Media and Water Joanne Garde-Hansen, 2021-01-14 As flooding drought and water scarcity become more pronounced due to climate change so the way in which these events are presented in the media assumes greater significance In particular the media plays an important role in shaping the public perception and understanding of water issues and debates around extreme weather events more generally Joanne Garde Hansen s book offers a sustained and comprehensive exploration of media representations of water Drawing on a wide range of media including newspapers digital photography radio television and video as well as empirical research on media and memory she examines how drought flooding and water management have been portrayed in the media both historically and in the contemporary world The use of the media by water institutions to manage public perceptions and the use of digital media by the public to engage with water companies is also included A particular feature of the book is an examination of water and gender in developed nations One of the first books to look at media representations of water this pioneering work provides valuable insights for both scholarly and professional water research

Leisure in Later Life Tania Wiseman, 2021-05-15 This book analyses leisure choice as a complex concept made more complicated in later life than at any other time The author posits that there are many unanswered questions about the new booming generation of healthy older people and this book asks what it is really like to be old at the beginning of the 21st century in the United Kingdom analysing leisure in older people in the context of the subtle politics of the day to day Throughout the chapters the author highlights the often missing depictions of older people who enjoy and enact bold informed agency as part of their everyday lives Drawing upon secondary data from the Mass Observation Archive a social thesis of leisure and ageing emerges that challenges the individualism inherent in active ageing It is proposed that the idea of active ageing creates complex constraints to leisure as people strive to measure up to cultural expectations The stories in this book advocate for an appreciation and re evaluation of passive leisure in later life and the enjoyment and freedom it can bring The project is therefore useful to students and researchers of leisure studies gerontology and sociology of ageing
