Mind Heart And Soul In The Fight Against Poverty:

Mind, Heart, and Soul in the Fight Against Poverty Katherine Marshall, Lucy Keough, 2004 This book explores the diversity of collaboration between faith institutions and development agencies ranging from community level interventions in support of excluded populations work on education health and HIV AIDS restoring communities after conflicts and global efforts to bring greater clarity and meaning to challenges such as poor country debt labor and the struggle against poverty What is emerging is a set of new partnerships which are founded on common concerns for the welfare of poor communities and the global cause of social justice The need for broader and clearer insight and for creative efforts to see and understand the whole emerge as fundamental lessons of recent decades of development experience , Bihar and Mithila J. Albert Rorabacher, 2016-09-13 The struggling states of Bihar and Mithila serve as extreme examples of India's problems Development here has been thwarted by a hereditary landed aristocracy supported by religion casteism custom social stratification tradition and patterns of behaviour that can be traced back millennia In turn all these have been masterfully manipulated by co-opted politicians who have turned politics into a veritable art form as this volume comprehensively demonstrates Please note Taylor Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India Pakistan Afghanistan Nepal Bhutan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka Sustainable Development and Human Security in Africa Louis A. Picard, Terry F. Buss, Taylor B. Seybolt, Macrina C. Lelei, 2015-04-22 Many new development initiatives have been introduced in Africa over the past few decades Each of these has been heralded as marking a new era in the continent's development However many of these initiatives have failed to produce sustained results due to numerous challenges including most importantly the lack of good governance The Africa P Gulf Charities and Islamic Philanthropy in the 'Age of Terror' and Beyond Jonathan Benthall, Robert Lacey, 2014-12-31 Gulf Charities and Islamic Philanthropy in the Age of Terror and Beyond is the first book to be published on the charities of Saudi Arabia and the Arabian Gulf covering their work both domestic and international From a diversity of viewpoints the book addresses the historical roots of Islamic philanthropy in religious traditions and geopolitical movements the interactions of the Gulf charities with Western relief and development institutions now under pressure owing to budgetary constraints numerous case studies from the Middle East Africa and South Asia the impact of violent extremism on the sector with the legal repercussions that have followed especially in the USA the recent history of attempts to alleviate the obstacles faced by bona fide Islamic charities whose absence from major conflict zones now leaves a vacuum for extremist groups to penetrate the prospects for a less politicized Islamic charity sector when the so-called war on terror eventually loses its salience What Can One Person Do? Sabina Alkire, Edmund Newell, 2005-10 Addresses the challenge of living in a world broken by intractable issues of poverty and injustice and offers meditations followed by practical suggestions on how churches and individuals can actually make a difference What Can One Person Do confronts a poverty-stricken world and with clarity of purpose offers practical steps to create lasting change Global poverty can be reduced through a series of achievable objectives the eight Millennium Development goals agreed to by the international community at the Millennium Summit in 2000 World leaders and faith communities have adopted the MDGs as well as the ideas found within this book for the authors demonstrate that as shared vision grows and as these goals are accomplished human communities shall indeed flourish

Education and Religion Keith Watson, William I. Ozanne, 2013-09-13 In most countries whether secular or otherwise education and religion are closely interlinked and no matter how hard the state tries it can be very difficult to remove the ties between them This book investigates the links between education religion and politics The dominant feature in creating a common culture between peoples each of which has its own distinct heritage and practices is religion Globalisation is leading to a redefinition of the state community and local identity this latter often perceived as resistance against the forces of unity whether through culture economic activity or language Recent world events have focused attention on the interplay between education religion and politics like never before Even more pertinent is the fact that the involvement of politics in decisions about religion and education is often central and impossible to disentangle Education and Religion covers all the major religious traditions Buddhist Christian Jewish Hindu Muslim Sikh and cites global examples throughout the world It aims to understand the underlying complexities in the struggle to reconcile education religion and politics in an informative and sensitive way This book was originally published as a special issue of Comparative Education

Politics of Development Heloise Weber, 2014-08-13 An overview of the politics of development with chapters analysing gender race social movements religion security and other relevant issues in terms of development A glossary informs on pertinent issues and terminology

Economic Liberalisation, Social Capital and Islamic Welfare Provision J. Harrigan, H. El-Said, 2009-02-25 This book looks at two aspects of Islamic activity in the Middle East and North Africa the development of social capital and the provision of welfare services within the context of economic liberalisation programmes to see whether the retrenchment of the state under liberalisation has created a space for Islamic based activities

