Kulathungam,2012-04-25 The human spirit seems incapable of being stagnant ever pushing the boundaries of knowledge and experience We try to understand life through questions regarding our own existence the nature of the universe and the nature of God The question of our collective heart is the external manifestation of an internal longing a quest if you will This thirst to understand reality can be seen in superstructures that are scientific social political and especially religious When considering the doctrines institutions and rituals of religions we observe certain core aspirations expressed by the people of these communities These aspirations generate from an underlying quest which seeks a way out of our perceived predicament a salvific quest Regardless of whether we view ourselves as religious pre religious post religious or non religious we find ourselves involved in such a quest it seems to be an integral part of our human personhood Using a unique framework of analysis this book explores Christ s relevance to the quest expressed by the communities of eight major living religions a relevance that neither degrades Christ nor demeans other saviors Christ is not part of the human quest but is well equipped to satisfy that quest Rethinking Synagogues Lawrence A. Hoffman,2006 A critical and challenging look at reinventing the synagogue as the centerpiece of a refashioned Jewish community America is undergoing a spiritual revolution only the fourth religious awakening in its history I plead therefore for an equally spiritual synagogue knowing that any North American Jewish community that hopes to be around in a hundred years must have religion at its center with the synagogue the religious institution that best fits North American culture at its very core from Chapter 1 Synagogues are under attack and for good reasons But they remain the religious backbone of Jewish continuity especially in America the sole Western industrial or post industrial nation where religion and spirituality continue to grow in importance To fulfill their mandate for the American future synagogues need to replace old and tired conversation with a new way of talking about their goals their challenges and their vision for the future In this provocative clarion call for synagogue transformation Rabbi Lawrence A Hoffman summarizes a decade of research with Synagogue 2000 a pioneering experiment that reconceptualized synagogue life providing fresh ways for synagogues to think as they undertake the exciting task of global change Anonymous Christians Herbert E.
