Review of Miss Peabody's Inheritance, 1984 Description of this uniquely witty Australian novel Homemaking Catherine Wiley, Fiona R. Barnes, 2021-11-18 First published in 1996 The present volume Homemaking Women Writers and the Politics and Poetics of Home enters the critical discourse on gender by way of two of its most pressing issues the politics of women's locations at the end of the twentieth century and the division of experience into public and private That the emergence of systematic feminist thought in the west coincided with the invention of private life should not surprise us Feminist thinkers from Mary Wollstonecrofton were quick to realize that the designation of the public and the private male and female was key to the subordination of women Fiction and the Figures of Life - Miss Peabody's Inheritance, 1987 Part of course book for Literary Processes an open campus program offered by Deakin University Large part of course focuses on Miss Peabody's Inheritance Postcolonial Con-Texts John Thieme, 2002-03-01 In recent years works such as Jean Rhys's Wide Sargasso Sea J M Coetzee's Foe and Peter Carey's Jack Maggs which write back to classic English texts have attracted considerable attention as offering a paradigm for the relationship between post colonial writing and the canon Thieme's study provides a broad overview of such writing focusing both on responses to texts that have frequently been associated with the colonial project or the construction of race The Tempest Robinson Crusoe Heart of Darkness and Othello and texts where the interaction between culture and imperialism is slightly less overt Great Expectations Jane Eyre and Wuthering Heights The post colonial con texts examined are located within their particular social and cultural backgrounds with emphasis on the different forms their responses to their pre texts take and the extent to which they create their own discursive space Using Edward Said's models of filiative relationships and affiliative identifications the book argues that writing back is seldom adversarial rather that it operates along a continuum between complicity and oppositionality that dismantles hierarchical positioning It also suggests that post colonial appropriations of canonical pre texts frequently generate re readings of their originals It concludes by considering the implications of this argument for discussions of

identity politics and literary genealogies more generally Authors examined include Chinua Achebe Margaret Atwood Kamau Brathwaite Peter Carey J M Coetzee Robertson Davies Wilson Harris Elizabeth Jolley Robert Kroetsch George Lamming Margaret Laurence Pauline Melville V S Naipaul Caryl Phillips Ngugi wa Thiong'o Jean Rhys Salman Rushdie Djanet Sears Sam Selvon Olive Senior Jane Urquhart and Derek Walcott The Cambridge Guide to Women's Writing in English Lorna Sage, 1999-09-30 This Guide aims to consolidate and epitomise the re-reading of women's writing that has gone on in the last twenty-five years This is an opportunity for stock-taking a timely project when so much writing has been rediscovered reclaimed and republished There are entries on writers on individual texts and on general terms genres and movements all printed in a single alphabetical sequence The earliest written documents in medieval English the visionary writings of Julian of Norwich and Margery Kempe are covered in an historical and geographical sweep that takes us up to the present day The book reflects the spread of literacy the history of colonisation and the development of post-colonial cultures using and changing the English language The entries are written by contributors from all the countries covered The result is a work of reference with a unique feeling for the vitality wealth and diversity of women's writing Rewriting God Elaine Lindsay, 2021-11-22 Women are rarely if ever mentioned in commentaries upon Australian Christianity and spirituality Only exceptional women are recognized as authorities on religious matters Why is this so Does it matter Don't people from the same religious tradition share similar experiences of the divine regardless of their gender Rewriting God asks whether women have been writing about the divine and whether their insights are different from those contained in malestream accounts of Australian Christianity and spirituality An analysis of the writings of popular theologians and religious commentators over the last twenty years suggests that the most popular form of spirituality among Australian theologians is Desert Spirituality An analysis of women's autobiographical writings however suggests that the desert is irrelevant to many women's spiritual experiences This book through a close investigation of the fictions of Thea Astley Elizabeth Jolley and Barbara Hanrahan attempts to posit alternative forms of women's spirituality and to signal ways in which this spirituality is already being expressed From the evidence gathered here it becomes obvious that traditional expressions of Australian Christianity and spirituality are gender-specific and that they have functioned to deny women's religious experiences and to silence their claims to equality in the sight and service of the divine It becomes obvious too that women have been developing their own forms of religious expression and that these may be expected to supplant gradually withering images of Desert Spirituality Whether this new imagery will strengthen Australian Christianity or whether it merely marks a decline in the authority of Christianity remains a moot point Crosstalk Diana Brydon, Marta Dvořák, 2012-08-07 What are the fictions that shape Canadian engagements with the global What frictions emerge from these encounters In negotiating aesthetic and political approaches to Canadian cultural production within contexts of global circulation this collection argues for the value of attending to narratorial lyric and theatrical conventions in dialogue with questions of epistemological and social justice
