Translating Worlds Carlo Severi, William F. Hanks, 2015-12-15 Set against the backdrop of anthropology's recent focus on various turns whether ontological, ethical, or otherwise, this pathbreaking volume returns to the question of knowledge and the role of translation as a theoretical and ethnographic guide for twenty-first century anthropology, gathering together contributions from leading thinkers in the field. Since Ferdinand de Saussure and Franz Boas, languages have been seen as systems whose differences make precise translation nearly impossible. And still others have viewed translation between languages as principally indeterminate. The contributors here argue that the challenge posed by the constant confrontation between incommensurable worlds and systems may be the most fertile ground for the state of the art ethnographic theory and practice. Ranging from tourism in New Guinea to shamanism in the Amazon to the globally ubiquitous restaurant menu, the contributors mix philosophy and ethnography to redefine translation not only as a key technique for understanding ethnography but as a larger principle in epistemology.

The Multilingual Instructor Claire Kramersch, Lihua Zhang, 2018-01-04 Claire Kramersch and Lihua Zhang use an ecological approach and a complexity thought model to examine the identities, experiences, and practices of foreign language teachers as native or non-native speakers, multilingual instructors, and professional educators. What is their sense of legitimacy? How do they bridge the historical and cultural gaps between them and their students? What stories do they share in the classroom? Which do they not share? How do they view their ethical responsibility? Drawing on primary research with teachers at the college level in the US, the book explores some of the key issues related to teaching languages in an era of increasing global mobility, institutional control, and educational uncertainty. In this landmark publication, Kramersch and Zhang show us the challenges facing the multilingual instructor and the importance of understanding their experiences in order to improve the quality of teaching and learning as transformative practices. The ecological framework provides a very useful model for future studies, while the attention to the ethical role of the multilingual instructor is a timely reminder to us all.

Li Wei, Chair of Applied Linguistics, UCL Institute of Education, University College London. Claire Kramersch is Emerita Professor of German and Professor of the Graduate School of Education at University of California, Berkeley. Lihua Zhang is Lecturer of Chinese and Chinese Language Program Coordinator at University of California, Berkeley.

Total Atheism Stefan Binder, 2020-04-09 Exploring lived atheism in the South Indian states of Andhra Pradesh and Telangana, this book offers a unique insight into India's rapidly transforming multi-religious society. It explores the social, cultural, and aesthetic challenges faced by a movement of secular activists in their endeavors to establish atheism as a practical and comprehensive way of life. On the basis of original ethnographic material and engaged conceptual analysis, Total Atheism develops an alternative to Eurocentric accounts of secularity and critically revisits central themes of South Asian scholarship from the hitherto marginalized vantage point of radically secular and explicitly irreligious atheists in India      Textures of the Ordinary Veena Das, 2020-05-05 How might we speak of human life amid violence deprivation or disease so intrusive as to put the idea of the human into question How can scholarship and advocacy address new forms of war or the slow corrosive violence that belie democracy's promise to mitigate human suffering To Veena Das the answers to these questions lie not in foundational ideas about human nature but in a close attention to the diverse ways in which the natural and the social mutually absorb each other on a daily basis Textures of the Ordinary shows how anthropology finds a companionship with philosophy in the exploration of everyday life Based on two decades of ethnographic work among low income urban families in India Das shows how the notion of texture aligns ethnography with the anthropological tone in Wittgenstein and Cavell as well as in literary texts Das shows that doing anthropology after Wittgenstein does not consist in taking over a new set of terms such as forms of life language games or private language from Wittgenstein's philosophy Instead we must learn to see what eludes us in the everyday precisely because it is before our eyes The book shows different routes of return to the everyday as it is corroded not only by catastrophic events but also by repetitive and routine violence within everyday life itself As an alternative to normative ethics this book develops ordinary ethics as attentiveness to the other and as the ability of small acts of care to stand up to horrific violence Textures of the Ordinary offers a model of thinking in which concepts and experience are shown to be mutually vulnerable With questions returned to repeatedly throughout the text and over a lifetime this book is an intellectually intimate invitation into the ordinary that which is most simple yet most difficult to perceive in our lives      Creation and Creativity in Indigenous Lowland South America Ernst Halbmayer, Anne Goletz, 2023-06-09 Investigating local Indigenous processes of creation and creativity this book uses ethnographic and comparative anthropological perspectives to enquire about creative transformative practices in lowland South America The volume shows how people create and reinforce their conditions of being by employing different genres of transgression and by creatively shifting contexts of significance Local socio cosmic orders the interrelation of creative genres myth verbal art song ritual and handicrafts and their changing frames of reference from communal celebrations to wider political and commercial realms demonstrate the relational generative and processual quality of Amerindian creativity      Voces indígenas amenazadas y el despertar de sus lenguas Marleen Haboud Bumachar, Laura Morgenthaler García, Luis Andrade, Marisa Censabella, Franklin Espinoza, Fernando Garcés, Gerardo García, Rosaleen Howard, Brendan Kishketon, Christina Korak, Edith Matías, Rosângela Morello, Fernando Ortega Pérez, Eduardo Pichilingue Ramo, Xosé Luis Regueira, Tulio Rojas Curieux, Claudia Sánchez, Martina Schrader-Kniffki, Michael Walsh, Fernando Wittig González, 2024-09-15 En este viaje transcontinental pasaremos por África Europa Oceanía y las Américas conociendo situaciones lingüísticas de lo más diversas en las cuales encontraremos lenguas que parecen haber caído en coma otras que despiertan o se refuerzan se recrean y dinamizan en distintos grados Las situaciones y experiencias que se presentan son diversas heterogéneas y retadoras al igual que los esfuerzos que se despliegan desde distintos frentes ya sea desde las familias las comunidades de habla las de práctica las diásporas o desde la academia o las instancias políticas. Todavía estos esfuerzos son insuficientes y es que la pérdida de las lenguas no solo conlleva el olvido de palabras o frases sino de valores principios y formas de vida inmersos en contextos históricos complejos por lo general caracterizados por ideologías lingüísticas negativas interseccionadas que poco aportan a su revitalización. De ahí la importancia de desarrollar procesos integrales situados que vayan más allá del sistema lingüístico a la defensa de los derechos humanos y la búsqueda de justicia social.

