Committee on Small Business,1980 Black Gold and Blackmail Rosemary A. Kelanic,2020-05-15 Black Gold and Blackmail seeks to explain why great powers adopt such different strategies to protect their oil access from politically motivated disruptions In extreme cases such as Imperial Japan in 1941 great powers fought wars to grab oil territory in anticipation of a potential embargo by the Allies in other instances such as Germany in the early Nazi period states chose relatively subdued measures like oil alliances or domestic policies to conserve oil What accounts for this variation Fundamentally it is puzzling that great powers fear oil coercion at all because the global market makes oil sanctions very difficult to enforce Rosemary A Kelanic argues that two variables determine what strategy a great power will adopt the petroleum deficit which measures how much oil the state produces domestically compared to what it needs for its strategic objectives and disruptibility which estimates the susceptibility of a state s oil imports to military interdiction that is blockade Because global markets undercut the effectiveness of oil sanctions blockade is in practice the only true threat to great power oil access That combined with the devastating consequences of oil deprivation to a state s military power explains why states fear oil coercion deeply despite the adaptive functions of the market Together these two variables predict a state s coercive vulnerability which determines how willing the state will be to accept the costs and risks attendant on various potential strategies Only those great powers with large deficits and highly disruptible imports will adopt the most extreme strategy direct control of oil through territorial conquest Choice ,2008 Energy Supply and Renewable Resources Regina Anne Kelly,2010-05-12 Examines the history behind industrialized nations dependence on natural resources particularly fossil fuels as well as developing nations increasing consumption of these resources Clean Air Act Oversight Issues United States. Improving Equity through Fiscal Policy Marc K. Fudge, Marc Holzer, 2025-09-30 Improving Equity through Fiscal Policy Dashed Dreams explores the delivery of key services to the public and to what extent equity is considered when government allocates resources Authors Marc K Fudge and Marc Holzer examine the key topics in a typical public budgeting finance or policy course including taxation public choice and political economics from an equity based lens They then offer a deep dive into the development of US public policies tackling a complex history of policies written expressly to undermine or suppress the advancement of Blacks and people of color The result is a timely supplement to public budgeting and finance courses that encourages readers to recognize and reckon with the persistence of deep disparities and the ways in which contemporary public budgeting cannot be understood without considering equity The book begins with a discussion of the value of social equity and how it emerged as a critical component of public administration and policy It then provides coverage of the economic role of government in society taxation and its distributional effects voter suppression as well as inequities in housing education and health It further explores the racial wealth gap as well as positive examples of strategies that have helped to support a fairer and more equal allocation of resources Improving Equity through Fiscal Policy Dashed Dreams offers instructors students policymakers elected officials managers and leaders a critical and necessary re examination of this important topic

Fracking and the Rhetoric of Place Justin Mando, 2021-10-19 Fracking and the Rhetoric of Place investigates the rhetorical strategies of speakers at public hearings on hydraulic fracturing fracking in order to understand how places shape and are shaped by citizens as they engage in their democracy As an important argumentative resource in environmental controversy the rhetoric of place helps citizens situate themselves within local contexts and raise their voices in times of social conflict Justin Mando uses rhetorical analysis discourse analysis and corpus analysis to offer scholars of place based rhetoric and environmental communication a heuristic approach to studying their own sites This approach reveals that place based arguments are a ubiquitous rhetorical resource in the dispute over hydraulic fracturing that shapes how the issue is perceived Pro frackers and anti frackers use rhetoric of place in striking ways that reveal their values motivations strengths and weaknesses Place functions as an interface of potential common ground that connects the local to the global what is here to what is there Scholars and students of rhetoric
