Mind To Mind Infant Research Neuroscience And Psychoanalysis:

Mind to Mind Elliot L. Jurist, Arietta Slade, Sharone Bergner, 2008 This volume based upon a conference held at the City University of New York in September 2005 brings together leading researchers and thinkers such as Peter Fonagy Mary Target Otto Kernberg Glen Gabbard Sidney Blatt Donnel Stern and Philip Bromberg From diverse contemporary psychoanalytic perspectives the authors consider the concept of mentalization and its operationalized version reflective function which Peter Fonagy and his colleagues have introduced over the past fifteen years They explore the relation between these concepts and established psychoanalytic terms such as representation and internalization as well as the place of mentalization in psychoanalytic theory The result is a lively and cutting edge volume that could become instrumental in defining the future of psychoanalysis This book will be of interest to a much broader audience as well developmentalists cognitive psychologists neuroscientists and philosophers who will find it a fascinating springboard for interdisciplinary collaboration

The Neuropsychology of the Unconscious: Integrating Brain and Mind in Psychotherapy (Norton Series on Interpersonal Neurobiology) Efrat Ginot, 2015-06-08 A scientific take on the still central therapeutic concept of the unconscious More than one hundred years after Freud began publishing some of his seminal theories the concept of the unconscious still occupies a central position in many theoretical frameworks and clinical approaches When trying to understand clients internal and interpersonal struggles it is almost inconceivable not to look for unconscious motivation conflicts and relational patterns Clinicians also consider it a breakthrough to recognize how our own unconscious patterns have interacted with those of our clients Although clinicians use concepts such as the unconscious and dissociation in actuality many do not take into account the newly emerging neuropsychological attributes of nonconscious processes As a result assumptions and lack of clarity overtake information that can become central in our clinical work This revolutionary book presents a new model of the unconscious one that is continuing to emerge from the integration of neuropsychological research with clinical experience Drawing from clinical observations of specific therapeutic cases affect theory research into cognitive neuroscience and neuropsychological findings the book presents an expanded picture of nonconscious processes The model moves from a focus on dissociated affects behaviors memories and the fantasies that are unconsciously created to viewing unconscious as giving expression to whole patterns of feeling thinking and behaving patterns that are so integrated and entrenched as to make them our personality traits Topics covered include the centrality of subcortical regions automaticity repetition and biased memory systems role of the amygdala and its sensitivity to fears in shaping and coloring unconscious self systems self narratives therapeutic enactments therapeutic resistance defensive systems and narcissism therapeutic approaches designed to utilize some of the new understandings regarding unconscious processes and their interaction with higher level conscious ones embedded in the prefrontal cortex

