Non University Higher Education In Europe Higher Education Dynamics:

Non-University Higher Education in Europe James S. Taylor, José Brites Ferreira, Maria de Lourdes Machado, Rui Santiago, 2008-06-01 Today a substantial portion of higher education is provided outside of the traditional universities in non university institutions with a multitude of varied characteristics In recent decades higher education systems have been subjected to many changes and reforms throughout the world One of the most important was undoubtedly the expansion of higher education in the second half of the last century from an elite system to one for the masses While institutions of higher learning have been in existence for approximately 1 000 years this exponential growth has been much more recent This movement toward mass higher education has created substantial national impacts on the development of the systems of higher education While common denominators of change and adaptation can be identified globally there remain important differences from country to country There are many factors challenging higher education today and in the foreseeable future In one form or another these issues and trends can be seen in higher education systems throughout the world They include chronic underfunding marketisation and competition alternative providers massification internationalisation governance leadership strategic management accountability accreditation and social relevance Another key factor for many countries especially in Europe and the focus of this book is the current and future status of the higher education systems that differentiate the university and non university sectors

The Dynamics of Change in Higher Education Svein Kyvik, 2008-12-25 In most Western European countries higher education has to an increasing extent been developing outside universities partly through the establishment of new institutions and partly through the upgrading of professional and vocational schools into higher education colleges The main trend in countries with a binary system has been that student numbers have increased more in the college sector than in the university sector Yet there is a shortage of in depth studies on the changes that have taken place in this part of the educational system and on the processes that have driven this development The aim of this book is to improve our understanding of these processes through developing concepts and theoretical perspectives which might offer new insights of complex phenomena This book is based upon a large number of studies on college education in Norway and in other Western European countries I have studied change processes in this field over a period stretching back to the late 1970s Kyvik 1981 and this book synthesises my former publications as well as updates the development until August 2008 and presents new analyses based on my gradual attainment of deeper insight into the processes that have taken place

Education, Skills and Social Justice in a Polarising World Bill Esmond, Liz Atkins, 2022-01-25 This book explains how education policies offering improved transitions to work and higher level study can widen the gaps between successful and disadvantaged groups of young people Centred on an original study of ongoing further education and apprenticeship reforms in England the book traces the emergence of distinctive patterns of transition that magnify existing societal inequalities It illustrates the distinction between mainly male technical elites on STEM based courses and the preparation for low level service roles described as welfare vocationalism whilst digital and creative fields ill suited to industry learning head for a new economy precariat Yet the authors argue that social justice can nevertheless be advanced in the spaces between learning and work The book provides essential insights for academics and postgraduate students researching technical vocational and higher education It will also appeal to professionals with interests in contemporary educational policy and emerging practice

Higher Education System Reform ,2019-04-04 The Bologna Declaration started the development of the European Higher Education Area The ensuing Bologna Process has run for already 20 years now In the meantime many higher education systems in Europe have been reformed some more drastically than others some quicker than others some with more resistance than others In the process of reform the initial six goals have sometimes been forgotten or sometimes been taken a step further The context too has shifted while the European Union in itself has expanded the voice for exit has also been heard more frequently

The Research Mission of Higher Education Institutions outside the University Sector Svein Kyvik, Benedetto Lepori, 2010-06-08 Even if in most countries non university higher education institutions did not have originally a research mandate it is well known that in most cases these institutions have progressively developed research activities and at least in some countries the State now has recognized the research role of these institutions and provided support and funding Moreover in many countries the role of research in polytechnics fachhochschulen hogescholen university colleges etc is on the political agenda Despite the importance of the issue there are very few in depth studies of research in the non university sector These studies show that the development of research in these institutions leads to quite complex interactions with universities both in the sense of convergence academic drift and or of differentiation of a specific research mandate oriented towards the regional economy Therefore this book aims to fill this gap by first analysing a number of transversal issues related to the research mission of these institutions In its second part it gives an overview of the state of the art in eight European countries

