Online Hand New Humanity Planetary:

Earth in Human Hands David Grinspoon, 2025-05-01 NASA Astrobiologist and renowned scientist Dr David Grinspoon brings readers an optimistic message about humanity's future in the face of climate change. For the first time in Earth's history, our planet is experiencing a confluence of rapidly accelerating changes prompted by one species: humans. Climate change is only the most visible of the modifications we've made up until this point, inadvertently to the planet. And our current behavior threatens not only our own future but that of countless other creatures. By comparing Earth's story to those of other planets, astrobiologist David Grinspoon shows what a strange and novel development it is for a species to evolve to build machines and ultimately global societies with world-shaping influence. Without minimizing the challenges of the next century, Grinspoon suggests that our present moment is not only one of peril but also great potential, especially when viewed from a 10,000-year perspective. Our species has surmounted the threat of extinction before, thanks to our innate ingenuity and ability to adapt, and there's every reason to believe we can do so again. Our challenge now is to awaken to our role as a force of planetary change and to grow into this task. We must become graceful planetary engineers, conscious shapers of our environment and caretakers of Earth's biosphere. This is a perspective that begs us to ask not just what future do we want to avoid but what do we seek to build. What kind of world do we want? Are humans the worst thing or the best thing to ever happen to our planet? Today we stand at a pivotal juncture, and the answer will depend on the choices we make. T&T

Clark Handbook of Christian Theology and the Modern Sciences John P. Slattery, 2020-10-01 This handbook surveys the many relationships between scientific studies of the world around us and Christian concepts of the Divine, from the ancient Greeks to modern ecotheology. From Augustine to Hildegard of Bingen, Genesis to Frederick Douglass, and physics to sociology, this volume opens the intersections of Christian theology and science to new concepts, voices, and futures. The central goal of the handbook is to bring new perspectives to the foreground of Christian theological engagement with science and to highlight the many engagements today that are not often identified as science-theology discussions. The handbook thus includes several aspects not found in previous handbooks on the same topic: significant representation from the three major branches of Christianity (Orthodox, Roman Catholic, and Protestant); multiple essays on areas of modern science not traditionally part of the theology and science dialogue, such as discussions of race, medicine, and sociology; a collection of essays on historical theologians' approaches to nature and science; Catholic, Protestant, and Orthodox surveys of theology, science scholarship in the 20th and 21st centuries; and ten explorations in Christian theology today, from Einsteinian physics to decolonial sociology. The 24 chapters that span the volume offer the reader, whether scholar, student, or layperson, an essential resource for any future conversations around science and Christian theology. Gaia's Web Karen

Bakker, 2024-04-16 A riveting exploration of one of the most important dilemmas of our time: will digital technology accelerate environmental degradation, or could it play a role in ecological regeneration? At the uncanny edge of the scientific frontier Gaia's Web explores the promise and pitfalls the Digital Age holds for the future of our planet. Instead of the Internet of Things, environmental scientist and tech entrepreneur Karen Bakker asks why not consider the Internet of Living Things. At the surprising and inspiring confluence of our digital and ecological futures, Bakker explores how the tools of the Digital Age could be mobilized to address our most pressing environmental challenges, from climate change to biodiversity loss. Interspersed with ten elegiac enigmatic parables, each of which is based on an existing technology, Gaia's Web evokes the conundrums we face as the World Wide Web intertwines with the Web of Life. A new generation of innovators is deploying digital technology to come to the aid of the planet, using spy satellites to track down environmental criminals, inviting animals to the Metaverse, and biohacking Frankenstein-like biobots as environmental sentinels. But will they end up doing more harm than good? In an engaging take on conservation technology, Bakker looks at the digital tech applications to environmental issues, from predatory harvesting of environmental data to human bycatch and eco-surveillance capitalism. If we address these issues and mobilize digitally mediated forms of citizen science, she argues, digital tech could help reverse environmental harms and advance environmental sustainability. And in the process, Big Tech might be transformed for the better. With its uniquely broad scope, combining insights from computer science, ecology, engineering, environmental science, and environmental law, Gaia's Web introduces profoundly novel ways of addressing our most pressing environmental challenges: mitigating climate change, protecting endangered species, and creating new possibilities for ecological justice by empowering nonhumans to participate in environmental regulation.

