Theism in the Discourse of Jonathan Edwards R. C. De Prosopo, 1985 This book proposes that a new semiotic category called theism can more intelligibly classify the discursive pattern that precedes modern humanism in American literature than such standard historicist categories as Puritanism or Calvinism or medievalism and that the writings of Jonathan Edwards exemplify this theist discursive pattern

Johns-Putra, 2006-07-11 This book presents a history of the epic from the classical age to the present day It deals not just with the well known epics of antiquity and the Renaissance but also pursues developments in more recent literature and film It offers an exploration of the changes that have taken place in the genre from Homer to Hollywood

The Critical History of Edgar Allan Poe's The Narrative of Arthur Gordon Pym Ronald C. Harvey, 2015-12-22 The Critical History of Edgar Allan Poe's The Narrative of Arthur Gordon Pym A Dialogue with Unreason traces the complex scattered criticism of Poe's most anomalous work as it has steadily grown in prominence to a central position in the study of Poe and American literature The winding route the criticism of Pym has charted as convoluted as the narrative itself has been a history of disagreement at almost every level at which critics and scholars read texts including the nature and genre of the work the seriousness or levity of the author's intent and its stature as a work of genius hackwork or something in between The unique set of thematic and narrative problems the work poses has eluded every hermeneutic structure brought against it so far consistently undermining the very reading strategies it seems to invite The only comprehensive critical history and bibliography of Pym this study fills a large hole Poe scholars have long felt as it analyzes the ways in which critics and critical camps have attempted to confront rationalize contain or evade its novel and disturbing features In the process the criticism is correlated with the popular reception and the international response Because literary history has entangled no author with his work more than Poe ultimately this book is as much a study of Poe as of Pym At every point therefore this study embeds the critical response to Pym in the history of Poe studies in general as well as in the larger context of American literary theory and history Includes bibliography and index ENGLISH LITERATURE

References and Suggestions for Further Reading Index Autobiographical Occasions and Original Acts Albert E. Stone, 1982-09 Stone rescues autobiography from the thickets of recent critical theory in which the life portrayed has often seemed less important than the inventive literary techniques He argues that the techniques are important because knowledge of the life is important to our culture Restricting himself primarily to 16 writers of the 20th century Stone juxtaposes two or three figures in given chapters such as Becoming a Woman in Male America Margaret Mead and Anais Nin and Two Recreate One The Act of Collaboration in Recent Black Autobiography Ossie Guffy Nate Shaw Malcolm X Other writers considered are W E B DuBois Henry Adams Black Elk Thomas Merton Louis Sullivan Richard Wright Norman Mailer Frank Conroy and Lillian Hellman Romantic Europe and the Ghost of Italy Joseph Luzzi, 2008-11-24 This groundbreaking study considers Italian Romanticism and the modern myth of Italy Ranging across European and international borders he examines the metaphors facts and fictions about Italy that were born in the Romantic age and continue to haunt the global literary imagination Latin American Evangelical Theology in the 1970's Daniel Salinas, 2009 The story of Latin American evangelicals doing theology is mostly unknown In the 1970s there was an important development with the formation of the Latin American Theological Fraternity FTL This group spearheaded the theological production in Latin America marking the beginning of a critical stage in the history of evangelicals in the region This book deals with the reception history in North America of the FTL and its program Interamerican theological dialogue is documented and analysed Jonathan Swift and the Vested Word Deborah Baker Wyrick, 1988 In Jonathan Swift and the Vested Word Deborah Wyrick argues that modern Continental and American literary theory is tantalizingly applicable to Swiftian texts Its applicability she writes stems from Swift's interest in and exploration of what are now thought of as phenomenological structuralist poststructuralist and new historicist concerns how a life in language comes into being how semiotic systems determine meaning how texts open up their own systems to other texts and to multiple interpretations Wyrick investigates Swift's confrontations with three theories of language current in his day theories that locate meaning in the thing named in the idea behind the word or in the response of the audience She concludes that Swift fashioned a fourth theory of meaning one that locates meaning in and among words themselves Because of his fear of the anarchic potential of language Swift attempted to invest his words with extratextual authority yet a powerful counterforce was his desire to exploit the possibilities of language divested of stable significance These divestitures particularly the word play and language games ultimately served serious personal and social purposes A crucial personal purpose was Swift's ability to create a textual self which he did Wyrick maintains by constructing defensive transvestitures centered on clothes and money These parallel sign systems produced Swift's greatest achievement in using the resources of language and history to effect political action By using the entire Swift canon poems and prose narratives letters and essays sermons and satires Wyrick presents Swift's struggle with the inadequacies of language and its inability to answer the tremendous demands he made upon it Originally

