Telling Stories in Book Clubs Mary Kooy, 2006-08-15 Mary Kooy's Telling Stories in Book Clubs gives us a compelling provocative and insightful picture of teachers reading talking and learning together By weaving together the responses of the novice teachers book club the experienced teachers book club and her own thoughtful analyses Kooy has documented what teacher learning looks like from the inside This book is a must read for all those interested in professional development across the lifespan Marilyn Cochran Smith Boston College Kooy's narrative about book clubs as learning communities makes a significant contribution to both research and practice Tying together reading teaching and learning the book gives us a superb example of how to nurture the intellectual and relational needs for continuous teacher growth and development The book is a must for teachers researchers and policymakers Ann Lieberman emeritus professor from Teachers College Columbia University and Senior Scholar at the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching Mary Kooy is a gifted writer and teacher She takes the obvious truth that we read books with other people and turns it into a compelling work of professional development We see the communities emerge and coalesce We see the self reflective questioning that is at the heart of all good teaching take shape through interaction and nurturing From the Foreword by Jo Anne Pagano Colgate University

Writing for Scholarly Publication Christine Pears Casanave, Stephanie Vandrick, 2003-10-17 This collection of first person essays by established authors provides a wealth of support and insights for new and experienced academic writers in language education and multicultural studies Although writing for publication is becoming increasingly important as these fields become both more professional and more competitive few scholars talk candidly about their experiences negotiating a piece of writing into print These essays will help researchers practitioners and graduate students expand their understanding of what it means professionally and personally to write for publication Carefully crafted focused and provocative the chapters in this volume document authors experiences with a range of practical political and personal issues in writing for publication Many portray the hardship and struggle that are not obvious in a finished piece of writing Readers are encouraged to resonate with the events and issues portrayed and to connect the narratives to their own lives Practical information such as contact information for journal and book publishers manuscript guidelines and useful books are included in appendices Although organized thematically the essays in Writing for Scholarly Publication Behind the Scenes in Language Education overlap in many ways as each author considers multiple issues In the Introduction the editors discuss key aspects of writing for scholarly publication such as writing as situated practice issues faced by newcomers the construction of personal identity through writing writing and transparency facets of the interactive nature of scholarly writing and intertwined political issues

Part I focuses on issues and concerns faced by Newcomers In Part II Negotiating and Interacting the essays closely examine the interactions among authors editors manuscript reviewers and collaborators these interactions tend to be the least often discussed and these essays therefore offer readers fascinating insights into the sensitive social political and personal relationships among the many players in the scholarly writing game Identity Construction is addressed in Part III where authors share their experiences with and reflections on the ways that professional writing helps them construct their identities as writers and scholars The essays in Part IV From the Periphery help redefine what the notion of periphery might mean from a concept with a negative connotation of outsider to a positive connotation of active and unconventional participant

The Seven Deadly Virtues and Other Lively Essays Lynn Z. Bloom, 2008 This volume contains eye opening essays from a pioneering voice in creative nonfiction and composition studies Inspirational educator and writer Bloom brings to fore the trials and triumphs she has experienced in coming of age as a scholar teacher wife mother grandmother and most especially a writer A pioneer in composition studies and a chronic nonconformist Bloom is a lifelong advocate of opportunity authenticity and expression Taking a stance in favor of bold creativity in living teaching and the act of writing that ties both together she warns against the snares and sneers of the seven deadly virtues duty rationality conformity efficiency order economy and punctuality that so often subvert the mission of education and the potential of expressive communication Ranging from the comic to the confessional Bloom's memoir interweaves the pleasures and problems of a forbidden marriage and complex family the joys of cooking and travel the struggles to become a professor in an era that rejected women faculty and the risks of heeding the siren call of creative nonfiction These fifteen essays probe the assumptions and values ethical intellectual social aesthetic and inevitably political of what Bloom has found to be the most complicated challenging satisfying aspects of her loves and labors

Learning from Scant Beginnings John V. Knapp, 2008 Using the teaching of John Milton as a case study this book describes how a university English professor teaches an undergraduate course over a semester Employing a situated learning model the author describes the details of literary learning and student development

The Politics of Second Language Writing Paul Kei Matsuda, Christina Ortmeier-Hooper, 2006-08-04 The Politics of Second Language Writing In Search of the Promised Land is the first edited collection to present a sustained discussion of classroom practices in larger contexts of institutional politics and policies

Composition Studies in the New Millennium Lynn Z. Bloom, Donald A. Daiker, Edward Michael White, 2003

