Kimberley Peters, 2016-02-11 Our world is a water world Seventy percent of our planet consists of ocean However geography has traditionally overlooked this vital component of the earth s composition The word geography directly translates as earth writing and in line with this definition the discipline has preoccupied itself with the study of terrestrial spaces of society and nature This book challenges human geography s preoccupation with the terrestrial investigating the terra incognita of the seas and oceans Linking to new theoretical debates shaping the geographic discipline such as affect assemblage emotion hybridity and the more than human this volume unlocks new knowledge concerning the human geographies of ocean space The book casts adrift stable bounded and fixed conceptions of space and advances geographical understanding based on the world as becoming changing mobile and processional This ontology supports the notion that the oceans are not simply fluid in a literal way but also in a conceptual sense suggesting that the seas have their own fluid natures their own capacities and agencies which are co fabricated with social and cultural life This book features twelve chapters authored by key academics contributing to this growing field of research The book is divided into three sections including an Introduction by the editors and a foreword by Prof Philip E Steinberg the leading scholar in the field of maritime geographies The first section of the book considers the ways in which different watery spaces from the Atlantic Ocean to the Mediterranean Sea have been conceptualized theorized and known through metaphors voyages of discovery and scientific endeavour The second section examines how oceans are experienced through various activities including driving on water kayaking in water and diving under water The final section explores the relations between human life and the nature of the sea as a material mobile and more than human spa

Pacific Exploration Nigel Rigby, Pieter van der Merwe, Glyn Williams, 2018-09-06 Captain Cook is generally acknowledged as the first great European scientific explorer His voyage of exploration to the Pacific in HM bark Endeavour commencing in 1768 lasted almost three years recorded thousands of miles of uncharted lands and seas including New Zealand the east coast of Australia and many Pacific islands and tested all Cook s skills as a navigator seaman and leader His voyages were among the first to take civilian scientists notably Sir Joseph Banks and they revealed to European eyes the mysterious and exotic lands peoples flora and fauna of the Pacific never before seen But while Cook understandably dominates the story of 18th century Pacific exploration the achievements of those who followed him on many voyages of science and exploration into the Pacific have been neglected and deprived of the greater attention they deserve Correcting this imbalance Pacific Exploration explores the European voyages that continued Cook s work not only of charting but also starting to exploit and control the Pacific These voyages by William Bligh George Vancouver Matthew Flinders Malaspina Lap rouse and Arthur Phillip span a period that saw Britain becoming the world s leading maritime power a situation well in place by the time that Charles Darwin s voyage in Fitzroy s Beagle laid the basis of even greater understanding of the development of life on earth Recounting and illustrating these achievements and legacies using fascinating text and beautiful illustrations and artworks from the period this book explores topics of scientific discovery engagement with indigenous peoples the use of shipboard artists and scientists the growing professionalism of the hydrographic service the vessels used and the colonial commercial and imperial contexts of the voyages
