Chemical Speciation of Organic and Inorganic components of Environmental and Biological Interest in Natural Fluids Francesco Crea, Alberto Pettignano, 2020-03-25 The International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry IUPAC defines the term speciation as the distribution of an element amongst defined chemical species in a system while the process leading to quantitative estimation of the content of different species is called speciation analysis The chemical speciation of elements in natural waters and biological fluids is a key topic essential for discussing the chemical reactivity of constituents in these systems It is well understood that it is the chemical form of a metal or metalloids that determines its reactivity lifetime and fate in the environment Chemical speciation now involves various sectors of the sciences from chemistry to biology biochemistry and environmental sciences since as is well known the total concentration alone of an inorganic or organic component metal or ligand in a multicomponent natural system fresh water sea water biological fluids soil etc is insufficient for a comprehensive understand of its behavior in those contests