Eranos Yearbook 69: 2006/2007/2008 John van Praag, Riccardo Bernardini, This Eranos Yearbook covers the events of the first three years since the relaunching of the Eranos Foundation in 2006. The themes of the conferences, The Modernities of East and West or Perspectives on Violence and Aggression, for example, reflect both the long and prestigious tradition of the Eranos Foundation and the relevance of Eranos to the present. The prominent international speakers succeeded in making fruitful contributions in addressing some of the most pressing questions of our times. The conferences were held under the presidency of John van Praag, 2005-2009, to whom the Eranos Foundation is indebted for having conducted this major endeavor.

Contents: 2006 Eranos Conference: Eranos Reborn; 2007 Eranos Conference: The Modernities of East and West; 2007 Fetzner at Eranos Conference: Emerging Images of Humanity; Exploring Conscious Participation in Emergent Processes; 2008 Eranos Conference: Perspectives on Violence and Aggression. A Presentation from the 2008 Pacifica at Eranos Conference: The Legacy Tour of Zurich and Eranos Ascona, Switzerland.

In light of current developments in modelling and with the aim of reinvigorating debates around the potentiality of the architectural model, its philosophies, technologies, and futures, this issue of AD examines how the model has developed to become an immersive worldbuilding machine. Worldbuilding is the creation of imaginary worlds through forms of cultural production. Although this discourse began with an analysis of imaginary places constructed in works of literature, it has evolved to encompass worlds from fields such as cinema games design landscape urbanism and architecture Worldbuilding differs from the notion of worldmaking which deals with how speculative thinking can influence the construction of the phenomenal world As architects postulate ever increasingly complex world models from which to draw inspiration and inform their practice questions of scale representation and collaboration emerge Discussed through a range of articles from acclaimed international contributors in the fields of both architecture and media studies this issue explores how the architectural model is situated between concepts of worldbuilding and worldmaking in the creative space of worldmodelling Contributors Kathy Battista Thea Brejzek and Lawrence Wallen Pascal Bronner and Thomas Hillier Mark Cousins James A Craig and Matt Ozga Lawn Kate Davies Ryan Dillon Christian Hubert Chad Randl Theodore Spyropoulos and Mark JP Wolf Featured architects Phil Ayres FleaFolly Architects Minimaforms and Status

Big Picture Perspectives on Planetary Flourishing Nicholas Hedlund, Sean Esbjörn-Hargens, 2022-07-29 This book split across two volumes is a follow up and companion to Metatheory for the Twenty First Century Routledge 2016 All three of these volumes are the dialogical outcome of a multi year symposia series wherein critical realists and integral theorists deeply engaged each other and their distinct but complementary approaches to integrative metatheory Whereas Metatheory for the Twenty First Century is primarily theoretical in its focus Big Picture Perspectives for Planetary Flourishing Metatheory for the Anthropocene aims to more concretely and practically address the complex planetary crises of a new era that many scholars now refer to as the Anthropocene In this first of two new volumes participants of the symposia series articulate a variety of big picture perspectives and transformative interventions in the domains of society and economics social psychology and education Together these chapters demonstrate how integrative metatheory and its application can make powerful contributions to planetary flourishing in the Anthropocene With one of the defining characteristics of the Anthropocene being the sheer complexity and multi valent nature of our interconnected global challenges these volumes crucially present new forms of scholarship that can adequately weave together insights from multiple disciplines into new forms of metapraxis As such this book will be of interest to students scholars and practitioners in the areas of philosophy social theory critical realism integral studies metamodernism and current affairs generally

