ILAR News ,1983 Nutrient Requirements of Fish and Shrimp National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources, Committee on the Nutrient Requirements of Fish and Shrimp, 2011-05-25 Aquaculture now supplies half of the seafood and fisheries products consumed worldwide and is gaining international significance as a source of food and income Future demands for seafood and fisheries products can only be met by expanded aquaculture production Such production will likely become more intensive and will depend increasingly on nutritious and efficient aquaculture feeds containing ingredients from sustainable sources To meet this challenge Nutrient Requirements of Fish and Shrimp provides a comprehensive summary of current knowledge about nutrient requirements of fish and shrimp and supporting nutritional science This edition incorporates new material and significant updates to information in the 1993 edition It also examines the practical aspects of feeding of fish and shrimp Nutrient Requirements of Fish and Shrimp will be a key resource for everyone involved in aquaculture and for others responsible for the feeding and care of fish and shrimp It will also aid scientists in developing new and improved approaches to satisfy the demands of the growing aquaculture industry      New and Forthcoming Books National Academy Press (U.S.),1993      Introduction to Animal Science Wilson G. Pond,Kevin R. Pond,2000-02-11 Pond is for the mainstream introduction to animal science taught in every university that has a school of agriculture or animal science department The result of years of teaching the book provides students with a comprehensive and balanced overview of animal agriculture in contemporary society taking into account the needs of students with highly varied cultural backgrounds and educational objectives      Handbook of Nutrition and Food Carolyn D. Berdanier,Johanna T. Dwyer,David Heber,2016-04-19 The new edition of the Handbook of Nutrition and Food follows the format of the bestselling earlier editions providing a reference guide for many of the issues on health and well being that are affected by nutrition Completely revised the third edition contains 20 new chapters 50 percent new figures A comprehensive resource this book is a reference guide for many of the issues on health and well being that are affected by nutrition Divided into five parts the sections cover food including its composition constituents labeling and analysis nutrition as a science covering basic terminology nutritional biochemistry nutrition and genetics food intake regulation and micronutrients nutrient needs throughout the human life cycle assessment of nutrient intake adequacy and clinical nutrition from assessments to a wide variety of disease and health topics

Animal Care and Management at the National Zoo National Research Council,Division on Earth and Life Studies,Institute for Laboratory Animal Research,Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources,Committee on the Review of the Smithsonian Institution's National Zoological Park,2005-11-27 This report follows up on an interim report released in February 2004 that focused on immediate needs in the areas of animal care and management recordkeeping and pest control The report finds that the zoo has made good faith efforts to correct deficiencies noted in the interim report and has made some noticeable improvements in the past year in zoo operations and animal care However problems in areas such as staff training workplace culture and strategic planning still need to be addressed Specifically the report recommends that the zoo immediately develop and implement animal care training programs to ensure that people who are directly responsible for the well being of its animal collection are adequately prepared and competent The report commends a zoo initiated strategic planning process as a positive step but recommends it contain a more detailed comprehensive strategy of how it will meet short term goals and that it should link plans to upgrade facilities with those to acquire animals The zoo should also focus on improving communication among keepers veterinarians nutritionists senior managers and curators      California Agricultural Research Priorities National Research Council,Division on Earth and Life Studies,Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources,Committee on California Agricultural Research Priorities: Pierce's Disease,2004-10-28 The glassy winged sharpshooter is one of the more recent invasive pests to afflict California agriculture. The insect transmits a bacterial pathogen that causes Pierce's disease, which has impaired production of wine table and raisin grapes in California. The report recommends strengthening the process and the priorities for research funded by state agencies and wine industry groups to address Pierce's disease and its vector. Research should be focused on identifying feasible options for controlling the spread of the disease and providing sustainable approaches that are adaptable and affordable over the long term. Several avenues of research be pursued more intensely including the genetic makeup of the pathogen that triggers Pierce's disease, understanding the mechanisms that make grapes resistant to the disease, the possibilities of introducing predator enemies to the sharpshooter, and new ways to manage the planting of crops to help avoid spread of the disease.

Diagnosis and Control of Johne's Disease National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources, Committee on Diagnosis and Control of Johne's Disease, 2003-09-13. Johne's Disease is a chronic progressive intestinal disease caused by infection with Mycobacterium avium subspecies paratuberculosis Map that affects primarily ruminant animals. In recent decades there has been growing concern over the lack of effective control of this disease and questions have arisen regarding the possibility that Map infection could be a cause of some cases of Crohn's disease in humans. This report presents a broad outline of the steps that should be taken to control Johne's disease, reduce the spread of Map, and minimize effects of the disease in animals. The report also describes the weaknesses of our current research agenda and provides recommendations for a new research strategy to resolve the question of whether there is a link between Johne's and Crohn's diseases.

