Mind Beyond Brain David E. Presti, 2018-10-02 Among the most profound questions we confront are the nature of what and who we are as conscious beings and how the human mind relates to the rest of what we consider reality For millennia philosophers scientists and religious thinkers have attempted answers perhaps none more meaningful today than those offered by neuroscience and by Buddhism The encounter between these two worldviews has spurred ongoing conversations about what science and Buddhism can teach each other about mind and reality In Mind Beyond Brain the neuroscientist David E Presti with the assistance of other distinguished researchers explores how evidence for anomalous phenomena such as near death experiences apparent memories of past lives apparitions experiences associated with death and other so called psi or paranormal phenomena including telepathy clairvoyance and precognition can influence the Buddhism science conversation Presti describes the extensive but frequently unacknowledged history of scientific investigation into these phenomena demonstrating its relevance to questions about consciousness and reality The new perspectives opened up if we are willing to take evidence of such often off limits topics seriously offer significant challenges to dominant explanatory paradigms and raise the prospect that we may be poised for truly revolutionary developments in the scientific investigation of mind Mind Beyond Brain represents the next level in the science and Buddhism dialogue

Sixty Upaniṣads of the Veda Paul Deussen,1980-01-01 Waking, Dreaming, Being Evan Thompson,2014-11-18 A renowned philosopher of the mind also known for his groundbreaking work on Buddhism and cognitive science Evan Thompson combines the latest neuroscience research on sleep dreaming and meditation with Indian and Western philosophy of mind casting new light on the self and its relation to the brain Thompson shows how the self is a changing process not a static thing When we are awake we identify with our body but if we let our mind wander or daydream we project a mentally imagined self into the remembered past or anticipated future As we fall asleep the impression of being a bounded self distinct from the world dissolves but the self reappears in the dream state If we have a lucid dream we no longer identify only with the self within the dream Our sense of self now includes our dreaming self the I as dreamer Finally as we meditate either in the waking state or in a lucid dream we can observe whatever images or thoughts arise and how we tend to identify with them as me We can also experience sheer awareness itself distinct from the changing contents that make up our image of the self Contemplative traditions say that we can learn to let go of the self so that when we die we can witness its dissolution with equanimity Thompson weaves together neuroscience philosophy and personal narrative to depict these transformations adding uncommon depth to life s profound questions Contemplative experience comes to illuminate scientific findings and scientific evidence enriches the vast knowledge acquired by contemplatives
