Tyrannical Minds Dean A Haycock,2019-04-02 An incisive examination into the pairing of psychology and situation that creates despotic leaders from the author of Murderous Minds Not everyone can become a tyrant It requires a particular confluence of events to gain absolute control over entire nations First you must be born with the potential to develop brutal personality traits Often this is a combination of narcissism psychopathy Machiavellianism paranoia and an extraordinary ambition to achieve control over others Second your dangerous personality must be developed and strengthened during childhood You might suffer physical and or psychological abuse Finally you must come of age when the political system of your country is unstable Together these events establish a basis to rise to power one that Stalin Hitler Mao Zedong Saddam Hussein and Muammar Qaddafi all used to gain life and death control over their countrymen and women It is how the leaders of the Islamic State hoped to gain such power Though these men lived in different times and places and came from vastly different backgrounds many of them felt respect for each other They often seemed to recognize their shared dark personality traits and viewed them as strengths Only in rare cases did they show signs of mental disorders Getting inside the heads of foreign leaders and terrorists is one way governments try to understand predict and influence their actions Psychological profiles can help us understand the urges of tyrants to dominate subjugate torture and slaughter Tyrannical Minds reveals how recognizing their psychological traits can provide insight into the motivations and actions of dangerous leaders potentially allow to us predict their behavior and even how to stop them As strongmen and authoritarian leaders around the world increase in number understanding the most extreme examples of tyrannical behavior should serve as a warning to anyone indifferent to the threats posed by political extremism
