No Small Change The Road To Recognition For Indigenous Australia:

No Small Change Frank Brennan, 2015-05-01 In 1967 Australians voted overwhelmingly in favor of removing from the Constitution two references that discriminated against Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. Though these seemed like small amendments, they were an impetus for real change from terra nullius to land rights and from assimilation to self-determination. Nearly 50 years later, there is a groundswell of support for our Indigenous heritage to be formally recognized in the Constitution. With the prospect of a new referendum in the near future, Frank Brennan considers how far Australians have come and yet how much work lies ahead. He looks through the prism of history to examine what we can learn from our successes and failures since 1967, from the efforts of the Council of Aboriginal Affairs to the Gove land rights case and the Aboriginal Tent Embassy. He also assesses the way forward, how the upcoming referendum might provide fresh momentum for governments and Indigenous Australians to negotiate better outcomes. Written by one of the most respected commentators on legal and human rights issues, this book makes a vital contribution to the understanding of Indigenous affairs. It will generate crucial debate on how Australians should acknowledge the history that for too long has gone unrecognized.

Indigenous Peoples and Constitutional Reform in Australia Bede Harris, 2023-12-01 This book examines whether Australia's constitution should be reformed so as to enable the country to fulfil its obligations under the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, which it ratified in 2009. The book surveys the history of the constitutional status of Australia's Indigenous peoples from the time of colonisation through to the current debate on Indigenous constitutional recognition. However, it argues that the term 'Indigenous constitutional recognition' implying that mere acknowledgement of the existence of Indigenous peoples is sufficient to meet their legitimate expectations, misrepresents the nature of the project the country needs to engage in. The book argues that Australia should instead embark upon a reform programme directed towards substantive and not merely symbolic constitutional change It argues that only by the inclusion in the constitution of enforceable constitutional rights can the power imbalance between Indigenous Australians and the rest of society be addressed Taking a comparative approach and drawing upon the experience of other jurisdictions the book proposes a comprehensive constitutional reform programme and includes the text of constitutional amendments designed to achieve the realisation of the rights of Australia's Indigenous peoples It ends with a call to improve the standard of civics education so as to overcome voter apprehension towards constitutional change Learning Law Anthony

Marinac, Caroline Hart, Rhianna Chisholm, Jennifer Nielsen, Asmi Wood, Adrian Evans, Sarah McKibbin, 2020-10-07 Learning Law is an accessible and engaging introduction to Australian law for students considering a career in the legal profession This text teaches students how to deal with legislation and cases focusing on core topics and contextualisation This second edition has been thoroughly updated and revised with significant changes including six new chapters First Peoples and the law research the ethical lawyer statutory interpretation lawyers and clients becoming a lawyer more coverage of parliaments and courts new Living Law boxes that showcase the diverse career paths available to law graduates and new Critical Perspective boxes to engage students with critical analysis Written in a conversational style Learning Law will leave students feeling more knowledgeable about and confident in their interactions with Australian legal institutions and legal professionals This text is an essential resource that law students will refer to throughout their studies and in the early stages of their career

Land Power Michael Albertus, 2025-01-14 An award winning political scientist shows that a society's path to prosperity sustainability and equality depends on who owns the land For millennia land has been a symbol of wealth and privilege But the true power of land ownership is even greater than we might think In Land Power political scientist Michael Albertus shows that who owns the land determines whether a society will be equal or unequal whether it will develop or decline and whether it will safeguard or sacrifice its environment Modern history has been defined by land reallocation on a massive scale From the 1500s on European colonial powers and new nation states shifted indigenous lands into the hands of settlers The 1900s brought new waves of land appropriation from Soviet and Maoist collectivization to initiatives turning large estates over to family farmers The shuffle continues today as governments vie for power and prosperity by choosing who should get land Drawing on a career's worth of original research and on the ground fieldwork Albertus shows that choices about who owns the land have locked in poverty sexism racism and climate crisis and that what we do with the land today can change our collective fate Global in scope Land Power argues that saving civilization must begin with the earth under our feet

