Miles Aldridge I Only Want You To Love Me:

Miles Aldridge Miles Aldridge, 2013 The first monograph from the brilliant fashion photographer Miles Aldridge With a cinematic approach to fashion photography Miles Aldridge creates singular scenes with psychologically complex characters in surreal and fantastic settings His brilliant candy colored images engage viewers with an appealing mix of overt sexuality and sweetness No detail is left uncovered in his eye popping erotically charged fashion photographs which transform slightly sordid scenarios into acid hued glamour Each photograph is a complex world unto itself and these lush images invite viewers to linger for there is always something else to see some deeper layer of meaning to uncover Including hand drawn storyboards that Aldridge uses to fix the idea of a shoot in his mind as well as previously unpublished material this monograph is filled with intimate insight into the photographer's point of view and process With deliciously naughty scenes and lushly evocative photography this book lures readers into Aldridge's irresistible world Miles Aldridge Ian

Love Renata Grossi, David West, 2017-03-31 Undoubtedly Romantic love has come to saturate our culture and is often considered to be a or even the major existential goal of our lives capable of providing us with both our sense of worth and way of being in the world The Radicalism of Romantic Love interrogates the purported radicalism of Romantic love from philosophical cultural and psychoanalytic perspectives exploring whether it is a subversive force capable of breaking down entrenched social political and cultural norms and structures or whether in spite of its role in the fight against certain barriers it is in fact a highly conservative impulse Exploring both the grounds for the central place of Romantic love in contemporary lives and the meaning extent and nature of its supposed radicalism this volume considers love from a variety of theoretical perspectives with attention to matters of gender sexuality class and ethnicity With authors examining a range of questions including the role of love in the same sex marriage debate polyamory and the notion of love as a political force The Radicalism of Romantic Love illuminates a fundamental but perplexing aspect of our contemporary lives and will appeal to scholars across the social sciences and humanities with interests in the emotions and love as a social and political phenomenon Depressive Love Emma Engdahl, 2018-01-19 Love and depression are key elements in the cultural script of emotions or affectual life within contemporary Western society and the two have become intertwined to such an extent that it is informative to talk about depressive love. Indeed the most common source of depression is intimate relationships in which one partner is not recognised by the other as being in need or worthy of loving care. This book addresses the question of how it is possible for opposite emotional experiences such as love and depression to appear simultaneously empirically documenting the phenomenon of depressive love and its implications through studies of art including music literature and photography and the experiences of everyday life by way of interviews and the analysis of e mail sms messenger correspondence and other new media spaces. Engaging with a range of sociological psychoanalytic and philosophical theories of love depression and emotion including the work of Simmel Alberoni Barthes Hochschild Giddens Luhmann Beck and Beck Gernsheim Illouz Bauman Hegel Honneth Ehrenberg Han L. Vinas Sartre Freud Lacan and Kristeva to name but a few the author examines the ways in which depressive love is expressed in modern society asking whether it is a new phenomenon and confined to the West and if not what is distinctive about depressive love and its associated dysfunctions in contemporary Western society. An empirically rich and theoretically broad study of depressive love as a sign of our times this book will appeal to scholars and students of social theory and the sociology and philosophy of emotion and interpersonal relationships.
