CAUSE & EFFECT: Passage

Directions: Read the passage below about motion sickness. Underline each cause that you find. Circle each effect that you find.

The Tummy Twist

Have you ever been on a boat, a car, or an amusement park ride and started to feel kind of funny in your stomach? This is called motion sickness. It's like a little puzzle that happens in our bodies.

Imagine you're sitting in a car or on a boat. Your eyes look at things around you, like the road or the water. At the same time, your inner ears, which help you keep your balance, feel the movement. Sometimes, these two things don't match. This can happen when you read a book while riding in a car. Your eyes see the book staying still, but your ears feel the car moving. This mix-up confuses your brain. That's when motion sickness can sneak in.

When your brain gets confused, it might send signals to your stomach. This can make you feel sick. You might notice more spit in your mouth, your stomach might feel upset, and you might even get sweaty. It's not a great feeling, but it's your body's way of trying to figure things out.

But don't worry, there are things you can do to help prevent or ease motion sickness. One trick is to look outside, straight ahead. This helps your eyes and inner ears match up the movements better. You can also try to keep still and not read or play on screens while you're moving. Keeping your mind busy with fun things, like talking to your friends or singing songs, can help distract you from that funny feeling.

If you're going on a car ride, it's a good idea to have some fresh air by opening a window. Chewing gum or snacking on crackers might help too. And if you're at an amusement park and want to go on those exciting rides, try starting with the slower ones. Then, move to the faster ones. This gives your body a chance to get used to the motion.

Exploring Nonfiction with Young Learners Darla Miner, Jill Zitnay, 2012-02-16 Exploring Nonfiction with Young Learners explores the four basic nonfiction structures that the youngest learners are most likely to encounter: descriptive, recount, collection, procedural, and explanatory texts. This book also includes information to help teach four more complex structures that younger readers sometimes encounter during read-alouds: comparison, response, causation, cause and effect, and persuasive genres. This book is organized to help plan lessons using each type of nonfiction structure. Strategies and suggestions for activities to use before, during, and after reading are included. Templates and graphic organizers are also provided in order to facilitate planning and offer additional resources. Detailed information about each text structure, as well as mentor texts to illustrate each type, is included. Text structures, as well as text access features, are defined and located in easy-reference charts. Whole-class and small-group planning ideas are included throughout the book in order to allow for differentiation. Additionally, assessment ideas, sample think-alouds, lesson planning templates, and sample lessons with
