Some living things are dangerous to people. For example, some plants may be poisonous. If such plants are eaten one may die, children need to keep away from such plants. Some other plants have thorns. These thorns prick people. This can cause swelling and fever.

Some animals are also dangerous to people, such animals attack and kill people. They also kill domestic animals. Other animals like monkeys and rats destroy our crops. Insects like houseflies, fleas and mosquitoes spread diseases, cockroaches and termites destroy our books, crops and clothes. Bed bugs bite people. People do not feel good when these insects bite them.

Generations Past Andrew Burton,Hélène Charton-Bigot,2010-09-15 Contemporary Africa is demographically characterized above all else by its youthfulness In East Africa the median age of the population is now a striking 17 5 years and more than 65 percent of the population is age 24 or under This situation has attracted growing scholarly attention resulting in an important and rapidly expanding literature on the position of youth in African societies While the scholarship examining the contemporary role of youth in African societies is rich and growing the historical dimension has been largely neglected in the literature thus far Generations Past seeks to address this gap through a wide ranging selection of essays that covers an array of youth related themes in historical perspective Thirteen chapters explore the historical dimensions of youth in nineteenth twentieth and twenty first century Ugandan Tanzanian and Kenyan societies Key themes running through the book include the analytical utility of youth as a social category intergenerational relations and the passage of time youth as a social and political problem sex and gender roles among East African youth and youth as historical agents of change The strong list of contributors includes prominent scholars of the region and the collection encompasses a good geographical spread of all three East African countries

Paper Makers Monthly Journal ,1913 Oral Literature for Children Aaron Mushengyezi,2013 This book is the first ever major effort to document and study hundreds of texts from an African Ugandan oral culture for children folktales riddles and rhymes and at the same time to make them available in the local Languages and to focus on their cultural and national value The author surveys the history of collecting in Uganda and situates the texts in their broader geographical historical socio cultural and educational Setting including the early collecting efforts of heritage minded Ugandans and European missionaries Most of this preservational work is elusive and under explored so that the present book constitutes a major pioneering summary of Ugandan oral culture for children The book addresses key questions such as What happens when we collect transcribe and translate an oral text How do we transfer components of the oral text to the page What are the challenges of translating oral forms targeting specifi cally a child Audience and what choices ought to be made in the process The book provides possible ways of rethink ing the debate about orality and literacy as modes of representation the generic interrelationship between the oral and the written text and how the two can enter dialogue through transcription and translation The latter are effective means to archive these oral forms for children and use them to promote literacy and numeracy skills in predominantly oral communities In the current institutions of formal education in Uganda this coexistence of orality and literacy is evident in the class room environment where the oral text is turned into words on the page to encourage literacy Through transcription the collector is able to capture oral texts in other forms audio written visual and digital With the new technologies available the task is not as arduous as in the past and the information thus captured is made available in all its wealth for purposes of instruction or entertainment Uganda's Human Resource Challenge Jörg Wiegratz, 2009 Despite significant economic recovery and improved macro economic indicators since 1986 Uganda's economy continues to face considerable challenges This book analyses the relationship between economic and human resource development in the country It identifies deficits in capabilities skills know how experience linkage building and technology use as well as undesirable business practices These shortcomings limit economic diversification productivity enhancement job and income creation as well as poverty reduction The book calls for more efforts towards human resource development The current narrow mainstream economic policy focus on macro economic stability a favourable investment climate and improved physical infrastructure alone will not foster economic development and broad based well being The Ugandan people and the private sector need more state support in addition to the predominant education and health focus of the government and donors if they are to develop the required human resources More and better training enhanced learning at the place of work and an improved business culture are vital It is essential to focus on technical organisational managerial entrepreneurial learning innovative social and institutional capabilities Efforts towards dealing with these challenges will require attention to the political economic climate of the country To make the argument the author covers a wide range of topics such as training and learning technology productivity latecomer development competitiveness labour market MSMEs entrepreneurship value chains cooperation and trust and human resource management The book contains more than 130 figures tables and information boxes See more at <http://www.africanbookscollective.com/books/ugandas-human-resource-challenge-sthash4XThRHxq.dpuf>

