New Design Philosophy An Introduction To Defuturing:

A New Design Philosophy Tony Fry, 1999 Introduces the idea of defuturing which is first employed here as a deconstructive method to expose foundational flaws in those worlds so familiar to us It places the significance of understanding design before all concerned people while also confronting design students and professionals with a practical retooling exercise Amazon Defuturing Tony Fry, 2020-08-20 Once one understands the nature and magnitude of defuturing as the negation of world futures how one has to account for the history and making of the material world including design dramatically changes Defuturing as our condition forces the generation of a new philosophy of design With these thoughts this book presents a radically new understanding of the history context and futures of designing First published in 1999 now reissued with a new preface by the author Defuturing A New Design Philosophy is a prescient and powerful account of what it means to comprehend that we live in world that is taking away futures for ourselves and non human others Arguing that designing is doubly implicated in this process first in its roles in helping to create the unsustainable but second re thought through the lens of defuturing as a mode of acting in the world that can help contest the negation of the world Defuturing transforms our comprehension of designing and of how futures can be constituted Working not through abstract theorizing but through the analysis of concrete examples the book uses historical material on design to expose the archaeology of defuturing Shattering the illusion that the future simply is Defuturing confronts designing with the challenge of remaking while offering the elements of a new practical reasoning of design acting Design Ethics beyond Duty and Virtue Philippe d'Anjou, 2017-06-20 Freedom is compelling in design it has to be acknowledged accepted and comprehended in all its existential complexity to better understand and engage the intricate ethical domain of design practice The book addresses that issue by thoroughly examining design ethics and design in general within an existentialist philosophical framework Its inquiry reveals a puzzling and unsettling reality of design ethics and hence what constitutes an ethical design practice where there is no exit for designers but complete acceptance of their freedom and responsibility This book makes a unique original and invaluable contribution to the design literature and design ethics scholarship Scholars professors students and professionals in all design disciplines as well as any person involved in arts humanities philosophy social sciences and engineering will find philosophical insights that will challenge design thinking and inspire them to rethink design ethics as an agency of human existence making instead of code compliance Making a case for existentialist design ethics this book lays the ground for a radical transformation of how we conceive design ethics in design practice and the role of designers in the world Spatial Design Education Ashraf M. Salama, 2016-03-09 Design education in architecture and allied disciplines is the cornerstone of design professions that contribute to shaping the built environment of the future In this book design education is dealt with as a paradigm whose evolutionary processes underpinning theories contents methods tools are questioned and critically examined It features a comprehensive discussion on design education with a focus on the design studio as the backbone of that education and the main forum for creative exploration and interaction and for knowledge acquisition assimilation and reproduction Through international and regional surveys the striking qualities of design pedagogy contemporary professional challenges and the associated sociocultural and environmental needs are identified Building on twenty five years of research and explorations into design pedagogy in architecture and urban design this book authoritatively offers a critical analysis of a continuously evolving profession its associated societal processes and the way in which design education reacts to their demands Matters that pertain to traditional pedagogy its characteristics and the reactions developed against it in the form of pioneering alternative studio teaching practices Advances in design approaches and methods are debated including critical inquiry empirical making process based learning and Community Design Design Build and Live Project Studios Innovative teaching practices in lecture based and introductory design courses are identified and characterized including inquiry based active and experiential learning These investigations are all interwoven to elucidate a comprehensive understanding of contemporary design education in architecture and allied disciplines A wide spectrum of teaching approaches and methods is utilized to reveal a theory of a trans critical pedagogy that is conceptualized to shape a futuristic thinking about design teaching Lessons learned from techniques and mechanisms for accommodation adaptation and implementation of a trans critical pedagogy in education are conceived to invigorate a new student centered evidence based design culture sheltered in a wide variety of learning settings in architecture and beyond

Metadesigning Designing in the Anthropocene John Wood, 2022-06-08 Long sighted radical and provocative this book offers a foundational framework of concepts principles and methods exemplified with selected tools to enable metadesigners to manage and reinvent their practices The book reminds readers that designers are albeit unwittingly helping to shape the Anthropocene Despite their willingness to deliver greener products and services designers find themselves part of an industry that has become the go to catalyst for dividends and profit If our species is to achieve the rehabilitation and metamorphosis we may need to design at the level of paradigms genres lifestyles and currencies This would mean making design more integrated comprehensive adaptive transdisciplinary self reflexive and relational The book therefore advocates a shift of emphasis from designing sustainable products services and systems towards cultivating synergies that will induce regenerative lifestyles The book will be of interest to managers designers scholars and educators from a wide range of backgrounds including design research design history design studies and environmental studies      The Design Culture

