Noémi Cantin, 2021-12-01T00:00:00-05:00 Devant la demande grandissante d'ergothérapeutes en milieu scolaire dans un contexte sans cadre ni politique ministérielle, comment s'assurer que nos étudiants en ergothérapie auront les connaissances nécessaires pour assumer pleinement ce rôle novateur dans un réseau autre que celui de la santé? Comment démontrer le potentiel de l'ergothérapie aux décideurs du réseau scolaire? Ce livre est la résultante d'une réflexion engendrée par une communauté d'ergothérapeutes désireux de partager et d'affiner leurs expériences en milieu scolaire. La première section du livre installe les bases en présentant l'influence du contexte social et du contexte de pratique sur l'exercice de l'ergothérapie. Une vision d'ensemble du contexte dans lequel s'insère le milieu scolaire est présentée, ce qui permet de transposer le contenu de ce livre à l'extérieur du Canada afin d'aborder l'application des connaissances dans d'autres pays de la francophonie. La deuxième section du livre s'oriente plus particulièrement sur les besoins pour lesquels on sollicite l'expertise des ergothérapeutes en milieu scolaire, soit les activités scolaires, la critique des activités de la vie quotidienne, la participation sociale et les déplacements en transport scolaire. Ces chapitres écrits par des ergothérapeutes ayant de l'expérience en milieu scolaire comportent une présentation théorique des activités qui la composent, suivie de la démonstration concrète de la mise en œuvre d'un processus de pratique à l'aide d'une situation clinique réelle. En cohérence avec l'analyse des données probantes, une organisation de services par paliers multiples est mise de l'avant. Finalement, des annexes regorgeant de ressources sont offertes afin de nourrir la réflexion des ergothérapeutes désireux d'aller plus loin. Noémi Cantin est ergothérapeute professeure agrégée au Département d'ergothérapie de l'Université du Québec Trois-Rivières UQTR et directrice pédagogique de la Clinique multidisciplinaire en santé. Elle a commencé sa carrière il y a 20 ans en tant qu'ergothérapeute en milieu scolaire en Ontario. Depuis son arrivée à l'UQTR, elle a collaboré à l'élaboration de stages et de projets de recherche ciblant particulièrement l'ergothérapie.
