Fresh Kills Martin V. Melosi, 2020-01-28 Fresh Kills a monumental 2 200 acre site on Staten Island was once the world s largest landfill From 1948 to 2001 it was the main receptacle for New York City s refuse After the 9 11 attacks it reopened briefly to receive human remains and rubble from the destroyed Twin Towers turning a notorious disposal site into a cemetery Today a mammoth reclamation project is transforming the landfill site constructing an expansive park three times the size of Central Park Martin V Melosi provides a comprehensive chronicle of Fresh Kills that offers new insights into the growth and development of New York City and the relationship among consumption waste and disposal He traces the metamorphoses of the landscape following it from salt marsh to landfill to cemetery and looks ahead to the future park By centering the problem of solid waste disposal Melosi highlights the unwanted consequences of mass consumption He presents the Fresh Kills space as an embodiment of massive waste linking consumption to the continuing presence of its discards Melosi also uses the landfill as a lens for understanding Staten Island s history and its relationship with greater New York City The first book on the history of the iconic landfill Fresh Kills unites environmental political and cultural history to offer a reflection on material culture consumer practices and perceptions of value and worthlessness

Public Administration and Nonprofit Management in Practice Aimee L. Williamson, Marc Holzer, 2025-10-01 This insightful text edited by two renowned experts provides students of public administration and nonprofit management with a collection of relevant global case studies and corresponding activities The chapters are structured around common themes and concepts across the field including the foundations of public administration managing people and administering public services and improving efficiency and efficacy The cases which are derived from countries around the world focus on building the knowledge skills and abilities needed by public and nonprofit administrators globally providing a much needed supplement to many of the introductory texts in public administration Each case is contextualized

by a short synopsis reflective questions references further reading and learning activities The compact case format helps students focus on a specific area of public management with organization by chapter giving instructors choices among cases and the ability to group related topics The discussion questions in the cases will develop students analytical thinking of real scenarios for the application of course content Public Administration and Nonprofit Management in Practice should be used as either core or recommended reading for courses on public and nonprofit management at both the undergraduate and graduate levels including Master of Public Administration MPA courses and related degree programmes Instructors will find comprehensive teaching notes online to support this case based approach to learning

Waste Works Brenda Chalfin, 2023-03-06 In Waste Works Brenda Chalfin examines Ghana's planned city of Tema theorizing about the formative role of waste infrastructure in urban politics and public life Chalfin argues that at Tema's midcentury founding a prime objective of governing authorities was to cultivate self-contained citizens by means of tightly orchestrated domestic infrastructure and centralized control of bodily excrement to both develop and depoliticize the new nation Comparing infrastructural innovations across the city Chalfin excavates how Tema residents pursue novel approaches to urban waste and sanitation built on the ruins of the inherited order profoundly altering the urban public sphere Once decreed a private matter to be guaranteed by state authorities excrement becomes a public issue collectively managed by private persons Pushing self-care into public space and extending domestic responsibility for public well-being and bodily outputs popularly devised waste infrastructures are a decisive arena to make claims build coalitions and cultivate status Confounding high modernist ideals excremental infrastructures unlock bodily waste's diverse political potentials Oxford Textbook of Global Public Health Roger Detels, Quarraisha Abdool Karim, Fran Baum, Liming Li, Alastair H. Leyland, 2022 Invaluable for all practitioners trainees and students of public health and epidemiology the Oxford Textbook of Global Public Health covers the scope methods and practice of public health and has been comprehensively updated for its seventh edition Governance for Urban Services Shabbir Cheema, 2020-03-02 This book examines three vital issues in urbanization and democratization the institutional structures and processes of urban local governance to improve access to urban services their outcomes in relation to low-income groups access to services citizen participation in local governance accountability of local leaders and officials and transparency in local governance and the factors that influence access to urban services especially for the poor and marginalized groups Further it describes decentralization policies views of the residents of slums on the effectiveness of government programs and innovations in inclusive local governance and access to urban services The Human Face of Water Security David Devlaeminck, Zafar Adeel, Robert Sandford, 2017-03-09 This volume collects essays from academics and practitioners from a diversity of areas and perspectives in order to discuss water security at various levels and to illuminate the central idea of water security its focus on the individual Beginning with the big picture this book aims to illustrate the depth of the water security crisis and its interconnections with other aspects of societal development It particularly draws a connection to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and discusses that challenges faced in meeting the 17 sustainability development goals SDG by the year 2030 Moving from international to domestic and community perspectives this book provides a unique analysis of issues and solutions to the water issues we face today in light of the ever looming global changes brought on by climate change Over the past few decades the recognition of our common need for water has increased as policymakers have sought to place more focus on the individual within policy After the recognition of water and sanitation as a fundamental human right by the United Nations General Assembly in 2010 there is increasing recognition of the individual as the building block for the struggle for water security This reality also intersects with adverse impacts of global climate change and the book responds to the broader question will clean and safe water be available where we need it and when we need it in the future

Community Management of Rural Water Supply Paul Hutchings, Richard Franceys, Stef Smits, Snehalatha Mekala, 2017-07-14 The supply of reliable and safe water is a key challenge for developing countries particularly India Community management has long been the declared model for rural water supply and is recognised to be critical for its implementation and success Based on 20 detailed successful case studies from across India this book outlines future rural water supply approaches for all lower income countries as they start to follow India on the economic growth and subsequent service levels transition The case studies cover state level wealth varying from US 2 600 to US 10 000 GDP per person and a mix of gravity flow single village and multi village groundwater and surface water schemes The research reported covers 17 states and surveys of 2 400 households Together they provide a spread of cases directly relevant to policy makers in lower income economies planning to upgrade the quality and sustainability of rural water supply to meet the Sustainable Development Goals particularly in the context of economic growth

Bracing for the Apocalypse Anna Maria Bounds, 2020-06-04 Increasing American fear about terrorism environmental catastrophes pandemics and economic crises has fueled interest in prepping confronting disaster by mastering survivalist skills This trend of self reliance is not merely evidence of the American belief in the power of the individual rather this pragmatic shift away from expecting government aid during a disaster reflects a weakened belief in the bond between government and its citizens during a time of crisis This ethnographic study explores the rise of the urban preppers subculture in New York City shedding light on the distinctive approach of city dwellers in preparing for disaster With attention to the role of factors such as class race gender and one's expectations of government it shows that how one imagines Doomsday affects how one prepares for it Drawing on participant observation the author explores preppers views on the central question of whether to bug out or hunker down in the event of disaster and examines the ways in which the prepper economy increases revenue by targeting concerns over developing skills building networks securing equipment and arranging a safe locale A rich qualitative study Bracing for the Apocalypse will appeal to scholars of sociology and anthropology with interests in urban studies ethnography and subcultures
