To End All Suffering Michael Collender, 2014-03-17 Both Buddhism and the Christian gospel promise the ending of suffering However each defines and interprets morality compassion proof and truth according to starkly different worldviews This is why adjudicating rival claims between these religions has proven so difficult Two alternate approaches have emerged treating religious claims as mere personal opinions or postulating some higher standard outside of religion to which each religion must submit However both of these approaches to comparative religious research implicitly deny that any religion can present a story about the totality of reality including ultimate standards for proof and truth This book takes a different approach entirely demonstrating a way that religions can self critically engage one another using their own respective standards Within this framework early Buddhist philosophy and the Christian faith enter into philosophical dialogue In the process To End All Suffering pointedly demonstrates that on its own terms Buddhism cannot account for the very doctrines necessary to show that the Buddha's teachings end suffering Written primarily for Christians and Buddhists interested in interreligious dialogue To End All Suffering is a course book suitable for individual study or for college or seminary courses in comparative philosophy or