A First Nations Voice in the Australian Constitution Shireen Morris, 2020-08-06 This book makes the legal and political case for Indigenous constitutional recognition through a constitutionally guaranteed First Nations voice as advocated by the historic Uluru Statement from the Heart It argues that a constitutional amendment to empower Indigenous peoples with a fairer say in laws and policies made about them and their rights is both constitutionally congruent and politically achievable A First Nations voice is deeply in keeping with the culture design and philosophy of Australia's federal Constitution as well as the long history of Indigenous advocacy for greater empowerment and self-determination in their affairs Morris explores the historical political theoretical and international contexts underpinning the contemporary debate before delving into the constitutional detail to craft a compelling case for change Naku Dharuk The Bark Petitions

Clare Wright, 2024-10-01 In this engaging narrative Wright follows the story of petitions on bark created by the Yirrkala community in Arnhem Land in 1963 protesting bauxite mining on traditional lands Incorrigible Optimist Gareth

Evans, 2017-10-02 A colourful and central figure in Australian politics for two decades described by Bob Hawke as having the most acute mind of any of his ministers Gareth Evans has also been applauded worldwide for his contributions both as Foreign Minister and in later international roles to conflict resolution genocide prevention and curbing weapons of mass destruction In this sometimes moving often entertaining and always lucid memoir Evans looks back over the highs and lows of his public life as a student activist civil libertarian law reformer industry minister international policymaker educator and politician He explains why it is that despite multiple disappointments he continues to believe that a safer saner and more decent world is achievable and why for all its frustrations politics remains an indispensable profession not only for megalomaniacs but idealists Italy and Australia Gabriele Abbondanza, Simone Battiston, 2023-12-30 This book offers a novel and comprehensive reappraisal of current relations between Italy and Australia For the first time it expands the scope of analysis by encompassing and critically reviewing research avenues that have been understudied so far In order to pursue this objective it provides innovative analyses on bilateral history reciprocal migration socio-cultural ties international relations and trade comparative politics and scientific cooperation By adopting a multidisciplinary approach this book makes a significant contribution to multiple disciplinary literatures benefitting social science scholars policymakers and professionals working in a number of fields Mindful of the wide scope and multidisciplinary nature of this innovative research the editors oversee a careful balance of different theories methodologies sources and data in accordance with the conventions of each discipline employed in this volume As a result this book encourages a broader and more nuanced understanding of Italian Australian relations in the 21st century Constitutional Reform as a Remedy for Political

