Innovator Or Imitator: Napoleon's Operational Concepts And The Legacies Of Bourcet And Guibert Lt.-Col James N. Wasson, 2014-08-15 In 1805 a new style of operational warfare burst upon the fields of Europe as Napoleon Bonaparte's Grand Army swept from the Rhine to the Danube surrounding the Austrian army at Ulm and initiating a revolution in military affairs RMA whose effects are still felt today The question remains whether this new style of warfare was merely a natural outgrowth of the work of 18th century military thinkers whose theories were imitated by a dynamic leader or did Napoleon bring something new to warfare a true innovation in the conduct of operational warfare This is the central question that this monograph will attempt to answer David Chandler maintains that Napoleon contributed little new As we struggle today with the implications of a possible RMA it is important that we fully understand the forces that caused former RMA's to occur For the historian it is also important that we get our interpretations of past events as correct as possible Was this a RMA that would have happened with any energetic leader who strictly followed the teachings of Bourcet and Guibert as a sort of TTP put together by theorists or did Napoleon take their theories and meld them with his own ideas to create a new form of warfare and initiate a RMA Does a true RMA require more than just theories and doctrine does it require an inquiring mind on the part of the practitioner as well These questions give relevance to the research question of this monograph The monograph concludes that Napoleon did not imitate the two thinkers and that the RMA initiated by him was more than just an implementation of techniques proposed by theorists The RMA in 1805 required an imaginative practitioner who could grasp the salient features of theory and put them to use in new ways To initiate the RMA innovation by the war fighter was required not mere imitation Teaching World History Thematically Rosalie Metro, 2020 This book offers the tools teachers need to get started with a more thoughtful and compelling approach to teaching history one that develops literacy and higher order thinking skills connects the past to students lives today and meets social studies 3C standards and most state standards grades 6-12 The author provides over 90 primary sources organized into seven thematic units each structured around an essential question from world history As students analyze carefully excerpted documents including speeches by queens and rebels ancient artifacts and social media posts they build an understanding of how diverse historical figures have approached key issues At the same time students learn to participate in civic debates and develop their own views on what it means to be a 21st century citizen of the world Each unit connects to current events with dynamic classroom activities that make history come alive In addition to the documents themselves this teaching manual provides strategies to assess student learning mini lectures designed to introduce documents activities and reproducibles to help students process display and integrate their learning guidance to help teachers create their own units guidelines for respectful student debate and discussion and more Book Features A timely aid for secondary school teachers tasked with meeting standards and other state level quality requirements An approach that promotes student engagement and critical thinking to replace or augment a traditional textbook Challenges to the master narrative of world history from figures like Queen Nzinga and Huda Shari as well as traditionally recognized historical figures such as Pericles and Napoleon Essential questions to help students explore seven of the most important recurring themes in world history Role plays and debates to promote interaction among students Printable copies of the documents included in the book can be downloaded at tcpress.com