Finding Global Balance Katherine Marshall, Lucy Keough, 2005 This book relates the latest chapter in the story of a remarkable partnership between the worlds of faith and development launched in 1998 by Jim Wolfensohn and then Archbishop of Canterbury George Carey when they convened a meeting of faith and development leaders in Lambeth Palace The intervening years have seen the growth and enhancement of a network of world faith and development leaders who share a common passion to eradicate global poverty extend social justice and ensure global security for all of the world's people Periodically this group of leaders gathers together to debate issues of common concern and global significance The most recent meeting took place in Dublin Ireland in January 2005 Debates over two days were rich and provocative examining issues ranging from the recent Asian tsunami to HIV AIDS gender and youth and the roots of conflict all viewed through the lens of equity References to the ethical dimensions of poverty alleviation and the need for a strong moral underpinning as a foundation for equitable and sustainable development lay at the heart of every session The uniqueness of this partnership is the fresh perspective it offers on critical development issues and the opportunity for faith leaders and development leaders to seek new avenues for collaboration This book tells the story of this partnership within the context of the Dublin meeting Development, Civil Society and Faith-Based Organizations G. Clarke,M. Jennings,T. Shaw,2007-11-28 This book examines the role of faith based organizations in managing international aid providing services defending human rights and protecting democracy It argues that greater engagement with faith communities and organizations is needed and questions traditional secularism that has underpinned development policy and practice in the North Religious Pluralism, Globalization, and World Politics Thomas Banchoff,2008-11-26 Religious pluralism is everywhere in today s politics Increased immigration flows the collapse of communism and the globalization of communications technologies have all fostered a wider variety of religious beliefs practices and organizations within and across democratic societies This is true in both the United States and Europe where growing and diverse minority communities are transforming the political landscape As a result controversies over such things as headscarves and depictions of Mohammed are unsettling a largely secular Europe while a Christian majority in the US faces familiar questions about church state relations amidst unprecedented religious diversity Far from receding into the background religious language pervades arguments around established issues such as abortion and capital punishment and new ones such as stem cell research and same sex marriage In Democracy and the New Religious Pluralism leading scholars from multiple disciplines explore these dynamics and their implications for democratic theory and practice What are the contours of this new religious pluralism What are its implications for the theory and practice of democracy Does increasing religious pluralism erode the cultural and social foundations of democracy To what extent do different religious communities embrace similar or at least compatible ethical and political commitments By seeking answers to these questions and revealing religious pluralism as both a source of animosity and a potent force for peaceful engagement this book offers a revealing look at the future of religion in democratic societies The Economics of Religion in India Sriya Iyer,2018-09-17 Religion is not a popular target for economic analysis Yet the economist s tools offer insights into how religious groups compete deliver social services and reach out to converts how religions nurture and deploy market power Sriya Iyer puts these tools to use in an expansive study of India one of the world s most religiously diverse nations International Development and Local Faith Actors Kathryn Kraft,Olivia J. Wilkinson,2020-03-17 This book explores the interplay and dialogue between faith communities and the humanitarian development community Faith and religion are key influencers of thought and practice in many communities around the world and development practitioners would not be able to change behaviours for improved health and social relations without the understanding and influence of those with authority in communities such as religious leaders Equally religious leaders feel responsibilities to their communities but do not necessarily have the technical knowledge and resources at hand to provide the information or services needed to promote the well being of all in their scope of influence

The book demonstrates that partnerships between humanitarian development practitioners and religious communities can be mutually beneficial exchanges but that there are also frequently pitfalls along the way and opportunities for lessons to be learned by each party Delving into how humanitarians and faith communities engage with one another the book focuses on building knowledge about how they interact as peers with different yet complementary roles in community development The authors draw on the Channels of Hope methodology a tool which seeks to engage faith leaders in addressing social norms and enact social change as well as other related research in the sector to demonstrate the many ways in which humanitarian and development policy makers and practitioners could achieve more systematic engagement with faith groups This book is an important contribution to the growing body of literature on faith and development and will be useful both to researchers and to practitioners working with faith communities

Entering the New Theological Space John Reader, 2016-05-06

This book presents theological reflections on the changing nature of church mission and Christian identity within a theology of blurred encounter a physical social political and spiritual space where once solid hierarchies and patterns are giving way to more fluid and in many ways unsettling exchanges The issues raised and dynamics explored apply to all socially produced space thus tending to blur that most fundamental of theological categories namely urban vs rural theology Engaging in a sharper way with some of the helpful but inevitably broad brush conclusions raised by recent church based reports Mission shaped Church Faithful Cities the authors examine some of the practical and theological implications of this research for the issue of effective management and therefore church leadership generally Speaking to practitioners in the field of practical theology as well as those engaged in theological and ministerial training key voices encompass dimensions of power and conflict and identify some of the present and future opportunities and challenges to church faith based engagement and leadership arising from blurred encounters Contributors practitioners and theorists cover a wide spectrum of interdisciplinary professional contexts and academic denominational interests Contributors include John Atherton John Reader Helen Cameron Martyn Percy Malcolm Brown Karen Lord Clare McBeath and Margaret Goodall