Alexander,2014-12-15 Exploring the conditions under which children as a function of their own abuse become abusive themselves That experiences from childhood affect our behavior in adulthood especially in the ways we treat our children and intimate partners is generally accepted Indeed theories of intergenerational transmission of violence indicate that if we ourselves have been abused and neglected as children we will likely be abusive and neglectful to others close to us thus extending the cycle across generations However many individuals who were maltreated as children do not replicate this cycle and such models make little sense of the individual raised in a good family who is violent either as a child or as an adult These discontinuities of cycles of violence and trauma have challenged professionals and nonprofessionals alike However broadening our vision and attending to new areas of research can help to illuminate this conundrum and open up new avenues of intervention In this book Pamela Alexander does just that She proposes that an increased risk for abusive behavior or revictimization as a function of one's own experiences of abuse or trauma in childhood can best be understood through the complementary lenses of attachment theory focusing on the relationship between the child and the caregiver and family systems theory focusing on the larger context of this relationship That is what a child acquires from her relationship with a caregiver is not simply a reflection of what she has learned from experiencing or witnessing abuse Rather it emerges from the child's felt experience of the relationship itself on implicit emotional physical and neurobiological levels Alexander founds the book on this multifaceted parent child attachment relationship and its place in the wider family system integrating clinical experience with close attention to the long term neurobiological and epigenetic effects of trauma She focuses on common outcomes of a history of maltreatment and of child sexual abuse in particular including peer victimization partner violence parenting problems and sexual offending A detailed review of the literature accompanies instructive case examples Sources of trauma from outside the family including combat exposure political terrorism foster care and incarceration of parents are considered Finally Alexander analyzes the multiple sources of natural resilience the neurobiological the individual the relational and the social to enable professionals of all backgrounds to tailor make effective interventions for interrupting cycles of trauma and violence Adaptive Mentalization-Based Integrative Treatment (AMBIT) For People With Multiple Needs Peter Fuggle, Laura Talbot, Chloe Campbell, Peter Fonagy, Dickon Bevington, 2023-02-20 Meeting the complex needs of some of the most vulnerable populations in our society often involves the need for connected networks of care providing health social care educational and voluntary sector services This presents major challenges for both clients and practitioners for this to work well Adaptive mentalization based integrative treatment AMBIT has been developed over the last 15 years to address the needs of both clients and practitioners in trying to make this work well The basic framework for AMBIT was set out by the authors in AMBIT A Guide for Teams to Develop Systems of Care in 2017 but continues to evolve through collaboration with practitioners across the world who work with people both young people and adults for whom many current services are not experienced as helpful AMBIT for People with Multiple Needs Applications in Practice describes the progress of this collaboration and shows how AMBIT has been applied in health social care and education settings across the world Contributors convey the detail of what it is like to apply AMBIT to their work by combining case illustrations with detailed descriptions of therapeutic practice and technique along with inspiring and remarkable stories of therapeutic change The chapters examine therapeutic casework in very different services providing community and residential based care with adults and young people across Europe and the UK With AMBIT constantly evolving the book explores recent developments in the AMBIT model and provides rich new thinking about how helping services can be supported to provide meaningful help and change Trauma-Informed Approaches to Eating Disorders Andrew Seubert, Pam Viridi, 2024-03-27 The most comprehensive and practical book examining the relationship between trauma dissociation and eating disorders This hands on clinical guide delivers a trauma informed phase model that promotes effective treatment for individuals with all forms of eating disorders The second edition includes the addition of new chapters addressing the impact of a variety of contemporary issues such as racism LGBTQIA bias COVID 19 and neurodiversity on eating disorders as well as the treatment of eating disorders and trauma on children and teens Case studies are also included throughout the text to illustrate these issues among all types of clients with eating disorders Underscoring its effectiveness the book describes in depth a four phase treatment model encompassing team coordination case formulation and a trauma informed dissociation and attachment sensitive approach to treating eating disorders Authored and edited by noted specialists in eating and other behavioral health disorders the text examines these maladies from neurological medical nutritional and psychological perspectives Dedicated chapters address each treatment phase from a variety of orientations ranging from Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing EMDR and Cognitive Behavioral Therapy CBT to body centered and creative therapies Recognizing the potential pitfalls and traps of treatment

Learning through Others Emiliano Loria,2020-05-29 The theory of natural pedagogy provides a model of social learning based on the direct communicative ostensive relation and aimed to the transfer of generic cultural knowledge The pedagogical transmission of information originates from an explicit manifestation of teaching made by knowledgeable adults who are naturally inclined to manifestly provide their cultural baggage to naive conspecifics The domain of transferable knowledge encompasses artifact functions novel means actions first words gestural symbols social practices and rituals This teaching process can be fast and efficient in virtue of a natural inclination possessed by infants to seek information and decode signals of ostensive communication In this sense the natural pedagogy represents as the two proponents Gyrgy Gergely and Gergely Csibra claim a communicative system of mutual design specialized for the fast and efficient transfer of new and relevant cultural knowledge from knowledgeable to ignorant conspecifics This book suggests that natural pedagogy utilises early belief attribution competences which are employed by infants in a variety of contexts to approach and navigate the social world Therefore the natural pedagogy in cooperation with the early mindreading system may represent one of the most efficient adaptive strategies to firmly create that deep wittgensteinian nest of propositions which build cultural shared beliefs structures to be relied upon and followed

