Nwea Spring 2014 Rit To Percentile Conversion

Branin Bowe, John Cronin

Nwea Spring 2014 Rit To Percentile Conversion:

Aligning the NWEA RIT Scale with the California Standards Test (CST) John Cronin, 2004 Many students who attend school in California also take paper or computerized adaptive tests developed in cooperation with the Northwest Evaluation Association NWEA These tests report student performance on a single cross grade scale which NWEA calls the RIT scale This scale was developed using Rasch scaling methodologies RIT based tests are used to inform a variety of educational decisions at the district school and classroom level They are also used to monitor academic growth of students and cohorts Districts choose whether to include these assessments in their local assessment programs They are not state mandated The versions of NWEA tests in use in California have been specifically aligned to match the content of local and California state curriculum standards Because of this it is believed there is a good match in content between the NWEA tests and the curriculum standards being used in California In order to use the two testing systems to support each other an alignment of the scores from the state and RIT based tests is as important as the curriculum alignment The current study is an expansion of a preliminary study of alignment of the California Standards Tests CST that was performed using data from one California school system in June 2003 It is one of an ongoing series of studies that are being conducted to identify the relationships between NWEA tests and state mandated assessments Studies of assessments in sixteen states have now been completed The primary questions addressed in this study are 1 To what extent do the same subject scores for the NWEA test correlate to the content similar subjects on the CST 2 What fall and spring RIT scores correspond to various performance levels on the CST tests and 3 How well can proficient performance on the California assessments be predicted from fall and spring RIT scores Contains 24 tables and 9 figures

Aligning the NWEA RIT Scale with the Maryland School Assessment (MSA) Branin Bowe, John Cronin, 2005 Recently NWEA completed a project to connect the scale of the Maryland School Assessment MSA with NWEA's RIT scale One large school system participated in the study using test information from a group of over 24 000 students enrolled in third fourth and fifth grade who took both the MSA and NWEA reading tests in the spring of 2005 Information from these tests were used in a comprehensive study to identify the capacity of the RIT scale to predict success on the MSA and to identify performance level scores on the RIT scale that would indicate a good chance of success on this test Three methodologies linear regression second order regression and Rasch status on standards called Rasch SOS were used to derive estimates of cut scores In each case the most accurate of the three estimates was used to arrive at the recommended cut score seen in this report The authors estimated cut scores for each of the performance levels at grades three four and five for reading Contains 2 figures and 4 tables

A Study of the Ongoing Alignment of the NWEA RIT Scale with the Arizona Instrument to Measure Standards (AIMS) John Cronin, Branin Bowe, 2005 Each spring Arizona students participate in testing as part of the state's assessment program Elementary and middle school students in grades 3 through 8 take the Arizona Instrument to Measure Standards Dual Purpose Assessment AIMS DPA in reading writing and mathematics

These tests serve as an important measure of student achievement for the state's accountability system. Results from these assessments are used to make state level decisions concerning education to meet Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) reporting requirements of the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB), calculate status and improvement indicators for AZ LEARNS, the state accountability system, and to inform schools and school districts of their performance. The Arizona Department of Education has developed scales that are used to assign students to one of four performance levels on these tests. Many students who attend school in Arizona also take tests developed in cooperation with the Northwest Evaluation Association (NWEA). The content of these tests are aligned with the Arizona standards and they report student performance on a single cross grade scale which NWEA calls the RIT scale. This study investigated the relationship between the scales used for the AIMS assessments and the RIT scales used to report performance on Northwest Evaluation Association tests. The study estimated the changes in reading and mathematics RIT score equivalents for the AIMS performance levels in those subjects. Test records for more than 20,000 students were included in this study. The information gathered in this study came from measures employing the NWEA RIT Scale. Because all of the research that we have to date indicates that scores generated from computer based tests and Achievement Level Test (ALT) scores are virtually interchangeable, readers should feel comfortable applying the results of this study in any setting that uses the RIT scale. Contains 14 tables and 6 figures.

Aligning the NWEA RIT Scale with the Maine Educational Assessments (MEA) John Cronin, 2004. Recently Northwest Evaluation Association (NWEA) completed a project to connect the scale of the MEA with NWEA's RIT scale. Six Maine school systems participated in the study using test information from a group of over 800 students enrolled in fourth and eighth grade who took both the MEA and NWEA reading and mathematics tests in the spring of 2004. Information from these tests was used in a comprehensive study to identify the capacity of the RIT scale to predict success on the MEA and to identify performance level scores on the RIT scale that would indicate a good chance of success on this test. Three methodologies: linear regression, second order regression, and Rasch status on standards called Rasch SOS were used to derive estimates of cut scores. In each case the most accurate of the three estimates was used to arrive at the recommended cut score seen in this report. Cut scores were estimated for each of the performance levels at grades four and eight for reading and mathematics. Contains 4 tables and 2 figures.

Aligning the NWEA RIT Scale with the South Carolina High School Assessment Program John Cronin, 2004. Each year South Carolina students participate in testing as part of the South Carolina assessment program. Students in grades 3 through 8 take the Palmetto Achievement Challenge Tests (PACT) in English Language Arts and Mathematics. Students in grade 10 take the High School Assessment Program (HSAP) in English Language Arts and mathematics. These tests serve as an important measure of student achievement for the state's accountability system. Results from these assessments are used to make state level decisions concerning education to meet Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) reporting requirements of the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB) and to inform schools and school districts of their performance In addition students must achieve Level 2 performance on the HSAP in order to graduate from high school The South Carolina Department of Education has developed scales that are used to assign students to one of four performance levels on the HSAP Level 2 is considered the level that represents passing performance Many students who attend school in South Carolina also take tests developed in cooperation with the Northwest Evaluation Association NWEA These tests report student performance on a single cross grade scale which NWEA calls the RIT scale This study investigated the relationship between the scales used for the HSAP assessments and the RIT scales used to report performance on NWEA tests The study determined the reading language usage and mathematics RIT score equivalents for the HSAP performance levels in English Language Arts and Mathematics Test records for more than 3 500 students were included in this study Three methods generated an estimate of RIT cut scores that could be used to project HSAP performance levels Rasch SOS methods generally produced the most accurate cut score estimates Accuracy of predicting HSAP passing performance was above 88% for all subjects when using the best methodology Type I errors never ranged above 6% when the best methodology was employed Contains 12 tables and figures
