Abstract: In this study on nurse documentation in LTC facilities, a set of 9 delirium symptoms were used to evaluate the congruity between symptoms detected by nurses during monthly interviews and those documented in the in the nursing notes for the same 7-day observation period. Residents aged 65 and over (N = 280) were assessed monthly over a six-month period for the presence of delirium and its symptoms using the Confusion Assessment Method. The proportion of symptoms documented in the nursing notes ranged from 1.9% to 53.5%. A trend toward lower proportion of documented symptoms for higher resident to nurse ratios was observed, although the difference did not reach a statistically significance. Effort should be made to improve the situation by revisiting the content of academic and clinical training given to nurses as well as exploring innovative ways to increase time efficiency of documentation in the actual context of nurses' work overload. To develop a delirium risk screening tool for use in long-term care (LTC) facilities.
