The Natural Resources Trap Federico Sturzenegger,2010 Volatility in commodity prices has been accompanied by perpetual renegotiation of contracts between private investors in natural resource production and the governments of states with mineral and energy wealth When prices skyrocket governments want a larger share of revenues sometimes to the point of nationalization or expropriation when prices fall larger state participation becomes a burden and the private sector is called back in Recent and newsworthy changes in the price of oil which fell from an all time high of 147 in mid 2008 to 40 by year s end are notable for their speed and the steepness of their rise and fall but the up and down pattern itself is not unusual If the unpredictability of commodity prices is so predictable why do contracts not allow for this with mechanisms that would provide a more stable commercial framework