Minding Emotions Elliot Jurist,2019-11-06 Mentalization the effort to make sense of our own and others actions behavior and internal states is something we all do And it is a capacity that all psychotherapies aim to improve the better we are at mentalizing the more resilient and flexible we tend to be This concise engaging book offers a brief overview of mentalization in psychotherapy focusing on how to help patients understand and reflect on their emotional experiences Elliot Jurist integrates cognitive science research and psychoanalytic theory to break down mentalized affectivity into discrete processes that therapists can cultivate in session The book interweaves clinical vignettes with discussions of memoirs by comedian Sarah Silverman poet Tracy Smith filmmaker Ingmar Bergman and neurologist Oliver Sacks A reproducible assessment instrument the Mentalized Affectivity Scale can be downloaded and printed in a convenient 8 1 2 x 11 size Winner American Board and Academy of Psychoanalysis Book Prize Theory Transgenerational Trauma and the Aboriginal Preschool Child Norma Tracey, 2014-11-12 Transgenerational Trauma and the Aboriginal Preschool Child Healing through Intervention approaches trauma from transgenerational perspectives that go back to the early colonization of Australia and describes what that event has historically meant for the country's Aboriginal population and its culture This history has continued to propagate traumatically across subsequent generations This book reveals the work underway at Gunawirra a group in Sydney founded to work against transgenerational trauma in families with children aged 0 5 The group then began working with projects in more than forty country preschools throughout the state of New South Wales Two intrinsic forms of healing that are an integral part of this ancient culture Dadirri deep listening and The Dreaming are foundational concepts for the treatment While these concepts are core elements of the project this book also employs fresh contemporary theory and case studies that present ways to effectively address the deeper psychological origins and presence of trauma in our present day preschool children and in traumatized children throughout the world It gives special attention to the use of therapeutic measures based in psychoanalytic thought and related modes of responding to trauma Through many moving examples the book unites through art stories of The Dreaming and the ancient gift of listening a powerful way of approaching present day work with Aboriginal people and their children The contributors work is at the forefront of field research clinical work and theoretical interdisciplinary work This book is essential to workers and teachers who deal daily with traumatized children in their communities and schools In the usefulness of its model the depth of its thinking and the intensity of its methodology Transgenerational Trauma and the Aboriginal Preschool Child breaks new ground in the treatment of trauma for people who care for children everywhere Mentalizing in the Development and Treatment of Attachment Trauma Jon G Allen, 2018-03-08 This book brings together the latest knowledge from attachment research and neuroscience to provide a new approach to treating trauma for therapists from different professional disciplines and diverse theoretical backgrounds The field of trauma suffers from fragmentation as brands of therapy proliferate in relation to a multiplicity of psychiatric disorders This fragmentation calls for a fresh clinical approach to treating trauma Pinpointing at once the problem and potential solution the author places the experience of being psychologically alone in unbearable emotional states at the heart of trauma in attachment relationships This trauma results from a failure of mentalizing that is empathic attunement to emotional distress Psychotherapy offers an opportunity for healing by restoring mentalizing that is fostering psychological attunement in the context of secure attachment relationships in the psychotherapy relationship and in other attachment relationships The book gives a unique overview of common attachment patterns in childhood and adulthood setting the stage for understanding attachment trauma which is most conspicuous in maltreatment but also more subtly evident in early and repeated failures of attunement in attachment relationships

Partners in Thought Donnel B. Stern, 2010-04-02 Building on the innovative work of Unformulated Experience Donnel B Stern continues his exploration of the creation of meaning in clinical psychoanalysis with Partners in Thought The chapters in this fascinating book are undergirded by the concept that the meanings which arise from unformulated experience are catalyzed by the states of relatedness in which the meanings emerge In hermeneutic terms what takes place in the consulting room is a particular kind of conversation one in which patient and analyst serve as one another's partner in thought an emotionally responsive witness to the other's experience Enactment which Stern theorizes as the interpersonalization of dissociation interrupts this crucial kind of exchange and the eventual breach of enactments frees analyst and patient to resume it Later chapters compare his views to the ideas of others considering mentalization theory and the work of the Boston Change Process Study Group Approaching the link between dissociation and enactment via hermeneutics metaphor and narrative among other perspectives Stern weaves an experience near theory of psychoanalytic relatedness that illuminates dilemmas clinicians find themselves in every day Full of clinical illustrations showing how Stern works with dissociation and enactment Partners in Thought is destined to take its place beside Unformulated Experience as a major contribution to the psychoanalytic literature