World Yearbook of Education 1969 Joseph A. Lauwerys, David G. Scanlon, 2013-10-28 First Published in 2005 Almost everywhere policies designed to broaden access to education and to promote equality of opportunity are now pursued In consequence the importance of examinations grows since success in them determines entry to higher education and thus to professional posts They are therefore a major instrument of social mobility and promotion which affects social structure by applying criteria of selection nearly always accepted unconsciously and uncritically The aim of this text in selecting Examinations as the theme of the 1969 WORLD YEAR BOOK was to present a comparative analysis of the way in which examinations are devised administered and assessed to find out why we are examining and to look at the ways in which we examine to see if these are efficient relevant and reliable

Pillars of the Nation Kristen E. Cheney, 2008-09-15 How can children simultaneously be the most important and least powerful people in a nation In her innovative ethnography of Ugandan children the pillars of tomorrow's Uganda according to the national youth anthem Kristen E Cheney answers this question by exploring the daily contradictions children face as they try to find their places amid the country's rapidly changing social conditions Drawing on the detailed life histories of several children Cheney shows that children and childhood are being redefined by the desires of a young country struggling to position itself in the international community. She moves between urban schools, music festivals and war zones to reveal how Ugandans are constructing childhood as an empowering identity for the development of the nation. Moreover, through her analysis of children's rights ideology, national government strategy and children's everyday concerns, Cheney also shows how these young citizens are vitally linked to the global political economy as they navigate the pitfalls and possibilities for a brighter tomorrow.

The Broken Promise Mabior P. Mach, 2017-06-16. Makeer is a man of high hopes. Intelligent and educated, he is a teacher in Sudan when he leaves his home and family for the bush to fight for freedom and human dignity. At home, his sons must fight their own battles as violence and death by malnutrition increase. Yet nothing is quite as horrific as the way man treats man in the African battle for peace. The Broken Promise is based on the true terrors of the Sudanese Civil War. Fighting for the prosperity of his country, Makeer is blindsided by the hypocrisy of his leaders while dodging bullets and watching his family die. He finds strength in moments of hope mixed with intense despair but is hope enough to keep him fighting while the world goes mad. Makeer might glimpse ultimate victory, touch for a moment high ideals and morality, but he soon comes face to face with blackmail and murder in South Sudan. A new country he helped carve out of the Sudan War is a thing of corruption and betrayal which Makeer learns first-hand. However, he fights onward, proving that no amount of suffering will ever suppress the quest for human dignity.

Corporate Social Responsibility in Rising Economies Nayan Mitra, René Schmidpeter, 2021-02-08. Emerging economies arguably have different socio-fiscal dynamics compared to developed economies. On one side, they have the need for corporate interventions in national development; on the other hand, they do not have enough research to support the agenda. In recent times, there has been a conscious effort to legislate Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) in some of these countries in order to bring about sustainable development. Yet it is this legislation which is debated among many others. This book provides its readers with a comprehensive interpretation of the various CSR perspectives in emerging economies through academic research and case studies from practice. It not only points out the challenges, the debates, but also the dynamics of implementation and the impact of such CSR spent. This book therefore is targeted both towards academics as well as practitioners in an attempt to bring about an active academic-industry interface as CSR as a management function is part of dynamic social science.

Catholic Schools 2000 I. F. Kasibante, 2001.

(Re)Constructing Memory: Education, Identity, and Conflict Michelle J. Bellino, James H. Williams, 2017-02-08. How do schools protect young people and call on the youngest citizens to respond to violent conflict and division operating outside and sometimes within school walls? What kinds of curricular representations of conflict contribute to the construction of national identity and what kinds of encounters challenge presumed boundaries between us and them? Through contemporary and historical case studies drawn from Cambodia, Egypt, Northern Ireland, Peru, and Rwanda among others, this collection explores how societies experiencing armed conflict and its aftermath imagine education as a space for forging collective identity peace and stability and national citizenship In some contexts the erasure of conflict and the homogenization of difference are central to shaping national identities and attitudes In other cases collective memory of conflict functions as a central organizing frame through which citizenship and national identity are re constructed with embedded messages about who belongs and how social belonging is achieved The essays in this volume illuminate varied and complex inter relationships between education conflict and national identity while accounting for ways in which policymakers teachers youth and community members replicate resist and transform conflict through everyday interactions in educational spaces
