Irrationality in Health Care Douglas E Hough,2023-05-25 A look at the American health care system through analysis of consumer and provider behavior The health care industry in the US is peculiar We spend close to 18% of our GDP on health care yet other countries get better results and we don't know why To date we still lack widely accepted answers to simple questions such as Would requiring everyone to buy health insurance make us better off Drawing on behavioral economics as an alternative to the standard tools of health economics author Douglas E Hough seeks to diagnose the ills of health care today more clearly A behavioral perspective makes sense of key contradictions from the seemingly irrational choices that we sometimes make as patients to the incongruous behavior of physicians to the morass of the long lived debate surrounding reform With the new health care law in effect it is more important than ever that consumers health care industry leaders and the policymakers who are governing change reckon with the power and sources of our behavior when it comes to health Praise for Irrationality in Health Care Hough does an extraordinary job of distilling the literature and providing key insights to help us understand how health care consumers and providers really behave and how government can formulate better policy A must read for anyone interested in the burgeoning field of behavioral economics and age old questions in health care Thomas Rice Distinguished Professor UCLA Fielding School of Public Health Hough explains and applies the emerging field of behavioral economics to patient and physician decision making providing a rationale for seemingly irrational behavior and its particular usefulness for designing health policies Paul J Feldstein University of California Irvine Balancing rigor and policy relevance Hough shows the application of behavioral economics to health policy in a most compelling way I liked this book so much I wish I had written it Richard Scheffler University of California Berkeley Medical Quality Management Angelo P.