Disenchantment in Australia Bede Harris, 2020-04-22 The central argument of this book explores the disillusionment that Australians feel with regard to the way politics is conducted The book explores causes of that disillusionment and argues that because these are ultimately traceable to defects in the constitution it is only through constitutional reform that government can be improved This book argues that the current approach to constitutional debate suffers from the flaw of being anti-theoretical in the sense that it is not grounded in any set of values and is afflicted by a tendency to consider practical objections to reform before considering the moral case for it This book argues that instead of accepting the constitution as it is it is time we began to discuss how it ought to be taking human dignity as the fundamental value upon which a constitution should be based. It then puts the case for change in a number of areas including reform of the electoral system, enhanced parliamentary scrutiny of the executive, the inclusion in the constitution of a full bill of rights, the abolition of the federal system, realisation of the rights of Indigenous people, codification of constitutional conventions either in conjunction with or separately from an Australian republic, reform of the rules of standing in constitutional matters, and finally the need to improve civics education. This book is designed to be provocative in the way that it directly challenges current academic orthodoxy. This book also outlines a proposed draft new constitution. This book will be of interest to anyone who is concerned about how Australia is governed and why it has been so difficult to achieve constitutional reform. Mabos Cultural Legacy Geoff Rodoreda, Eva Bischoff, 2021-06-08. More than any other event in Australia's legal, political and cultural history, the High Court of Australia's 1992 Mabo decision challenged previous ways of thinking about land, identity, belonging, the nation and history. Now more than a quarter of a century after Mabo, this book examines the broader impacts of this landmark legal decision on various forms of Australian culture and cultural practice. How is Australia's post-Mabo imaginary being reflected, refracted and articulated in contemporary film, fiction, poetry, biography and other forms of cultural expression? To what extent has the discussion and practice of history, linguistics, anthropology and other branches of the humanities been challenged or transformed by Mabo? While the judges in Mabo recognised native title, they also denied Indigenous people sovereignty over the continent; how is First Nations sovereignty being articulated and creatively imagined in more recent post-Mabo discourse? This interdisciplinary book, offering a transnational perspective via scholars based in Australia, continental Europe and the UK, provides an overview of the diverse impact and discursive influence of Mabo on fields of artistic endeavour and cultural practice in Australia today. Quarterly Essay 69: Moment of Truth Mark McKenna, 2018-03-19. Australia is on the brink of momentous change, but only if its citizens and politicians can come to new terms with the past. In this inspiring essay, Mark McKenna considers the role of history in making and unmaking the nation. From Captain Cook to the frontier wars, from Australia Day to the Uluru Statement, we are seeing fresh debates and recognitions. McKenna argues that it is time to move beyond the history wars and that truth-telling about the past will be liberating and healing. This is an urgent essay about a nation's moment of truth. The time for pitting white against black, shame against pride, and one people's history against another's has had its day. After nearly fifty years of deeply divisive debates over the country's foundation and its legacy for Indigenous Australians, Australia stands at a crossroads: we either make the commonwealth stronger and more complete through an honest reckoning with the past, or we unmake the nation by clinging to triumphant narratives in which the violence inherent in the nation's foundation is trivialised. Mark McKenna, Moment of Truth. This Time in the Church Michael Kelly, 2015-07-01. The series of papers in this volume were given as talks in Sydney during a year of extraordinary surprises: after Pope Benedict XVI resigned and Pope Francis was elected as Bishop of Rome, as he likes to call himself. Even if it's only catching up with many things that have become commonplace assumptions in the contemporary world, it would seem that the Catholic Church is at a turning point as has been evidenced in all that Pope Francis has done since becoming Bishop of Rome. The subject of the first paper by Michael Kelly is not so much the scandals that have rocked the Catholic Church of late but where does the Church as a community and a public entity need to go from here on these issues. That discussion as intimate as it is related to some very public features of the Church has a context the history of a Church badly in need of structural reform. If the sentiments of the faithful and the desire to make the community of the Church more in deed what it claims in words the reach of those changes is as profound as it is extensive. Effective reform of an historical community like the Roman Catholic Church will not happen without a deep grasp of the history of forms in need of reformation. That is the focus of Chris Geraghty's contribution to this collection. Probing the spirit and reforming the body are for a purpose mission. That mission is conditioned by the challenges of the context in which it is exercised. That is the focus of Frank Brennan's contribution as he assesses the challenges and proposes some fresh approaches to meeting them. Because there have been so many formulaic and essentially unengaged responses to contemporary issues in and beyond the Church the transformation needed in attitude and practical proposals to handle them is vast.

Dominicans and Human Rights Mike Deeb, Celestina Veloso Freitas, 2017-12-31 To mark the long history of Dominican involvement in defence of human rights in the year celebrating the 800th anniversary of the confirmation of the Order of Preachers two hundred Dominican brothers, sisters and laity met in Salamanca Spain to discuss the contribution of the Dominican Order in the past, present and future in the promotion and defence of human rights. It was in that city in the sixteenth century that prompted by his Dominican brothers such as Bartolome de las Casas who were defending the indigenous people of Latin America against the Spanish conquistadores Francisco de Vitoria planted the seed of today's international human rights movement. This volume presents in original languages the eleven papers given in Salamanca as well as the statement adopted by the delegates at the end of the meeting. They combine historical views, theoretical insights and testimonies from life experience. This offers a rich contribution not only towards strengthening the role of the Dominican Family and even the universal church in defending human rights but also towards a deeper understanding of evangelisation and mission.

