Transforming Tales Miranda Griffin, 2015 Transforming Tales argues that the study of transformation is crucial for understanding a wide range of canonical work in medieval French literature From the lais and Arthurian romances of the twelfth and thirteenth centuries through the Roman de la Rose and its widespread influence to the fourteenth century Ovide moralise and the vast prose cycles of the late Middle Ages metamorphosis is a recurrent theme resulting in some of the best known and most powerful literature of the era Transforming Tales is the first book in English to explore in detail the importance of ideas of metamorphosis in French literature from the twelfth to the fifteenth centuries This book's purpose is twofold it traces a series of figures the werewolf the snake woman the nymph the magician amongst others as they are transformed within individual texts and it also examines the way in which the stories of transformation themselves become rewritten during the course of the Middle Ages Griffin's approach combines close readings and comparisons of literary texts with readings informed by modern critical theories which are grounded in many of the ideas raised by medieval metamorphosis the body gender identity and categories of life Literary depictions and reworkings of transformation raise questions about medieval understandings of the differences between human and animal man and woman God and man life and death these are the questions explored in Transforming Tales How Not to Make a Human Karl Steel, 2019-12-24 From pet keeping to sky burials a posthuman and ecocritical interrogation of and challenge to human particularity in medieval texts Mainstream medieval thought like much of mainstream modern thought habitually argued that because humans alone had language reason and immortal souls all other life was simply theirs for the taking But outside this scholarly consensus teemed a host of other ways to imagine the shared worlds of humans and nonhumans How Not to Make a Human engages with these nonsystematic practices and thought to challenge both human particularity and the notion that agency free will and rationality are the defining characteristics of being human Recuperating the Middle Ages as a lost opportunity for decentering humanity Karl Steel provides a posthuman and ecocritical interrogation of a wide range of medieval texts Exploring such diverse topics as medieval pet keeping stories of feral and isolated children the ecological implications of funeral practices and the bare life of oysters from a variety of disanthropic perspectives Steel furnishes contemporary posthumanists with overlooked cultural models to challenge human and other supremacies at their roots By collecting beliefs and practices outside the mainstream of medieval thought How Not to Make a Human connects contemporary concerns with ecology animal life and rethinkings of what it means to be human to uncanny materials that emphasize matters of death violence edibility and vulnerability The Ashgate Research Companion to Monsters and the Monstrous Asa Simon Mittman, Peter J. Dendle, 2017-02-24 The field of monster studies has grown significantly over the past few years and this companion provides a comprehensive guide to the study of monsters and the monstrous from historical regional and thematic perspectives The collection reflects the truly multi disciplinary nature of monster studies bringing in scholars from literature art history religious studies history classics and cultural and media studies The companion will offer scholars and graduate students the first comprehensive and authoritative review of this emergent field A Guidebook to Monsters Ryan J. Stark, 2024-02-23 Ryan J Stark surveys the classic monsters in great literature and film television the Bible and perhaps unexpectedly the world in which we live Monsterdom is real Stark observes but often hidden beneath the concealment spell of modern secular thought This guidebook aims to break that spell and if so to confirm once more a world that brims with high strangeness or what Christian philosophers have always called reality The book appeals to those who study the paranormal dimensions of religion and horror broadly imagined The clergy will also find it helpful as will players of monster riddled video games The Company of Wolves James Gracey, 2017-08-01 Co written by Irish filmmaker Neil Jordan and British novelist Angela Carter and based on several short stories from Carter's collection The Bloody Chamber The Company of Wolves 1984 is a provocative reinvention of the fairy tale of Little Red Riding Hood Unraveling a feverish metaphor for the blossoming of a young girl's sexuality and her subsequent loss of innocence the film entwines symbolism and metaphor with striking visuals and grisly effects Released in the early 1980s a time which produced several classic werewolf films including An American Werewolf in London and The Howling The Company of Wolves sets itself apart from the pack with its overtly literary roots feminist stance and art house leanings The film's narrative takes the form of a puzzle box unfolding as dreams within dreams and stories within stories which lead further into the dark woods of the protagonist's psyche as she finds herself on the cusp of womanhood This Devil's Advocate explores all these aspects as well as placing the film in the context of the careers of its creators and its position as an example of the Female Gothic

Animal Encounters Susan Crane, 2012-11-29 Traces of the living animal run across the entire corpus of medieval writing and reveal how pervasively animals mattered in medieval thought and practice In fascinating scenes of cross species encounters a raven offers St Cuthbert a lump of lard that waterproofs his visitor's boots for a whole year a scholar finds inspiration for his studies in his cat's perfect focus on killing mice and a dispossessed knight wins back his heritage only to give it up again in order to save the life of his warhorse Readers have often taken such encounters to be merely figurative or fanciful but Susan Crane discovers that these scenes of interaction are firmly grounded in the intimate cohabitation with animals that characterized every medieval milieu from palace to village The animal encounters of medieval literature reveal their full meaning only when we recover the living animal's place within the written animal The grip of a certain humanism was strong in medieval Britain as it is today the humanism that conceives animals in diametrical opposition to humankind Yet medieval writing was far from univocal in this regard Latin and vernacular works abound in other ways of thinking about animals that invite the saint the scholar and the knight to explore how bodies and minds interpenetrate across species lines Crane brings these other ways of thinking to light in her readings of the beast fable the hunting treatise the saint's life the bestiary and other genres Her substantial contribution to the field of animal studies investigates how animals and people interact in culture making how conceiving the animal is integral to conceiving the human and how cross species encounters transform both their animal and their human participants

Dystopia Gregory Claeys, 2017 Dystopia A Natural History is the first monograph devoted to the concept of dystopia Taking the term to encompass both a literary tradition of satirical works mostly on totalitarianism as well as real despotisms and societies in a state of disastrous collapse this volume redefines the central concepts and the chronology of the genre and offers a paradigm shifting understanding of the subject Part One assesses the theory and prehistory of dystopia By contrast to utopia conceived as promoting an ideal of friendship defined as enhanced sociability dystopia is defined by estrangement fear and the proliferation of enemy categories A natural history of dystopia thus concentrates upon the centrality of the passion or emotion of fear and hatred in modern despotisms The work of Le Bon Freud and others is used to show how dystopian groups use such emotions Utopia and dystopia are portrayed not as opposites but as extremes on a spectrum of sociability defined by a heightened form of group identity The prehistory of the process whereby enemies are demonised is explored from early conceptions of monstrosity through Christian conceptions of the devil and witchcraft and the persecution of heresy Part Two surveys the major dystopian moments in twentieth century despotisms focussing in particular upon Nazi Germany Stalinism the Chinese Cultural Revolution and Cambodia under Pol Pot The concentration here is upon the political religion hypothesis as a key explanation for the chief excesses of communism in particular Part Three examines literary dystopias It commences well before the usual starting point in the secondary literature in anti Jacobin writings of the 1790s Two chapters address the main twentieth century texts usually studied as representative of the genre Aldous Huxley s Brave New World and George Orwell s Nineteen Eighty Four The remainder of the section examines the evolution of the genre in the second half of the twentieth century down to the present

Satanic Feminism Per Faxneld, 2017-08-24 The notion of woman as the Devil s accomplice is prominent throughout Christian history and was used to legitimize the subordination of wives and daughters In the nineteenth century rebellious females performed counter readings of this misogynist tradition and Lucifer was reconceptualized as a feminist liberator Per Faxneld shows how this surprising Satanic feminism was expressed in a wide range of nineteenth century texts and artistic productions
