New Directions In Assessing Historical Thinking 360 Degree Business:

New Directions in Assessing Historical Thinking Kadriye Ercikan, Peter Seixas, 2015-02-20 New technologies have radically transformed our relationship to information in general and to little bits of information in particular The assessment of history learning which for a century has valued those little bits as the centerpiece of its practice now faces not only an unprecedented glut but a disconnect with what is valued in history education More complex processes historical thinking historical consciousness or historical sense making demand more complex assessments At the same time advances in scholarship on assessment open up new possibilities For this volume Kadriye Ercikan and Peter Seixas have assembled an international array of experts who have collectively moved the fields of history education and assessment forward Their various approaches negotiate the sometimes conflicting demands of theoretical sophistication empirically demonstrated validity and practical efficiency Key issues include articulating the cognitive goals of history education the relationship between content and procedural knowledge the impact of students language literacy on history assessments and methods of validation in both large scale and classroom assessments New Directions in Assessing Historical Thinking is a critical research oriented resource that will advance the conceptualization design and validation of the next generation of history assessments

Resources in Education ,1998 The Role of Leadership Educators Kathy L. Guthrie, Daniel M. Jenkins, 2018-02-01 Leadership as a discipline leadership education as a field and leadership educator as a profession are still in their infancy and rapidly evolving As professionals in higher education we are constantly asked to provide opportunities for students to learn leadership whether that is inside or outside of the classroom However very little if any professional development occurs in how to create such learning opportunities This book provides resources for leadership educators in three sections The first section sets the stage for leadership education and the professional work of leadership educators culminating with a variety of professional development resources for leadership educators The second section introduces a leadership learning framework provides characteristics and examples of strong leadership programs and assessment practices and describes the transformative practice of leadership education The third and final section offers specific instructional and assessment strategies ranging from discussion case study and reflection to team based and service learning to self assessments role play simulation and games to fulfill learning outcomes
