Negotiating Hospitality Emily Höckert, 2018-05-11. How do hosts and guests welcome each other in responsible encounters? This book addresses the question in a longitudinal ethnographic study on tourism development in the coffee-cultivating communities in Nicaragua. The research follows the trail of development practitioners and researchers who travel with a desire to help teach and study the local hosts. On a broader level, it is a journey exploring how the conditions of hospitality become negotiated between these actors. The theoretical approach bases itself on the ethical subjectivity as responsibility and receptivity towards the other. The ideas put forward in the book suggest that hospitality, responsibility and participation all require a readiness to interrupt one's own ways of doing, knowing and being. This book provides a conceptual tool to facilitate reflection on alternative ways of doing, togetherness and will be of interest to students and researchers of hospitality, tourism, development studies, cultural studies and anthropology.

their homes like no other There is one common denominator linking the above mentioned features of contemporary music festivals namely the world of values This is evident from the non accidental locations festivals spaces design planning and the line ups created consciously with great care The organisers missions logos and other symbolic organisational artefacts communicate specific values These values are explicitly mentioned by artists and audiences they can be easily identified in online forums and media reports participant behaviour festival rituals and additional festival programs are shaped on the basis of values and cooperation is built between the festival and the local community As the reader will quickly realize numbers and statistics sit alongside descriptions and quotations in this book and the organisers statements are accompanied by the opinions of academics but above all the festival audience is given a voice both through quotations and their drawings This voice is by no means uniform as it turned out that research into values was often transformed into a pretext for spinning tales about one s life situation one s political preferences and one s understanding of freedom and responsibility Memories were mixed with declarations joy with regret curses with dreams prose with poetry Thomas Pettitt was not wrong in noting that Social history has learnt to appreciate festival as a valuable window on society and its structures The authors have tried to open all the windows available Students and researchers in the fields of cultural anthropology social psychology folklore studies comparative religion sociology of culture cultural policy cultural history and cultural management will find this book highly interesting