Vocational Education in the Nordic Countries Svein Michelsen, Marja-Leena Stenström, 2018-05-15 Vocational Education in the Nordic Countries The Historical Evolution is the first of two books that disseminate new and systematic knowledge on the strengths and weaknesses of the different models of vocational education and training VET in four Nordic countries Vocational education in Europe has resisted standardisation to a higher degree than other fields of education and during the last decade there has been a growth in international comparative VET research While the Nordic countries provide an ideal case for comparative education studies the literature in English on the Nordic VET systems is at present very limited This first book provides thorough examinations of VET in Sweden Denmark Norway and Finland over 150 years Each section examines the historical evolution of VET at upper secondary level in one of the four Nordic countries Contributors also analyse how each country have tried to reform their respective VET systems and compare the paths which each nation has taken The book explores what can be learned from the diversity of the VET systems in the

Nordic countries which otherwise have many similarities and share a common heritage in education policy This volume will help strengthen the knowledge base required for transnational policy learning and for developing vocational education internationally for the future It will be of interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students involved in the study of vocational education educational studies and educational policy education planners and teachers educators The European Higher Education Area Adrian Curaj, Liviu Matei, Remus Pricopie, Jamil Salmi, Peter Scott, 2015-10-12 Bridging the gap between higher education research and policy making was always a challenge but the recent calls for more evidence based policies have opened a window of unprecedented opportunity for researchers to bring more contributions to shaping the future of the European Higher Education Area EHEA Encouraged by the success of the 2011 first edition Romania and Armenia have organised a 2nd edition of the Future of Higher Education Bologna Process Researchers Conference FOHE BPRC in November 2014 with the support of the Italian Presidency of the European Union and as part of the official EHEA agenda Reuniting over 170 researchers from more than 30 countries the event was a forum to debate the trends and challenges faced by higher education today and look at the future of European cooperation in higher education The research volumes offer unique insights regarding the state of affairs of European higher education and research as well as forward looking policy proposals More than 50 articles focus on essential themes in higher education Internationalization of higher education Financing and governance Excellence and the diversification of missions Teaching learning and student engagement Equity and the social dimension of higher education Education research and innovation Quality assurance The impacts of the Bologna Process on the EHEA and beyond and Evidence based policies in higher education The Bologna process was launched at a time of great optimism about the future of the European project to which of course the reform of higher education across the continent has made a major contribution Today for the present that optimism has faded as economic troubles have accumulated in the Euro zone political tensions have been increased on issues such as immigration and armed conflict has broken out in Ukraine There is clearly a risk that against this troubled background the Bologna process itself may falter There are already signs that it has been downgraded in some countries with evidence of political withdrawal All the more reason for the voice of higher education researchers to be heard Since the first conference they have established themselves as powerful stakeholders in the development of the EHEA who are helping to maintain the momentum of the Bologna process Their pivotal role has been strengthened by the second Bucharest conference Peter Scott Institute of Education London General Rapporteur of the FOHE BPRC first edition Public Vices, Private Virtues?: Assessing the Effects of Marketization in Higher Education Pedro N. Teixeira, David D. Dill, 2011-11-13 Recent years have seen the strengthening of a discourse that emphasises the virtues of markets competition and private initiative vis vis the vices of public intervention in higher education This volume presents a timely reflection about the effects this increasing marketization has been producing in many higher education systems worldwide The various chapters of this volume analyse the impact of markets at the system level with significant attention being devoted to the changes in modes of regulation the strengthening of aspects such as privatization and inter institutional competition in higher education systems and the closer interaction between higher education and its economic environment Several of the contributors devote attention as well to the implications of market forces for institutional change notably regarding issues such as mission organizational structure and governance and the way marketization is affecting the internal distribution of power and the definition of priorities Finally the volume includes several chapters focusing on the different markets of higher education such as the academic labour market undergraduate and postgraduate education and research markets Altogether these chapters provide important insights concerning the many national and institutional contexts in which the marketization of higher education has been taking place around the world