Economic and Ecotheological Responses to Laudato Si' John Capper, 2016-12-31 The journal is a scholarly ecumenical and interdisciplinary publication aiming to serve the church and its mission promoting a broad based interpretation of Christian theology within a trinitarian context encouraging dialogue between Christianity and other faiths and exploring the interface between faith and culture. It is published in English for an international audience.

The Bhishma Way N Balasubramanian, 2015-12-24 Contemporary dilemmas whether in business or politics bear an uncanny resemblance to the predicaments witnessed in the ever timely epic the Mahabharata. Who else but Bhishma Pitamah then to the rescue of the modern day manager, politician or bureaucrat. In the epic Bhishma is the upholder of truth and dharma, his life shaped by the difficult choices he makes. He isn't always infallible but even where his decisions are questionable he serves as a role model. Prof N Balasubramanian uses this powerful figure and his selfless values as a guide to make the right choices in The Bhishma Way He discusses the importance of values dharma truth justice and governance in businesses and governments Analyses of real life cases among them Union Carbide and the Bhopal gas tragedy James Hardie and asbestos in Australia and Ok Tedi in Papua New Guinea complement the mythological stories and insightful anecdotes in this illuminating and thought provoking book This serves as an instructive read for anyone striving for a higher moral code in day to day decision making and leadership The Faces of Human Rights

Kasey McCall-Smith, Jan Wouters, Felipe Gómez Isa, 2019-05-16 As human rights discourse increasingly focuses on analysing states and the institutions that promote and support the human rights machinery that states have created this volume serves to recall that despite the growing size of the machinery and unwieldy nature of states human rights began with real people It samples a broad range of actors and localities where everyday people fought to ensure that the basic principles of human rights became a reality for all This volume will give a face to the everyday people to whom credit is due for shaping human rights It also responds to the perennial question of how to begin a career in human rights by highlighting that there is no single path into this dynamic field a field built on the back of small initiatives by people across a broad spectrum of career paths Revisiting Unity and Diversity in Federal Countries

Alain-G. Gagnon, Michael Burgess, 2018-09-24 The principal aim of this book is to revisit the basic theme of unity and diversity that remains at the heart of research into federalism and federation It is time to take another look at its contemporary relevance to ascertain how far the bifocal relationship between unity and diversity has evolved over the years and has been translated into changing conceptual lenses practical reform proposals and in some cases new institutional practices This book is structured around four main parts 1 the evolving conception of diversity over time and across continents 2 the interplay between unity and diversity in complex settings 3 federalism as decision making and new institutional practices that have been put forward and tested and 4 constitutional design and asymmetrical federalism as a way to respond to legitimate and insistent claims and political demands Feminism, Republicanism, Egalitarianism, Environmentalism

Yulia Maleta, 2019-08-23 This book addresses hegemonic ruling class masculinity and emphasized femininity within renewables organisational governance and critiques Anglo Celtic male privilege as a barrier to women's leadership participation Primarily using the Australian socio political context the author considers the patriarchal control of organisations and renewables governance and argues that women led emphasized femininity resistance strategies can challenge the hegemonic status of ruling elites to create a leadership that is less power oriented more collaborative and open to change Utilising detailed interviews with Australian women environmentalists together with feminist sociological and social movement theory whilst considering the historic context of Red Vienna and contemporary political challenges Brexit Monarchism etc it puts forward an innovative policy framework for an Australian Bill of Rights Act and republican constitutional change Written for academics activists and policymakers alike this book offers a unique insight into women's inequity within patriarchal institutionalist governance It will be engaging and inspiring reading for feminist and environmentalist activists and practitioners in addition to professional associations focussing on gender justice and environmental change Academics and postgraduates in Gender Studies Ecofeminism Sociology and Organisational Studies will also find the book of key interest in its interdisciplinary discussions of Sustainable Scientific Technological Development Initiatives SSTDI and feminism in an Australian political context
