arisen from the extensive range of research projects and executive training programmes in co production undertaken by the author Written in a style which is easy and enjoyable to read the book gives readers both academics and practitioners the opportunity to develop a creative understanding of the essence and implications of co production

Toward ICT-enabled Co-production for Effective Crisis and Emergency Response Elina Ramsell,2020-12-29

In contemporary society public services struggle to maintain a high quality of service if the authority responsible for the service delivery experiences resource deficit and increased uncertainties and vulnerabilities

This thesis explores how information and communication technology ICT can enable new types of network collaborations co production between government municipalities and citizens for a more effective crisis and emergency response

This is explored in the light of digitalization and taking an end user perspective

The thesis s first objective is to describe the transformation toward ICT enabled co production

The second objective is to identify opportunities and challenges involved in ICT enabled co production

The thesis s method includes two case studies supported by various theories and approaches network collaboration including co production sociotechnical systems and end user involvement

The data collection is conducted using semi structured interviews focus groups user participation techniques and document reviews

The intended audience is practitioners local government and national agencies and researchers within crisis and emergency response information systems IS and public administration research disciplines and domains e g co production

The description of the transformation toward ICT enabled coproduction in crisis and emergency response is a result in its own right

Here the citizen volunteers become involved in the actual delivery of the response despite non specific competence and non organizational affiliation

In relation to the transformation toward co production the thesis concludes that digitalization facilitates end user involvement in the ICT development process and increases their influence

If open systems as mobile technologies are used end users can adapt the technology on their own and add technologies without the support of the formal developer or local government

The thesis also identifies opportunities and challenges of ICT enabled co production Examples of opportunities include citizen volunteers having a high degree of engagement being an effective complement to professional responders and increasing perceived safety in the community This informal structure of co production enabled by ICT minimizes the need for local governments to spend resources on managing collaboration Examples of challenges include the lack of organizational affiliation of volunteers e g integration of citizen volunteers i e end users with non organizational affiliation in the technology of the ICT system and aspects of formal and social control regulation and moral and privacy issues The thesis s contributions include enriched knowledge of essential aspects to consider when developing ICT enabled co production with an end user perspective and an understanding of the transformation of the application domain over time and the implications of ICT enabled coproduction This makes it easier to comprehend and develop contemporary and future co productions The thesis is perceived to have high originality and value since it studies time periods in which local government technology and crisis and emergency response have undergone dramatic changes and explores one of the first Swedish empirical initiatives involving citizen volunteers as responders of co production in policy and practice its implementation and management in the public domain and its governance including its negative aspects the dark side of co production A final section discusses different aspects of the future research agenda for co production

The Resilience of New Public Management Irvine Lapsley, Peter Miller, 2024 New Public Management NPM has been the most significant public policy reform in decades Despite its widespread use it has been a contested policy from its initial adoption A succession of replacement policies has been proposed over NPMs life to date Yet NPM is still in evidence The expression NPM was coined by Hood 1991 It referred to the mimicry of private sector practices on management structures and styles on ownership models and the focus on accounting practices and quantification and performance management within private sector organisations Writings on New Public Management NPM have been extremely influential even if it can no longer be described as new It is often described as a set of management techniques and practices which have now achieved global significance The attractiveness of NPM to policy makers is evident The NPM focus on results coincides with political imperatives NPM has the appearance of ready made answers to policy proposals Many management consultants have become adept at advancing the case for NPM generally and as a solution to specific problems However many academic commentators have criticised NPM implementation programmes Despite such criticism the adherence of policymakers to NPM has ensured its prominent role in public life In this book we outline four dimensions of NPM which focus on understanding both the pervasive nature of NPM and the challenges to the prevailing logic of NPM in public policy

- 1 Mature NPM This is a discussion of NPM in the contemporary environment There is discussion of the emergence of NPM NPM in crisis situations Gaming behaviour in performance management and the impact of the Audit Society This reveals the enduring nature of NPM including perverse outcomes
- 2 NPM in Action This is a discussion which shows NPM s ability to colonise to adapt and its wide presence in government bodies health care and universities
- 3 Alternative Models to NPM These alternatives are governance models the advocacy of coproduction between government organisations and citizens more recent concepts like public value and Trust based management
- 4 Finale an overview of NPMs role in contemporary society This includes a discussion of whether the widespread adoption of accounting and management technologies in support of NPM were merited We comment on how NPM might reform in the future We also discuss the resilience of NPM and a research agenda
