Peter Matthiessen and Ecological Imagination Intaek Oh, 2010 Peter Matthiessen and Ecological Imagination offers an ecocritical reading of the Watson Trilogy Killing Mister Watson 1990 Lost Man's River 1997 and Bone By Bone 1999 which draws together themes Matthiessen has been exploring both in his fiction and nonfiction While this study argues that his ecological imagination comes from his unique experience as a novelist naturalist environmentalist social activist and a student of Zen it also illustrates that for Matthiessen economic political social racial psychological epistemological and ecological issues are all inseparably interconnected Set in the Everglades frontier in the formative era of American industrial capitalism Matthiessen's novels are his grand attempt to reexamine the root causes of ecological disaster in the region and the costs to the people and the land that accompanied the conquering of the frontier Alone in a World of Wounds

Shodhin K. Geiman, 2022-06-29 When Buddhism came to the West in the 1960s many were eager to adapt it straightaway to the prevailing social and intellectual currents of its new home One of those adaptations was the creation of a socially engaged Buddhism that could stand alongside similar developments in Christian and Jewish thought It seemed like a good idea at the time Beginning with what the tradition calls the path of the holy life a life free of every attachment to self and the delusions to which it gives rise Geiman draws attention to the unique contribution the Dharma makes to one's understanding of the world one's place within it and the nature of wise and compassionate action in the face of human hardship Along the way he shows the limits of using the teaching of the Buddha and the Dharma Ancestors as support for social and political agendas of any kind What emerges is a description of a noble life free of pretense and guile which fearlessly and unshakably bears witness to the truth of our conditioned nature in the midst of human hardship a life best described as standing alone in a world of wounds Zen Living
