1. The first step is to identify the problem.

Abstract: This paper presents a new algorithm to solve the problem of finding the minimum number of nodes in a directed graph that are ancestors of all nodes in the graph. The algorithm is based on the concept of a "dominating set" and is implemented using a breadth-first search (BFS) algorithm. The algorithm is shown to be correct and its complexity is analyzed. The algorithm is applied to a problem in the theory of automata.