Human Enhancement Technologies and Our Merger with Machines Woodrow Barfield, Sayoko Blodgett-Ford, 2021-06-15 A cross disciplinary approach is offered to consider the challenge of emerging technologies designed to enhance human bodies and minds Perspectives from philosophy ethics law and policy are applied to a wide variety of enhancements including integration of technology within human bodies as well as genetic biological and pharmacological modifications Humans may be permanently or temporarily enhanced with artificial parts by manipulating or reprogramming human DNA and through other enhancement techniques and combinations thereof We are on the cusp of significantly modifying and perhaps improving the human ecosystem This evolution necessitates a continuing effort to re evaluate current laws and if appropriate to modify such laws or develop new laws that address enhancement technology A legal ethical and policy response to current and future human enhancements should strive to protect the rights of all involved and to recognize the responsibilities of humans to other conscious and living beings regardless of what they look like or what abilities they have or lack A potential ethical approach is outlined in which rights and responsibilities should be respected even if enhanced humans are perceived by non enhanced or less enhanced humans as no longer human at all Storying Multipolar Climes of the Himalaya, Andes and Arctic Dan Smyer Yü, Jelle J.P. Against the Fetishisation of Plural Time Nitin Sinha,2025-06-02 From the viewpoint of social history is time itself a plural entity or are there multiple forms of engagement in and with it Pivoted around this question Sinha attempts to rethink the current theory and practice of history writing by pointing the pitfalls of the growing fetishisation of plurality and the plural time framework Engaging a range of studies in History Anthropology and Sociology Sinha provides a critical assessment of some of the leading frameworks on time studies questions their foundational premises highlights their limitations and proposes an alternative framework that is attuned to privileging the approach of social history The purposes of the latter the book argues is best served when time s irreversible character is not diluted under the weight of plurality Plurality in time is an outcome of practices and their historicisation plurality of time can become an empty statement Rather than defining what time is the book casts that inquiry into the historical mould to explore how time as a contestatory resource becomes part of social relationships and what it does to them when scripts of power align themselves with the control of time New View of the Moon 2 Clive R. REAL - Yearbook of Research in English and American Literature Sarah Fekadu, Hanna Straß-Senol, Tobias Döring, 2017-06-12 Meteorologies of Modernity explores the ways in which literature reflects and participates in discourses on weather and climate historically as well as at our contemporary moment Literature contains a huge meteorological archive built throughout the centuries The essays collected in this volume therefore ask to what extent literature can bring the vastness and complexity of climate change into view how literature offers ways to think through the challenges of the Anthropocene both culturally historically and aesthetically and last but not least how it helps us to conceptualize a radically new understanding of what it means to be human The thirteen contributions from literary and cultural studies address weather and climate discourses from a variety of conceptual angles and cover a broad range of historical and geographical contexts Topics include representations of tropical climates in Shakespeare the close yet tense relationship between literature and the rising discipline of meteorology in the nineteenth century allegories of climate change in postcolonial literature and climate catastrophes in the contemporary cli-fi novel By employing a historicizing and comparative approach the volume addresses the need for studying representations of climate and climate change in an interdisciplinary transnational and transhistorical framework overcoming traditional disciplinary boundaries and creating new collectives of theory and criticism that are essential when debating the Anthropocene

The Story of CO2 Is the Story of Everything Peter Brannen, 2025-03-11 Carbon dioxide This seemingly simple and ubiquitous substance is fundamental to how our planet works All life is made from CO<sub>2</sub> and its behavior on this planet has kept it bizarrely habitable for hundreds of millions of years In its workings lie both the splendor of our world and the potential for life's destruction. In short, it is the most important substance in Earth's history. But why is CO<sub>2</sub> as essential to life on Earth as it is capable of destroying it? In THE STORY OF CO<sub>2</sub> IS THE STORY OF EVERYTHING, award-winning science journalist Peter Brannen reveals carbon dioxide's fundamental role in the operation and maintenance of Planet Earth. Starting at the beginning of time and working all the way up to our present reality, he illuminates how CO<sub>2</sub> has been responsible for the planet's many deaths and rebirths for the evolution of life and for the development of modern human society. Carbon dioxide's movement through the rocks, the air, the oceans, and life has kept our planet's climate livable, its air breathable, and its oceans hospitable to complex life for more than 500 million years. And only by understanding CO<sub>2</sub> in the context of deep Earth history can we see how it gave rise to today's industrial economy and more clearly recognize what it means to be churning through hundreds of millions of years of old life in the form of fossil fuels and converting it all to carbon dioxide. With groundbreaking research and a clear-eyed perspective, Brannen shows how a deep exploration into the mechanics of the carbon cycle and the history of our planet can provide hope for averting environmental catastrophe in the future. It all starts with a richer understanding of the essential role of one substance.