Design in Crisis Tony Fry, Adam Nocek, 2020-12-29 This book is an essential contribution to the transdisciplinary field of critical design studies The essays in this collection locate design at the center of a series of interrelated planetary crises from climate change nuclear war and racial and geopolitical violence to education computational culture and the loss of the commons In doing so the essays propose a range of needed interventions in order to transform design itself and its role within the shifting realities of a planetary crisis It challenges the widely popular view that design can contribute to solving world problems by exposing how this attitude only intensifies the problems we currently face In this way the essays critique the dominant modes of framing the meaning and scope of design as a largely Anglo European problem solving practice By drawing on post development theory decolonial theory black studies continental philosophy science and technology studies and more the contributions envision a critical and speculative practice that problematises both its engagement with planet and itself The essays in this collection will appeal to design theorists and practitioners alike but also to scholars and students generally concerned with how the past and future of design is implicated in the unfolding complexity of ecological devastation racial and political violence coloniality technological futures and the brutality of modern Western culture generally

Unstaging War, Confronting Conflict and Peace Tony Fry, 2019-07-24 This book presents the concept of unstaging war as a strategic response to the failure of the discourse and institutions of peace This failure is explained by exploring the changing character of conflict in current and emergent global circumstances such as asymmetrical conflicts insurgencies and terrorism Fry argues that this pluralisation of war has broken the binary relation between war and peace conflict is no longer self evident and consequentially the changes in the conditions nature systems philosophies and technologies of war must be addressed Through a deep understanding of contemporary war Fry explains why peace fails as both idea and process before presenting Unstaging War as a concept and nascent practice that acknowledges conflict as structurally present and so is not able to be dealt with by attempts to create peace Against a backdrop of increasingly tense relations between global power blocs the beginnings of a new nuclear arms race and the ever increasing human and environmental impacts of climate change a more viable alternative to war is urgently needed Unstaging War is not claimed as a solution but rather as an exploration of critical problems and an opening into the means of engaging with them The Bloomsbury Handbook of Food and Popular Culture Kathleen Lebesco, Peter brings together leading international designers scholars and critics to address ways in which design is shaping the future The contributors share an understanding of design as a practice that with its focus on innovation and newness is a natural ally of futurity Ultimately the choices made by designers are understood here as choices about the kind of world we want to live in Design as Future Making locates design in a space of creative and critical reflection examining the expanding nature of practice in fields such as biomedicine sustainability digital crafting fashion architecture urbanism and design activism The authors contextualize design and its affects within issues of social justice environmental health political agency education and the right to pleasure and play Collectively they make the case that as an integrated mode of thought and action design is intrinsically social and deeply political Ethical Design Intelligence Philippe d'Anjou, 2020-02-14 Ethical Design

Intelligence The Virtuous Designer explores the deep significance of philosophy and ethics to the practice of design It offers designers from disciplines such as architecture urban design planning landscape interior and industrial design an alternative ethical framework in which to expand their thinking about their practice Arguing that design today is primarily an agency driven by the momentum of globalization embedded in economy materialism and utility the book reconceptualizes the notion of virtue in design practice Across chapters covering topics such as virtuous character creative agency and unsustainable practices the book scrutinizes design through a philosophical lens d Anjou dissects articulations from different philosophical thinkers from antiquity to contemporary time to reveal that ethics is fundamental to everything affected by design Countering well established modes of postmodern relativism in design which has led to defuturing and unsustainability ethical realism is presented as an alternative solution This book is written for designers educators researchers and students

Critical Visualization Peter A. Hall,Patricio Dávila,2022-12-01 Information may be beautiful but our decisions about the data we choose to represent and how we represent it are never neutral This insightful history traces how data visualization accompanied modern technologies of war colonialism and the management of social issues of poverty health and crime The discussion is based around examples of visualization from the ancient Andean information technology of the quipu to contemporary projects that show the fate of our rubbish and take a participatory approach to visualizing cities This analysis places visualization in its theoretical and cultural contexts and provides a critical framework for understanding the history of information design with new directions for contemporary