Writing Studies Research in Practice Lee Nickoson, Mary P Sheridan, 2012-09-10 An essential reference for students and scholars exploring the methods and methodologies of writing research What does it mean to research writing today What are the practical and theoretical issues researchers face when approaching writing as they do What are the gains or limitations of applying particular methods and what might researchers be overlooking These questions and more are answered by the writing research field's leading scholars in Writing Studies Research in Practice Methods and Methodologies Editors Nickoson and Sheridan gather twenty chapters from leaders in writing research spanning topics from ethical considerations for researchers quantitative methods and activity analysis to interviewing and communitybased and Internet research While each chapter addresses a different subject the volume as a whole covers the range of methodologies technologies and approaches both old and new that writing researchers use and examines the ways in which contemporary writing research is understood practiced and represented An essential reference for experienced researchers and an invaluable tool to help novices understand research methods and methodologies Writing Studies Research in Practice includes established methods and knowledge while addressing the contemporary issues interests and concerns faced by writing researchers today

Personally Speaking Candace Spigelman, 2004-10-07

Responding to contemporary discussion about using personal accounts in academic writing Personally Speaking Experience as Evidence in Academic Discourse draws on classical and current rhetorical theory feminist theory and relevant examples from both published writers and first year writing students to illustrate the advantages of blending experiential and academic perspectives Candace Spigelman examines how merging personal and scholarly worldviews produces useful contradictions and contributes to a more a complex understanding in academic writing This rhetorical move allows for greater insights than the reading or writing of experiential or academic modes separately does Personally Speaking foregrounds the semi fictitious nature of personal stories and the rhetorical possibilities of evidence as Spigelman provides strategies for writing instructors who want to teach personal academic argument while supplying practical mechanisms for evaluating experiential claims The volume seeks to complicate and intensify disciplinary debates about how compositionists should write for publication and what kinds of writing should be taught to composition students Spigelman not only supplies evidence as to why the personal can count as evidence but also relates how to use it effectively by including student samples that reflect particular features of personal writing Finally she lays the groundwork to move narrative from its current site as confessional writing to the domain of academic discourse

Thinking Like a Teacher Jo-Anne Kerr, Linda Norris, 2017-08-01

Today s classrooms present a variety of challenges for teachers many of which result from unanticipated unpredictable events from minor to serious This collection of teacher narratives highlights several of these challenges with subsequent reflections and commentaries that invite conversations about aspects of teaching that often remain unacknowledged in educator preparation programs but that can have deleterious effects on the implementation of the pedagogical content knowledge that is promoted in these programs Thinking Like a Teacher Preparing New Teachers for Today s Classrooms aims to address this gap in educator preparation programs through sharing and affirming teachers voices as sources of pedagogical knowledge

Engagement with the narratives included in this collection will help teacher candidates perceive and think about teaching in new ways as they make the transition from instructional consumers to instructional leaders while simultaneously forging a new professional identity

Teaching about Teaching Tom Russell, 2002-11-01 Considers teacher education as an important aspects of the teaching profession and demonstrates why it is so important for higher education institutions to value their teacher educators professional knowledge The book demonstrates how teaching about teaching knowledge pedagogy is vital to the development of quality in teacher education and how this knowledge needs to be articulated and communicated throughout the teaching profession both in schools and universities

You Don't Know Jack Kevin D. Cordi, 2019-02-11 Jack and the Beanstalk Little Jack Horner and Jack the Giant Killer are all famous tales and rhymes featuring the same hero a character who often appears in legends fairy tales and nursery rhymes Unlike moralizing fairy tale heroes however Jack is typically depicted as foolish or lazy though he often emerges triumphant through cleverness and tricks With their roots traced back to England Jack tales are an important oral tradition in Appalachian folklore It was in his Appalachian upbringing that Kevin D Cordi was first introduced to Jack through oral storytelling traditions Cordi s love of storytelling eventually led him down a career path as a professional storyteller touring the US for the past twenty seven years In addition to his work as a storyteller Cordi worked a second job in an unrelated field a high school teacher and for many years he kept his two lives separate Everything changed when Cordi began telling stories in the classroom and realized he was connecting with his students in ways he had not previously Cordi concluded that storytelling storymaking and drama can be used as systems of learning instead of as just entertainment In You Don t Know Jack A Storyteller Goes to School Cordi describes the process of integrating storytelling into his classroom Using autoethnographic writing he reflects upon the use of storytelling and storymaking in order to promote inquiry and learning He argues that engaging with the stories of others discovering that one voice or identity should not be valued over the other and listening especially listening to stories of difference are of utmost importance to education and growth