Language, Corpora, and Technology in Applied Linguistics Muhammad Afzaal, Swaleha Bano Naqvi, Geng Qiang, 2023-11-27 As culture and society has become more digitalized especially when computer science and digital technologies have entered a new era in the twenty first century translation studies began to utilize a wide range of tools to enhance its reading of texts and contexts without which translation both as a practice and as a theorization could barely persist. It has become more apparent that two extreme poles between macro and micro visions have formed the diversified terrains of translation studies. On the one hand technologies like NLP topic modeling network analysis and data visualization make distant reading become possible thus allowing us to have a paradigmatic view of how human's ideas beliefs values knowledge and even emotions have spread in some patterns across cultural geographical and language divides in world history. On the other hand corpus methods such as the use of keywords collocates and concordance lines changed the way by which texts were closely read from linear to vertical. With microscope like corpus tools we could go deeper into the texture for perception of nuanced meaning. While considering a fact that translation is seldom mono modal in conveying meaning we have to reconceptualize context as a multimodal environment where audio visual and other resources interact to convey and make meaning. With regard to the fast development of digital technology translation studies take an active role in gaining an enhanced capability in promoting transformation. Complexity has been favored in terms of theoretical framework and methodology. New questions are asked old ones revisited with novel tools but more areas wait to be cultivated and more questions to be approached by combining quantitative and qualitative methods. We could ask if digital technologies would bring new innovation to study of translation history a heavily walled land for traditional humanists who tend to repeat so what to question the less significance of data driven studies. The idea of high quality machine translation has become so realistic in today's market that translation educators have to face the shock wave it brought to translation learners and practitioners and rethink the relation between human translators and algorithms. Machine translation assisted communication could help remove boundaries for better communication but at the same time it also creates conflicts and leads to confrontation. Thus understood it is imperative to give a concerned attention to digital translation studies that is to study translation by resorting to and drawing on the digital technologies. This Research Topic is intended to promote current directions and new developments in cross disciplinary critical discourse research. We welcome papers which from a critical analytical perspective deal with contemporary social scientific political economic or professional discourses and genres.

Papers addressing the highlighted topics are especially welcome In giving weight to these topics we wish to call to attention some of the most pressing problems currently facing the world

Fighting Prosaic Messages Henry C Amoroso Jr, 2018-04-11 Part historical fiction part memoir part philosophy of education this book begins with a story about a woman's immigration into the U S and how three of her generations struggled in the U S school system The book ends with an analysis of why many students fail in school and what we can do about it Through story and analysis this book offers a critique of the U S education system in 3 parts Part one imagines what the immigration experience was like in the past and reads like historical fiction Part two looks at the ensuing three generations in the present and reads like a memoir Part three gleans lessons from the story as a whole for what we can do better in the future In the historical fiction part a Sicilian woman named Rose emigrates to the U S at the turn of the twentieth century Knowing no English and illiterate but armed with a moral intelligence she struggles in this strange world of the free rubs shoulders with some of the great thinkers of her day and discusses the nature of education with them She's one of the many prosaic heroes history books and schools sometimes forget In the memoir part Rose's son Henry the author's father drops out of school in the eighth grade to help his single mom by selling newspapers he never thought he was smart enough for school anyway His son Henry Jr goes all the way in school to obtain a PhD but struggles to find a voice along the way Henry Jr's son Justin was seemingly born with an expressive voice but in his shuffle to conform to the school system almost lost it In these 3 cases we see 3 types of students who often fail in school in general In the final analysis part the book reflects on these prosaic cases to understand why so many U S students fail The theme that emerges parallels the traditions of Rousseau Dewey and Montessori students at heart are good and educators are most effective when they treat them as such students learn best by doing and this includes moral doing and students become intrinsically motivated to learn if allowed to think critically creatively and to find their voices If democracy depends on an informed citizenry the questions this book raises about school failure are critical to the future of our nation J A characterized by a binary logic are not useful and that there is a need to translate outside the scope of these traditions The examples given in this book show that translation is not only a process involving Western and non Western languages Translation is not a mere substitution of one word for another because knowledge is not only transmitted through words It also involves non verbal elements Knowledge is transmitted through objects songs sensations and emotions as well as through words Moreover many non Western traditions do not translate with language systems but rather with other semiotic systems such as knots threads colors and bodies in movement This is a timely topical and transdisciplinary reading of interest to advanced students and researchers in translation studies anthropology and beyond Translating Worlds ,2022-04-29 This international and interdisciplinary volume explores the relations between translation migration and memory It brings together humanities researchers from a range of disciplines including history museum studies memory studies translation studies and literary cultural and media studies to examine memory and migration through the interconnecting lens of translation The innovatory perspective adopted by Translating Worlds understands translation s explanatory reach as extending beyond the comprehension of one language by another to encompass those complex and multi layered processes of parsing by means of which the unfamiliar and the familiar the old home and the new are brought into conversation and connection Themes discussed include How memories of lost homes act as aids or hindrances to homemaking in new worlds How cultural memories are translated in new cultural contexts Migration affect memory and translation Migration language and transcultural memory Migration traumatic memory and translation Translating Cultures Paula G.
