Nonresponse Bias Schriftenreihe Arbeitsgemeinschaft Sozialwissenschaftlicher:

Nonresponse Bias Jürgen Schupp, Christof Wolf, 2015-06-24 Die Qualitätssicherung sozialwissenschaftlicher Umfragen ist in den letzten Jahren zu einem großen Thema geworden. Bilden Stichproben mit vergleichsweise geringer Beteiligungsquote noch die Lebenslagen, Einstellungen und Verhaltensweisen der jeweiligen Grundgesamtheit ab? Wie groß ist ihre Selektivität bzw. ihre Verzerrung also der Nonresponse Bias? Wie geeignet sind Gewichtungs- und Hochrechnungsverfahren um trotz geringer Ausschlagsquoten gleichwohl verallgemeinerbare Schlüsse auf die Grundgesamtheit ziehen zu können? Das Buch bereichert den Stand der Forschung im Bereich Surveymethodologie und leistet einen lesenswerten Beitrag zur gesamten surveydatengestützten quantitativen empirischen Sozialforschung.

Non-Response Bias Nathan Berg, 2010 Non response bias refers to the mistake one expects to make in estimating a population characteristic based on a sample of survey data in which due to non response certain types of survey respondents are under represented Social scientists often attempt to make inferences about a population by drawing a random sample and studying relationships among the measurements contained in the sample When individuals from a special subset of the population are systematically omitted from a particular sample however the sample cannot be said to be random in the sense that every member of the population is equally likely to be included in the sample It is important to acknowledge that any patterns uncovered in analyzing a non random sample do not provide valid grounds for generalizing about a population in the same way that patterns present in a random sample do The mismatch between the average characteristics of respondents in a non random sample and the average characteristics of the population can lead to serious problems in understanding the causes of social phenomena and may lead to misdirected policy action Therefore considerable attention has been given to the problem of non response bias both at the stages of data collection and data analysis
