Problems of Living Dan J. Stein, 2021-05-11 Problems of Living Perspectives from Philosophy Psychiatry and Cognitive Affective Science addresses philosophical questions related to problems of living including questions about the nature of the brain mind reason and emotion happiness and suffering goodness and truth and the meaning of life It draws on critical pragmatic and embodied realism as well as moral naturalism and brings arguments from metaphysics epistemology and ethics together with data from cognitive affective science This multidisciplinary integrated approach provides a novel framework for considering not only the nature of mental disorders but also broader issues in mental health such as finding pleasure and purpose in life Draws on the strongest aspects of polar positions in philosophy and psychiatry to help resolve important perennial debates in these fields Explores continuities between early philosophical work and current cognitive affective sciences including neuroscience and psychology Employs findings from modern cognitive affective science to rethink key long standing debates in philosophy and psychiatry Builds on work showing how mind is embodied in the brain and embedded in society to provide an integrated conceptual framework Assesses both the insights and the limitations of cognitive affective science for addressing the big questions and hard problems of living

Subjectivity Transformed Thomas Vesting, 2023-11-28 This book provides a historically informed reconstruction of the social practices that have shaped the formation of the modern subject from the early modern period to the present The formal legal protections accorded to subjects are and always have been latent in social practices norms and language before they are articulated in formal legal orders Vesting argues that in Western societies legal personhood is closely tied to three ideal types of social personhood what he calls the gentleman the manager and Homo digitalis By examining these three ideal types and their emergence in society we can see that Western formal law does not bring these ideal types into being but on the contrary they arise from the social and cultural conditions that they generate and reflect Correspondingly Western legal personhood or legal subjectivity arises from the history and culture of Western nations not the other way around Therefore signature features of Western formal law particularly its valorization of the rights of persons whether natural or nonnatural come from the particular sociohistorical cultural developments that had already generated the strong ideas of social personhood inherent in the ideal types of the gentleman the manager and Homo digitalis Subjectivity Transformed is a major contribution to legal and social theory and with its original analysis of the formation of modern subjectivity it will be of interest to students and scholars throughout the social sciences and humanities how our pursuit of happiness makes us unhappy We live in an age of unprecedented prosperity yet everywhere we see signs that our pursuit of happiness has proven fruitless Dissatisfied we seek change for the sake of change even if it means undermining the foundations of our common life In Why We Are Restless Benjamin and Jenna Storey offer a profound and beautiful reflection on the roots of this malaise and examine how we might begin to cure ourselves Drawing on the insights of Montaigne Pascal Rousseau and Tocqueville Why We Are Restless explores the modern vision of happiness that leads us on and the disquiet that follows it like a lengthening shadow In the sixteenth century Montaigne articulated an original vision of human life that inspired people to see themselves as individuals dedicated to seeking contentment in the here and now but Pascal argued that we cannot find happiness through pleasant self seeking only anguished God seeking Rousseau later tried and failed to rescue Montaigne s worldliness from Pascal s attack Steeped in these debates Tocqueville visited the United States in 1831 and observing a people restless in the midst of their well being discovered what happens when an entire nation seeks worldly contentment and finds mostly discontent Arguing that the philosophy we have inherited despite pretending to let us live as we please produces remarkably homogenous and unhappy lives Why We Are Restless makes the case that finding true contentment requires rethinking our most basic assumptions about happiness
