Seventh Grade Curriculum, 1963 17,000 Classroom Visits Can't Be Wrong John V. Antonetti, James R. Garver, 2015-02-20 Most educators are skilled at planning instruction and determining what they will do during the course of a lesson However to truly engage students in worthwhile rigorous cognition a profound shift is necessary a shift in emphasis from teaching to learning Put another way we know that whoever is doing the work is also doing the learning and in most classrooms teachers are working much too hard Authors John V Antonetti and James R Garver are the designers of the Look 2 Learning model of classroom walkthroughs They've visited more than 17 000 classrooms examining a variety of teaching and learning conditions talking to students examining their work and determining their levels of thinking and engagement From this vast set of data they've drawn salient lessons that provide valuable insight into how to smooth the transition from simply planning instruction to designing high quality student work The lessons John and Jim have learned from their 17 000 and counting classroom visits can't be wrong. They share those lessons in this book along with stories of successful practice and practical tools ready for immediate classroom application. The authors also provide opportunities for reflection and closure designed to help you consider or reconsider your current beliefs and practices. Throughout you will hear the voices of John and Jim and the thousands of students they met as they provide a map for shifting the classroom dynamic from teaching to learning.

Introducing Literature, 1987 Curriculum II [literature-centered] Florida State University. Curriculum Study Center in English, 1964 Catalog of Educational Captioned Films/videos for the Deaf, 1990 Reading, Learning, Teaching Clyde Edgerton Yvonne Mason, 2009 This is an introduction to the literature of contemporary American writer Clyde Edgerton. A North Carolina native, Edgerton has been compared to Mark Twain for his easy humorous style which is based in oral tradition. Like Twain and other humorous writers, Edgerton's work often contains both biting satire and exploration of very large questions about the human condition. The book contains an overview of each of his novels and his memoir in addition to offering critical commentary on theme, craft and structure. Pedagogical support is offered with specific strategies that will encourage authentic engagement and learning. Teachers will find specific companion pieces of literature for introducing Edgerton's vivid and challenging work. This book presents the case for including more of Clyde Edgerton's work in our secondary and college English language arts classrooms as a means of revitalizing curricula and challenging the ways we traditionally think about teaching.

Wild Curiosity Erik Shonstrom, 2015-12-17 Wild Curiosity brings together cutting edge neuroscience and psychology research with simple effective advice for parents and teachers on how to ignite the fire of curiosity in children. The author offers a new way to think about parenting and teaching one that values autonomy, creativity and celebrates the spontaneous and unexpected joys of learning. Following the groundbreaking work of researchers like Peter Gray and thought leaders like Richard Louv, the book offers justification for the de-institutionalization of learning and a roadmap for how to create engaging, inspiring and exciting experiences to nurture curiosity for children of all ages.

Life Space Crisis Intervention Nicholas James Long, Mary M. Wood, Frank A. Fecser, 2001. Totally revised and updated. New chapter on working with staff who inadvertently perpetuate conflict with a student. New appendix on the future of LSCI. Here's a professional resource for educators, psychologists and counselors that focuses on Life Space Crisis Intervention, a strategy to help guide young people through stressful experiences. The second edition of this important book offers a significant breakthrough in teaching professionals the unique skills of interviewing children and youth during interpersonal crises. Part One prepares an adult to deal with all aspects of student stress. Part Two teaches the six sequential steps involved in carrying out successful life space crisis intervention based on Fritz Redl's concepts. Part Three describes six types of therapeutic life space crisis interventions that are typical and beneficial to students in conflict. This book is a must-have for special educators, counselors, principals, child care workers, social workers, probation workers and psychologists who work with students who have special needs. Publisher's description.