The World Bank Katherine Marshall, 2008-03-25 The World Bank is one of the most important and least understood major international institutions This book provides a concise accessible and comprehensive overview of the World Bank s history development structure functionality and activities These themes are illustrated with a wide variety of case studies drawn from the Bank s international activities Also discussed are the controversial challenges that the Bank now faces in the light of the criticism from campaigners and NGOs

Ethics, Hunger and Globalization Per Pinstrup-Andersen, Peter Sandøe, 2007-07-20 Ethics Hunger and Globalization adds an ethics dimension to the debate and research about poverty hunger and globalization Outstanding scholars and practitioners from several disciplines discuss what action is needed for ethics to play a bigger role in action by governments civil society and the private sector to reduce poverty and hunger within the context of globalization The book concludes that much of the rhetoric by policy makers is not followed up with appropriate action and discusses the role of ethics in attempts to match action with rhetoric The book also concludes that a better understanding of the values underlying both public and private sector action towards the alleviation of poverty and hunger would lead to more enlightened policies and greater success in attempts to achieve the Millennium Development Goals The interaction between ethical economic and policy aspects is discussed and scholars and experienced practitioners from several disciplines suggest how such integration may be promoted

Religion and Development in the Asia-Pacific Matthew Clarke, Anna Halafoff, 2016-08-25 Community development is most effective and efficient when it is situated and led at the local level and considers the social behaviours needs and worldviews of local communities With more than eight out of ten people globally self reporting religious belief Religion and Development in the Asia Pacific Sacred places as development spaces argues that the role and impact of religions on community development needs to be better understood It also calls for greater attention to be given to the role of sacred places as sites for development activities and for a deeper appreciation of the way in which sacred stories and teachings inspire people to work for the benefit of others in particular locations The book considers theories of place as a component of successful development interventions and expands this analysis to consider the specific role that sacred places buildings and social networks have in planning implementing and promoting sustainable development A series of case studies examine various sacred places as sites for development activities These case studies include Christian churches and disaster relief in Vanuatu Muslim shrines and welfare provision in Pakistan a women s Buddhist monastery in Thailand advancing gender equity a Jewish aid organisation providing language training to Muslim Women in Australia and Hawaiian sacred sites located within a holistic retreat centre committed to ecological sustainability Religion and Development in the Asia Pacific demonstrates the important role that sacred spaces can play in development interventions covering diverse major world religions interfaith and spiritual contexts and as such will be of considerable interest for postgraduate students and researchers in development studies religious studies sociology of religion and geography

Religion and Gender in the Developing World Tamsin Bradley, 2010-12-07 Faith based development organizations have become a central part of the lives of the women of rural Rajasthan and have come to represent an important aspect of both individual and collective identities And yet religious teachings continue to be used to exclude women from public decision making forums and render them vulnerable to increasing levels of domestic violence In a unique multi disciplinary approach combining a range of subjects Tamsin Bradley provides a unique study of the role of development organizations and faith organizations in the lives of women in rural Rajasthan Faith and religion emerge as being able to afford a space within which women are able to interact with one another and create an identity for themselves However faith proves not just to be a positive sphere in which women are able to assert themselves Its ambiguity becomes clear as the author explains that religious women often find their visions of social justice and equality marginalised by the dominance of male leadership Nevertheless Bradley also look at how religious women challenge male dominance drawing on their beliefs and practices in creative and innovative ways Thus a complex picture emerges and including insights from gender studies and anthropology Bradley argues that religion can both empower and disempower local communities and the women who live within them By analysing development through the prism of gender studies Bradley highlights the complex nature of power relationships that are at the very heart of development agendas and organizations and offers an invaluable contribution to the understanding of the nexus of varied disciplines in the analysis of women and religion in Rajasthan This book will be of interest to students reseachers and policy makers involved in various fields including those of Development Studies Religion Gender Studies and Social Anthropology Capabilities, Power, and Institutions Stephen L.

Esquith,Fred Gifford,2010-01-01 Development economics political theory and ethics long carried on their own scholarly dialogues and investigations with almost no interaction among them Only in the mid 1990s did this situation begin to change primarily as a result of the pioneering work of an economist Amartya Sen and a philosopher who doubled as a classicist and legal scholar Martha Nussbaum Sen s Development as Freedom 1999 and Nussbaum s Women and Human Development 2000 together signaled the emergence of a powerful new paradigm that is commonly known as the capabilities approach to development ethics Key to this approach is the recognition that citizens must have basic capabilities provided most crucially through health care and education if they are to function effectively as agents of economic development Capabilities can be measured in terms of skills and abilities opportunities and control over resources and even moral virtues like the virtue of care and concern for others The essays in this collection extend criticize and reformulate the capabilities approach to better understand the importance of power especially institutional power In addition to the editors the contributors are Sabina Alkire David Barkin Nigel Dower Shelley Feldman Des Gasper Daniel Little Asunci n Lera St Clair A Allan Schmid Paul B Thompson and Thanh Dam Truong