Direct and Indirect Human Contributions to Terrestrial Carbon Fluxes National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources, Stephanie Johnson, Rob Coppock, 2004-06-30. Human induced climate change is an important environmental issue worldwide as scientific studies increasingly demonstrate that human activities are changing the Earth's climate. Even if dramatic reductions in emissions were made today, some human induced changes are likely to persist beyond the 21st century. The Kyoto Protocol calls for emissions reporting that separates out management induced changes in greenhouse gases from those changes caused by indirect human effects, e.g. carbon dioxide fertilization, nitrogen deposition, or precipitation changes, natural effects, and past practices on forested agricultural lands. This book summarizes a September 2003 workshop where leaders from academia, government, and industry came together to discuss the current state of scientific understanding on quantifying direct human induced change in terrestrial carbon stocks and related changes in greenhouse gas emissions and distinguishing these changes from those caused by indirect and natural effects.

Air Emissions from Animal Feeding Operations National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology, Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources, Committee on Animal Nutrition, Ad Hoc Committee on Air Emissions from Animal Feeding Operations, 2003-05-07. Air Emissions from Animal Feeding Operations: Current Knowledge, Future Needs discusses the need for the U S Environmental Protection Agency to implement a new method for estimating the amount of ammonia nitrous oxide methane and other pollutants emitted from livestock and poultry farms and for determining how these emissions are dispersed in the atmosphere The committee calls for the EPA and the U S Department of Agriculture to establish a joint council to coordinate and oversee short and long term research to estimate emissions from animal feeding operations accurately and to develop mitigation strategies Their recommendation was for the joint council to focus its efforts first on those pollutants that pose the greatest risk to the environment and public health Exploring a Vision National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources, Planning Group for a Workshop on Exploring a Vision: Integrating Knowledge for Food and Health, Debra P. Davis, Tina I. Rouse, 2004-04-30 Centuries of scientific advances in agriculture have increased the quantity quality and variety of our food supply Food in the United States is abundant and affordable incomes are at record levels nutrition and health knowledge is at an all time high Yet many Americans are not eating a proper diet The result is an obesity epidemic that contributes to rising healthcare costs from increased rates of heart disease stroke diabetes and several cancers Whether we see food as medicine or as the cause of disease medical and agricultural research have the potential to come together in innovative ways to help consumers and producers understand and face the challenges of following a healthful diet More than 100 leaders in agriculture health research education policy and industry convened at the National Academies in June 2003 to share their opinions on what would be a more efficient and effective system for conducting food and health research Some of their thoughts follow Participants concluded that no one organization or agency can solve food related health issues alone the nation needs better mechanisms for bringing together its agriculture and health care infrastructures to address food related health problems Addressing the obesity issue in particular will require a multidisciplinary strategy that includes research on foods consumer knowledge and behavior and the economics of food and health related activities including food pricing health care costs and agricultural support programs Complete Catalog of Books and Periodicals National Academy Press (U.S.), 1990

Biological Confinement of Genetically Engineered Organisms National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Life Sciences, Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources, Committee on Biological Confinement of Genetically Engineered Organisms, 2004-02-20 Genetically engineered organisms GEOs have been under development for more than 20 years while GE crops have been grown commercially during the last decade During this time a number of questions have cropped up concerning the potential consequences that certain GEOs might have on natural or managed ecosystems and human health Interest in developing methods to confine some GEOs and their transgenes to specifically designated release settings has increased and the success of these efforts could facilitate the continued growth and development of this technology Biological Confinement of Genetically Engineered Organisms examines biological methods that may be used with genetically engineered plants animals microbes and fungi Bioconfinement methods have been applied successfully to a few non engineered organisms but many promising techniques remain in the conceptual and experimental stages of development This book reviews and evaluates these methods discusses when and why to consider their use and assesses how effectively they offer a significant reduction of the risks engineered organisms can present to the environment Interdisciplinary research to develop new confinement methods could find ways to minimize the potential for unintended effects on human health and the environment Need for this type of research is clear and successful methods could prove helpful in promoting regulatory approval for commercialization of future genetically engineered organisms Nutrient Requirements of Poultry National Research Council,Board on Agriculture,Subcommittee on Poultry Nutrition,1994-02-01 This classic reference for poultry nutrition has been updated for the first time since 1984 The chapter on general considerations concerning individual nutrients and water has been greatly expanded and includes for the first time equations for predicting the energy value of individual feed ingredients from their proximate composition This volume includes the latest information on the nutrient requirements of meat and egg type chickens incorporating data on brown egg strains turkeys geese ducks pheasants Japanese quail and Bobwhite quail This publication also contains new appendix tables that document in detail the scientific information used to derive the nutrient requirements appearing in the summary tables for each species of bird
