The Way and the Word Geoffrey Ernest Richard Lloyd, Nathan Sivin, 2002-01-01 The rich civilizations of ancient China and Greece built sciences of comparable sophistication each based on different foundations of concept method and organization In this engrossing book two world renowned scholars compare the cosmology science and medicine of China and Greece between 400 B C and A D 200 casting new light not only on the two civilizations but also on the evolving character of science Sir Geoffrey Lloyd and Nathan Sivin investigate the differences between the thinkers in the two civilizations what motivated them how they understood the cosmos and the human body how they were educated how they made a living and whom they argued with and why The authors new method integrally compares social political and intellectual patterns and connections demonstrating how all affected and were affected by ideas about cosmology and the physical world They relate conceptual differences in China and Greece to the diverse ways that intellectuals in the two civilizations earned their living interacted with fellow inquirers and were involved with structures of authority By A D 200 the distinctive scientific strengths of both China and Greece showed equal potential for theory and practice Lloyd and Sivin argue that modern science evolved not out of the Greek tradition alone but from the strengths of China Greece India Islam and other civilizations which converged first in the Muslim world and then in Renaissance Europe

The Calvin Handbook H. J. Selderhuis, 2009-08-05 Research on French theologian John Calvin is flourishing around the world and his quincentennial in 2009 has given such research even greater momentum Designed to support and stimulate this research The Calvin Handbook gathers contributions from internationally renowned scholars Offering a comprehensive view of Calvin's life his theology and the history of his reception this handbook is a uniquely helpful resource on Calvin for readers of every interest level Calvinism and the Making of the European Mind, 2014-09-18 Calvinism must be assigned a significant place among the forces that have shaped modern European culture Even now despite its history of religious fragmentation and secularization Europe continues to bear the marks of a pervasive Calvinist ethos The character of that ethos is however difficult to pin down In this volume many of the traditional scholarly conundrums about the relationship between Calvinism and the cultural history of Europe are revisited and re-investigated to see what new light can be shed on them For example how has the ethos of Calvinism or more broadly the Reformed tradition affected economic thinking and practice the development of the sciences views on religious toleration or the constitution of European polities In general what kind of transformations did Calvinism's distinct spirituality bring about Such questions demand painstaking and detailed scholarly work a fine sample of which is published in this volume Romans 1-8 Gwenfair Walters Adams, 2019-04-30 With its themes of grace sin justification and salvation through Christ alone Paul's letter to the early church in Rome has been a primary focus of Christian reflection throughout church history In this RCS volume church historian Gwenfair Adams guides readers through a diversity of early modern commentary on the first eight chapters of Paul's epistle to the Romans Edinburgh Critical History of Middle Ages and Renaissance Philosophy Andrew LaZella, 2020-05-01 A team of leading international scholars examine Middle Ages and Renaissance philosophy from the perspective of themes and lines of thought that cut across authors disciplines and national boundaries opening up new ways to conceptualise the history of this period within philosophy politics religious studies and literature
