

Human Population Growth

Objective: Create a graph of human population growth and use it to predict future growth and identify factors that affect population growth.

Year	Number of People (in billions)
1450	.50
1750	.70
1850	1.0
1925	2.0
1959	2.5
1985	3.3
1970	3.6
1979	4.0
1980	4.4
1991	5.5
2000	6.0
2004	6.5
2012	7.5

Instructions for creating your graph:

- Place time on the horizontal axis. Values should range from 1450 to 2050.
- Place number of people on the vertical axis. Values should range from 0 to 1.5 billion.
- Make sure that your graph is a full page in size and you have the correct labels for the X and Y axis.
- Create a title for your graph.

Analysis (use your graph to answer the following):

1. It took 1549 years for the world population to double, going from .25 billion people to .50 billion people.
How long did it take for the population to double once again? _____
2. How long did it take for the population to double a second time? _____ A third time? _____
3. Use a different color to extend your graph to the year 2015.
In what year will the population reach 1.0 billion? _____
4. Based on your graph, how many years will it take for the population of 2000 to double? _____
5. The graph illustrates exponential growth. Based on the properties of this graph, what does this term mean?

Climate Change Denial and Public Relations Núria Almiron, Jordi Xifra, 2019-06-26 This is the first book on climate change denial and lobbying that combines the ideology of denial and the role of anthropocentrism in the study of interest groups and communication strategy Climate Change Denial and Public Relations Strategic Communication and Interest Groups in Climate Inaction is a critical approach to climate change denial from a strategic communication perspective The book aims to provide an in depth analysis of how strategic communication by interest groups is contributing to climate change inaction. It does this from a multidisciplinary perspective that expands the usual approach of climate change denialism and introduces a critical reflection on the roots of the problem including the ethics of the denialist ideology and the rhetoric and role of climate change advocacy. Topics addressed include the power of persuasive narratives and discourses constructed to support climate inaction by lobbies and think tanks, the dominant human supremacist view and the patriarchal roots of denialists and advocates of climate change alike, the knowledge coalitions of the climate think tank networks, the denial strategies related to climate change of the nuclear oil and agri-food lobbies, the role of public relations firms, the anthropocentric roots of public relations, taboo topics such as human overpopulation and meat eating and the technological myth. This unique volume is recommended reading for students and scholars of communication and public relations.

Updating Neanderthals Francesca Romagnoli, Florent Rivals, Stefano Benazzi, 2022-06-28. Updating Neanderthals: Understanding Behavioral Complexity in the Late Middle Paleolithic provides comprehensive knowledge on Neanderthals who lived throughout the European and Asian continents. The book synthesizes historical information about the study of Middle Paleolithic populations and presents current debates about their genetics, subsistence, technology, social and cognitive behaviors. It focuses on the last phase of Neanderthal settlements and presents the main patterns of modern humans across Europe. Written by international experts on the Middle Paleolithic who have conducted innovative studies in the last three decades, this book explores the implications of interactions between different human species including Neanderthals, Denisovans and Sapiens. In addition, the book discusses the diversity and variability of human adaptations and behaviors in the changing climate and environment of the Late Pleistocene and the relationship between these behaviors, demography and cognitive capabilities. Offers a comprehensive update on the variability and diversity of Neanderthal behaviors during the Late Pleistocene. Presents an interdisciplinary reconstruction of Neanderthals by assessing archaeology, paleontology, paleoecology, anthropology, genetics and cognition. Reviews the reliability of archaeological data and the theoretical and methodological advances of the last 30 years. Discusses the most debated Neanderthal themes such as demography, diet, socio-economy and art.

Challenges and Solutions of Climate Impact on Agriculture Shah Fahad, Muhammad Adnan, Iqbal Munir, Rattan Lal, Taufiq Nawaz, Shah Saud, 2024-10-08. Challenges and Solutions of Climate Impact on Agriculture explores issues arising from the changing climate for agricultural plants with a soil-focused approach. Addressing the impacts on a range of important global food crops, it looks at issues of water and temperature and their impact on soil quality for production. Presented by a global team of experts, this book will be important for researchers seeking to understand specific challenges and means of addressing those challenges effectively and efficiently. The agriculture sector is arguably one of the most sensitive to changes in the climate. Because the climate of a region determines the nature and characteristics of vegetation and crops, any change in the mean seasonal temperature and decrease in effective precipitation can reduce productive periods for crops risking outbreaks of pests and disease and negatively affecting global food security Explains the impact of climate change on soil properties productivity and microbial diversity Provides detailed information regarding the impact of climate change on yields of cereal grains and other crops Enables agricultural scientists to design policies and management strategies for sustainable agriculture Human Biology: Ecology Craig H. Organization of the United Nations, 2022-03-20 This paper discusses how adapting food production systems to respond to consumer demand for healthier diets is a major opportunity to mitigate and adapt to climate change in agro rural economies It also addresses how existing technological solutions for climate change mitigation and adaptation need to create more balance between the production and consumption tiers of agrifood systems Policy dialogue includes managing trade offs between different sector and stakeholder interests and exploring synergies rather than focusing on exclusivity and competition This requires a new framework that goes beyond sector specific policy development Political economy issues compound the outcome of evidence based policy dialogue results For example political motivation for exporting protein rich foods may lead to negative impacts on local food sovereignty and food production for local markets In this regard the use of concrete policy dialogue tools food based dietary guidelines land use planning and discussions on a protein production strategy can facilitate a more interactive policy process The document also stresses how specific rural transformation efforts e g adopting territorial approaches for conceiving and implementing policies targeting specific producer and consumer groups strengthening resource ownership and empowering women and young people are an integral part of agrifood systems transformation Human Population Richard P. Cincotta, Larry J. Gorenflo, 2011-02-08 In this volume the dynamic patterns of human density and distribution are examined in relation to the viability of native species and the integrity of their habitats Social biological and earth scientists describe their models outline their conclusions from field studies and review the contributions of other scientists whose work is essential to this field The book starts with general theories and broad empirical relationships that help explain dramatic changes in the patterns of the occurrence of species changes that have developed in parallel with human population growth migration and settlement In the following chapters specific biomes and ecosystems are highlighted as the context for human interactions with other species A discussion of the key themes and findings covered rounds out the volume All in all the work presents our species Homo sapiens as what we truly have been and will likely remain an influential and often the most influential constituent in nearly every major ecosystem on Earth