Panofsky and the Foundations of Art History Michael Ann Holly, 1984 No one has been more influential in the contemporary practice of art history than Erwin Panofsky yet many of his early seminal papers remain virtually unknown to art historians As a result Michael Ann Holly maintains art historians today do not have access to the full range of methodological considerations and possibilities that Panofsky s thought offers and they often remain unaware of the significant role art history played in the development of modern humanistic thought Placing Panofsky s theoretical work first in the context of the major historical paradigms generated by Hegel Burckhardt and Dilthey Holly shows how these paradigms themselves became the grounds for creative controversy among Panofsky s predecessors Riegl W lfflin Warburg and Dvor k among others She also discusses how Panofsky s struggle with the terms and concepts of neo Kantianism produced in his work remarkable parallels with the philosophy of Ernst Cassirer Finally she evaluates Panofsky s better known and later iconological studies by reading them against the earlier essays and by comparing his earlier ideas with the vision that has inspired recent work in the philosophy of history semiotics and the philosophy of science

ENGLISH LITERATURE ADVANCING THROUGH HISTORY 1 - Old English (Anglo-Saxon) and Medieval Periods Petru Golban, 2020-11-24. It appears that literary work possesses eternal temporal validity due to its autonomous aesthetic value, whereas criticism provides points of view having temporary and transitory significance. Despite such claims, the vector of methodology in our series of books dealing with the history of English literature relies on Viktor Shklovsky, T. S. Eliot, Mikhail Bakhtin, and especially Yuri Tynyanov, whose main reasoning would be that literature is a system of dominant, central, and peripheral, marginalized elements to us: tradition, centre versus innovation, margin. Engaged in a battle for supremacy, demarginalization, and the right to form a new literary system and the development or historical advancement of literature is the substitution of systems: Roman Jakobson and French structuralism on the whole, later Linda Hutcheon with her system and constant, and Bran Nicol with the dominant to say nothing about Itamar Even-Zohar and his theory of polysystem, to a certain extent Julia Kristeva, and even Homi Bhabha, as well as our humble contribution by means of the books in the present series. We would like to believe maintain Tynyanov's line of thinking and concepts alive, which have developed and emerged nowadays more like a kind of neo-formalism.

Comparative Cultural Studies and Latin America Sophia A. McClennen, Earl E. Fitz, 2004. The genesis of Comparative Cultural Studies and Latin America stems from the contributors' conviction that given its vitality and excellence, Latin American literature deserves a more prominent place in comparative literature publications, curricula, and disciplinary discussions. The editors introduce the volume by first arguing that there still exists in some quarters a lingering bias against literature written in Spanish and Portuguese. Secondly, the authors assert that by embracing Latin American literature and culture more enthusiastically, comparative literature would find itself reinvigorated, placed into productive discourse with a host of issues, languages, literatures, and cultures that have too long been paid scant academic attention. Following an introduction by the editors, the volume contains papers by Gene H. Bell-Villada on the question of canon, by Gordon Brotherston and Lucia de S. on the First Peoples of the Americas and their literature, by Elizabeth Coonrod-Martinez on the Latin American novel of the 1920s, by Román de la Campa on Latin American Studies, by Earl E. Fitz on Spanish American and Brazilian literature, by Roberto González Echevarría on Latin American and comparative literature, by Sophia A. McClennen on comparative literature and Latin American Studies, by Alberto Moreiras on Borges, by Julio Ortega on the critical debate about Latin American cultural studies, by Christina Marie Tourino on Cuban Americas in New York City by Mario J Vald s on the comparative history of literary cultures in Latin America and by Lois Parkinson Zamora on comparative literature and globalization The volume also contains a bibliography of scholarship in comparative Latin American culture and literature and biographical abstracts of the contributors to the volume Reading for History in the Damascus Document Maxine L. Grossman, 2018-12-24 Scholars tend to view the Damascus Document as a historical source but a reading of the text in light of contemporary audience oriented literary criticism finds its emphasis in the ideological construction of history and communal identity rather than in the preservation of a historical record An introduction to contemporary literary criticism is followed by a series of thematic readings focusing on historical narrative priestly imagery and gender in the covenant community Each theme is examined in terms of its potential for multiple sometimes contradictory interpretations and for its place in the larger sectarian discourse This study offers an alternative approach to the historiography of ancient Jewish sectarianism acknowledging the presence of competing claims to shared traditions and the potential for changes in textual interpretation over time or among diverse communities
