Ecoinformatics Tools in Environmental Science Vladimir F. Krapivin, Costas A. Varotsos, Vladimir Yu. Soldatov, 2015-01-24

This book provides new insights on the study of global environmental changes using the ecoinformatics tools and the adaptive evolutionary technology of geoinformation monitoring. The main advantage of this book is that it gathers and presents extensive interdisciplinary expertise in the parameterization of global biogeochemical cycles and other environmental processes in the context of globalization and sustainable development. In this regard, the crucial global problems concerning the dynamics of the nature-society system are considered and the key problems of ensuring the system's sustainable development are studied. A new approach to the numerical modeling of the nature-society system is proposed and results are provided on modeling the dynamics of the system's characteristics with regard to scenarios of anthropogenic impacts on biogeochemical cycles, land ecosystems and oceans. The main purpose of this book is to develop a universal guide to information modeling technologies for assessing the function of environmental subsystems under various climatic and anthropogenic conditions.

Marine Science & Technology in China: A Roadmap to 2050 Jianhai Xiang, 2010-08-04. As one of the eighteen field-specific reports comprising the comprehensive scope of the strategic general report of the Chinese Academy of Sciences, this sub-report addresses long-range planning for developing science and technology in the field of marine science. They each craft a roadmap for their sphere of development to 2050. In their entirety, the general and sub-group reports analyze the evolution and laws governing the development of science and technology, describe the decisive impact of science and technology on the modernization process, predict that the world is on the eve of an impending S-T revolution and call for China to be fully prepared for this new round of S-T advancement. Based on the detailed study of the demands on S-T innovation in China's modernization, the reports draw a framework for eight basic and strategic systems of socio-economic development with the support of science and technology, work out China's S-T roadmaps for the relevant eight basic and strategic systems in line with China's reality, further detail S-T initiatives of strategic importance to China's modernization and provide S-T decision makers with comprehensive consultations for the development of S-T innovation consistent with China's reality. Supported by illustrations and tables of data, the reports provide researchers, government officials and entrepreneurs with guidance concerning research directions, the planning process and investment. Founded in 1949, the Chinese Academy of Sciences is the nation's highest academic institution in natural sciences. Its major responsibilities are to conduct research in basic and technological sciences, to undertake nationwide integrated surveys on natural resources and ecological environment to provide the country with scientific data and consultations for government's decision making, to undertake government assigned projects with regard to key S-T problems in the process of socio-economic development, to initiate personnel training and to promote China's high-tech enterprises through its active engagement in these areas. Journal of
