Penner, Emily K. Penner, 2023-06-22 We tend to view education primarily as a way to teach students skills and knowledge that they will draw upon as they move into their adult lives However schools do more than educate students they also place students into categories such as kindergartner English language learner or honor roll student In Schooled Sorted Thurston Domina Andrew M Penner and Emily K Penner explore processes of educational categorization in order to explain the complex relationship between education and social inequality and to identify strategies that can help build more just educational systems Some educational categories have broadly egalitarian consequences Indeed Domina Penner and Penner argue that when societies enroll young people in school making them students they mark them as individuals who are worthy of rights But other educational categories reinforce powerful social categories including race gender and class and ultimately reproduce social and economic inequality in society Elite colleges tracked high schools and elementary school gifted programs provide not only different educational experiences but also create merit and inequality by sorting students into categories that are defined by the students who are excluded Schooled Sorted highlights that many of the decisions that define educational categories occur in school based committee meetings and other relatively local settings The local nature of these decisions provides many opportunities to define educational categories differently and for school communities to bring about change Schooled Sorted is an illuminating investigation into the ways sorting within schools translates into inequality in the larger world While some educational categorization may be unavoidable the authors suggest ways to build a more equitable system and thus a more equitable society Code of Federal Regulations, 2016 Special edition of the Federal Register containing a codification of documents of general applicability and future effect with ancillaries The Labor of Lunch Jennifer E. spark a progressive movement that will transform food in American schools and with it the lives of thousands of low paid cafeteria workers and the millions of children they feed By providing a feminist history of the US National School Lunch Program Jennifer E Gaddis recasts the humble school lunch as an important and often overlooked form of public care Through vivid narration and moral heft The Labor of Lunch offers a stirring call to action and a blueprint for school lunch reforms capable of delivering a healthier more equitable caring and sustainable future

Canadian Federalism Herman Bakvis, Grace Skogstad, 2025-07-15 In the context of Canada's political landscape Canadian Federalism stands as the leading text on federal institutions and processes analyzing the performance effectiveness and legitimacy of the federation's core components The fifth edition features contributions from twenty experts including six new authors who explore the socio-economic foundations, institutions and intergovernmental relations that shape Canadian federalism The book is organized into three parts: it examines Canada as a case of comparative federalism, explores key social, economic and environmental policy areas, and reimagines the federation by addressing Indigenous multi-level governance and the role of municipalities By employing a common evaluative framework, this volume ensures consistency and analytical rigour, making it accessible to both students and scholars The authors provide diverse assessments of Canadian federal institutions, highlighting different models of federalism under the Justin Trudeau government, such as collaborative federalism in certain areas and unilateralism in others In a time of political polarization and calls for reform, Canadian Federalism is essential reading for understanding the complexities of Canada's governance and the urgent need for institutional improvements No Longer Forgotten Michael Q. McShane, Andy Smarick, 2018-11-08

The lion's share of writing about education improvement for the past two decades has focused on improving urban schools Given the yawning gaps between the low-income and minority students that populate those schools and their suburban counterparts, this makes a great deal of sense Unfortunately, this focus has neglected the tens of millions of students who attend schools in rural areas Many of the issues that they face, from the impact of the opioid epidemic to deindustrialization to a lack of infrastructure, take on a unique character in rural schools And many of the reforms that have proven so successful in urban areas do not translate so easily to rural contexts This volume looks at both the macro factors affecting rural schools, like deindustrialization and the opioid crisis, as well as the specific steps rural schools have taken and can take to improve Congressional Record United States.
